

LEADERS SHAPING NEW PEACE OFFENSIVE

THE SCENE of a new peace offensive fills the air in many world capitals as U.S. forces seem definitely to be gaining the upper hand in Viet Nam.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain announced he will visit Soviet Premier Kossygin July 16 on the latter's invitation to discuss "world affairs." This is a prelude to Wilson's trip to see President Johnson on July 28 to explore avenues toward peace. In London, representatives of French President Charles DeGaulle are conferring with Wilson's aides. They reported that Kremlin leaders told DeGaulle of Moscow's interest in better East-West relations. Wilson is reported ready to ask DeGaulle to join in seeking the end of the Viet Nam war.

President Johnson meanwhile called his top advisers to his Texas ranch last night. Defense Sec. MacNamara, Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, Johnson's special assistant Walt W. Rostow, and Gen. Andrew J. Goodpastor of the Joint Chiefs of Staff were the conferees.

MacNamara will fly on to Hawaii to meet Adm. U.S. Grant Sharpe, commander in Chief, Pacific, to discuss military logistics and "future operations."

U.S. SCORES AIR WAR "BREAK THROUGH"

USING A SECRET anti-missile system, U.S. pilots dodged an estimated 27 to 90 Communist surface-to-air missiles (SAM) and smashed four of the launching sites in a record day of bombing attacks against North Viet Nam, U.S. spokesmen disclosed Wednesday.

Spokesmen said the number of Soviet-supplied SAMs fired during Tuesday's 106 American bombing missions also was a record. But they said the failure of the North Vietnamese to bring down a single plane proved the United States has discovered how to nullify the SAM system in "one of the significant breakthroughs of the war."

All Communist missiles were fired along a corridor 50 to 115 miles northwest of Hanoi.

HANOI SEEN WONDERING HOW TO END WAR

VICE PRESIDENT HUMPHREY said Wednesday the United States has seized the initiative in the Viet Nam war and there are "flickering bits of evidence" that some of Hanoi's adherents are "wondering if there is some way out."

The vice president told the nation's governors, meeting in their 58th annual conference, that "smashing defeats" inflicted on the Communists has shifted the war's initiative to the U.S. and her allies. He assured the governors that a team of White House assistants will give the state leaders "all the Viet Nam information, the good and the bad, the sensitive and non-sensitive, and the secret and the non-secret."

100 RIOTING ANTI-U.S. JAPS CLUBBED

NEARLY 10,000 leftists paraded through the streets of Kyoto, Japan, Wednesday night in an anti-American rally.

Police clubbed about 100 students attempting to reach the hotel housing U.S. State Sec. Dean Rusk.

TEAMOS VOTE TO NAME HOFFA "FILL-IN"

THE TEAMSTERS UNION voted Wednesday to install a general vice president who will take over the country's largest union "in case something happens" to president James R. Hoffa, who is fighting to stay out of jail.

Hoffa's right-hand man, teamster Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons of Detroit, was the clear favorite to be swept into the new post later during the Miami Beach convention. His salary will be set by Hoffa with executive board approval.

MODEL POLICE CODE URGED BY TAURO

JOSEPH TAURO chief justice of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, Wednesday called on the states to join in forming a model code of police procedure in protecting defendants' rights.

Justice Tauro spoke at a panel discussion on law enforcement at the National Governors' Conference.

"I am firm in my belief that these recent Supreme Court decisions, by extending the blanket of federal constitutional safeguards to state courts, have elevated and improved standards of justice throughout the United States," Judge Tauro said.

BOAT WRECK CLUE TO 3 MISSING GIRLS

DEBRIS OF A BOAT was found late Wednesday in Lake Michigan about four miles from where three young women disappeared.

Supt. William Svetic of Indiana Dunes State Park said the foam rubber seats of an outboard boat, an oil can and pieces of plywood were found near a pumping station's intake structure.

Svetic immediately summoned Indiana State Police to try to determine whether the debris might be from a boat into which it is believed the three young women crawled Saturday morning. Missing are Patricia Blough, 19, Westchester, Ill.; Ann Miller, 21, York Center, Ill.; and Mrs. Renee Bruhl, 19, Chicago, a medical technician and wife of a young college student.

STOCKS SCORE IMPRESSIVE GAINS

THE STOCK MARKET Wednesday scored its biggest gain in almost two months in moderately active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

No single news item sparked the advance and analysts were content to call it an extension of the rally started last Thursday.

The Dow Jones industrial average soared 13.59 to 888.86, the biggest climb since May 1 when it gained more than 14 points. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index rose 1.24 to 87.06. Volume swelled to 6,860,000 shares from 4,610,000 shares Tuesday.

TWO MEN INDICTED IN STAB DEATH

THE SUFFOLK COUNTY grand jury Wednesday returned murder indictments against two Boston men charged with the stabbing death of Donald G. MacVarish, 17, of Dorchester.

Paul Hennessey, 22, of Dorchester and Leland J. Manning, 22, of South Boston pleaded innocent to the slaying at their arraignments in district court Tuesday.

The indictments were returned in the midst of demand for — and a pledge of — increased police protection in reaction to a wave of violence in South Boston since Saturday.

HUB SYMPHONY GRANTED $2.5 MILLION

THE BOSTON SYMPHONY Orchestra Wednesday announced receipt of a $2.5 million grant from the Ford Foundation as part of an $80.2 million distribution to orchestras throughout the nation.

The Boston Symphony, which plans to raise an additional $4 million to match $2 million of the grant on a 2-for-1 basis, was one of 14 major U.S. orchestras to receive $2.5 million.

Boston's grant will include $2 million in endowment funds plus $500,000 in non-matching grant funds.

Mayor's Committee To Study Plan For Norumbega Park's 'New Look'

Mayor Monte G. Basbas has appointed a special Planning and Zoning Study Committee to decide on the best plan for the development of about 20 acres of land in Norumbega Park, Auburndale.

After the Norumbega Park question has been settled, the committee will study proposals for an air rights development over the toll road at Newton Corner and for the future use of the so-called Sylvania land on Nahanton street along the Charles River in Oak Hill.

Meanwhile, a Supreme Court decision apparently has cleared the way for the erection of a motel costing between $4 and $5 million on a section of Norumbega Park.

However, officials of the Marriotte Motor Hotel Corp. must appear before the Board of Aldermen to obtain approval for their revised plans before work on the motel can actually be started.

E. Downe will serve as chairman of the committee which will recommend a plan for the development of the 20-acre tract.

Working on the committee with him will be the Rev. Seavey Joyce, vice president of Boston College and chairman of the Metropolitan Area Planning Council;

Local Homes Burglarized Over Holiday

Nine Newton homes, three of them on Marcellus drive in Newton Centre and two on Kendall road in Newton Highlands, were burglarized over the holiday weekend.

The three dwellings on Marcellus drive apparently were all looted by the same burglars on Monday night.

Broken into were the homes of Enid Schulman at 31 Marcellus drive, Arnold W. Cohen at 40 Marcellus drive and Miss Beatrice Jacobs at 56 Marcellus drive.

All three dwellings were entered by jimmying and forcing open the rear doors. It was believed to be the work of professional burglars.

The Schulman home was ransacked and a large quantity of assorted jewelry taken.

Miss Jacobs reported that $40 in cash was missing from her home. Police have not yet been able to ascertain exactly what was taken in the break at the Cohen home.

Quiet Holiday Here; Fire Fighters Busy

The time-worn adage, "No news is good news," might well be applied to Newton's Fourth of July weekend, which turned out to be about as tranquil a period as the city has experienced in a long time.

First of all, there was no major celebration of the Day of Independence, the nearest thing to one being the gala program for youngsters put on at Newton Centre Playground by the Newton Centre Improvement Association.

The day, Saturday, July 2, passed without any untold incident there, with the children having a grand time without being exposed to danger of any type.

Then, accidents around the city were kept at a minimum, due in great share to extra patrols assigned to duty on the major arteries.

Firemen were kept rather busy, however, during the three days of high heat. They had 23 runs, of which only one could be classed as serious.

That was for a fire at the home of Charles Scholsberg,

39 Alvernia Rd., Chestnut

Hill, in the early hours of Monday, July 4. No one was at home at the time. The cause was not determined.

Flames burned out the kitchen and caused extensive damage downstairs and to the upstairs halls. The dining room and a bedroom were badly damaged.

There were only three automobile accidents reported during the three-day holiday. One of them was at Harvard St. and Newton-ville Ave., the trouble spot for which women of the area are seeking control by traffic light.

For the third time in two weeks, two cars collided at the busy intersection, which is protected only by a stop sign that calls for Newton-ville Ave. traffic to come to a

DeGiacomo Surprises Pols With Grand Jury Exposure

Former Assistant Attorney General Robert DeGiacomo made a surprising statement when he announced that he will carry his fight for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General into the September primary.

He declared that ex-Governor Endicott Peabody, ex-Governor Foster Furcolo and former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti all testified as witnesses before Grand Juries which he conducted.

This is what DeGiacomo said:

"Former Governor Endicott Peabody, Frank Bellotti and Foster Furcolo all were witnesses before Grand Juries that I conducted.

"It's a form of experience different from mine. There's a great deal of difference between appearing before a Grand Jury and conducting one."

GOP Leaflet Lists Voter Information

A "Voter Information" leaflet compiled by the city's Republican organization is being distributed in Newton according to William A. Lincoln, GOP City Committee chairman.

Chairman Lincoln stated today that copies of the leaflet may be obtained on request. The leaflets are free and are being distributed by local Republican groups as a public service to familiarize voters with statutory requirements and other details helpful to them.

The blue leaflet contains instructions on how to become a voter, how and where to register.

There is a detailed listing by ward and precinct of polling places, giving the location of each.

A section is devoted to state primary, Presidential primary, city, state and national elections. Guidance for absentee voting, including voting by persons in the armed forces, is also provided. Other informative items relate to Newton's government, state and national divisions.

The leaflet contains an invitation to voters to work with the Newton Republican City Committee, stating that "... the City Committee is always interested in new ideas and welcomes any citizen who is interested in participating in Republican affairs."

Any Newtonite who wishes to be informed of open meetings and/or to have an opportunity to work for improving the party may contact any member or associate member of the committee.

Space is provided on the back page for the writing in of various Ward details; names of workers, Chairmen, and other data. The Republican City Committee has issued an interesting, helpful publication.

Copies may be obtained from the various Ward chairmen who are: Ward One, Miss Adelaide B. Ball; Ward Two, William R. Horner; Ward Three, Julius Masow; Ward Four, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walsh; Ward Five, D. Stuart Laughlin, Jr.; Ward Six, William L. Bruce; Ward 7, James K. Fitzpatrick; Ward 8, Alan S. Barkin.

The drivers were listed by police as Homer F. Prouty of 63 Nehoiden Rd., Waban, and Thomas J. Tomas of 53 River St., Wellesley Hills. There were no injuries.

Four persons were injured in a two-car accident at Walnut St. and Lakewood Rd., Newton Highlands, on Sunday afternoon. The drivers, according to police, were Melvin Brenner, 295 Central St., Auburndale, and Neil Obert, 21 Prospect Ave., Waltham.

Riding with Brenner were Enid Brenner who was hurt, and Cathy Altman, 13, of 12 Irvington St., Waban, who was shaken up. Obert's passengers were his two children, Timothy, 3, and Doreen. All four children were treated at Newton-Wellesley Hospital and released.

Mrs. Anne Wilson, 54, was shaken up late Sunday afternoon, when the car driven by her husband, Allan J. Wilson of Needham, collided at Boylston and Woodward Sts., Newton Highlands, with a car operated, police say, by Morton J. Rosenfield of Peabody.

Waltham Youths Arraigned For Newton Breaks

Three Waltham youths, one of them only 16 years old, have been arrested by Newton police on a charge of breaking into the Towne Line Wine Shoppe at 69 Waltham St., West Newton.

The trio were arraigned before Judge Julian L. Yesley in Newton district court on charges of breaking and entering in the nighttime, larceny and possession of burglary tools.

Their case was continued until next Monday.

Bail of $1500 was set by Judge Yesley for Robert F. Rogers, 20, and Douglas A. Kaupelis, 17, both of Waltham. The 16-year-old boy was released without bail.

Police were summoned when a woman residing on Cherry street in West Newton was awakened at 4:05 in the morning by the sound of breaking glass.

She told police she saw three youths go into a vacant lot, drop something and run. Patrolman Albert R. Flanagan, one of the officers who responded to the call, discovered the rear door of the wine shop had been broken.

Other officers working under Sergeant John J. Kennedy found three cases of beer in the vacant lot.

About 40 minutes later, Patrolmen Flanagan and Anthony L. Penzo observed a car driving south on Cherry street toward West Newton Square, with two youths slouched down in the front seat.

Police stopped the car and, after questioning the occupants, arrested them.

Local Professor In Radio Talk On Capitalism

Dr. A. Howard Myers, 64 Garland Rd., Newton Centre, professor of industrial relations at Northeastern University, will discuss "In What Direction is Capitalism Moving?" at 11:30 p.m. Sunday, July 10, over radio stations WNAC AM and WRKO FM.

The program is part of a series, "Northeastern Faculty Talks," designed to bring the listener diverse information by qualified experts on various subjects affecting everyday life.

Before coming to Northeastern in 1948, Prof. Myers taught at Boston College, Harvard University and the University of Michigan.

He received his bachelor's degree from Cornell University in 1926 and both his master's degree and doctorate from Columbia University in 1932 and 1933, respectively.

Prof. Myers is a past chapter president of the Industrial Relations Research Association and past treasurer of the National Academy of Arbitrators. He is a member of the American Economic Association and Phi Kappa Phi. Dr. Myers is author of "Municipal Sinking Funds" and co-author of "Labor Law and Legislation." He has also written numerous articles for the Harvard Business Review and the Michigan Business Review.

Prof. Myers is married and has two children.

Many Away, Accidents Are Few In Newton

Vacation time seems to be safety time for Newton residents.

Only a comparatively few persons were treated at Newton-Wellesley Hospital this past week, an indication that a great number of Newtonites were at the seashore or at mountain resorts to the north of us.

There were two separate mishaps at the Star Market, 33 Austin st., Newtonville, last Friday. Mrs. Mary Jackson, 76, of 421 Wolcott st., Auburndale, suffered a heart attack there and was given oxygen by police en route to the hospital. Mrs. Victoria Ohannesian, 65, of 957 Washington st., Newtonville, hurt her side there in a fall. She, too, was transported to the hospital by police.

Early Saturday afternoon, Robert J. Saunders of 186 Parmenter rd., West Newton, sustained an injured shoulder and head lacerations when his motorcycle overturned opposite 1393 Washington st., West Newton. He told police his throttle jammed as he stopped and the cycle hit a wet spot. His head and shoulder hit the guard rail.

In a collision of two cars Friday at 601 Winchester st., Newton Highlands, two persons were injured. The drivers, according to police, were Marion Gurvitz of 30 Broken Tree rd., Newton Centre, and David McDonnell of 3 Middle st., Stoneham. Mrs. Gurvitz and her passenger, Esta Weber, 21 Wallace st., Newton Highlands, complained of arm and side injuries, and said they would see their physicians.

gational Church, Roxbury. The Chancel Choir of St. Mark, under the direction of Douglas Englehardt, rendered two selections, "Adoramus te" by Palestrina and "Give Ear Unto My Prayer" by Arcadelt.

The Invocation was given by the Rev. Harold Malmberg of the First Baptist Church of Newton Centre. Installation prayer by the Rev. Louis E. Ford, past pastor of Myrtle Baptist Church and the Scripture lesson was read by the Rev. Monroe Johnson, senior student at Andover Newton Theological School.

Introduction of the Rev. O'Neal was done by Dr. Henry C. Brooks, assistant professor of Psychology and Clinical Training at Andover Newton Theological School. The Reverend Russell Gundlach, pastor of Lincoln Park Baptist Church of West Newton and president of the Newton Council of Churches, brought the welcome from the churches in the area. The welcome from the Church (Myrtle Baptist) was brought by Deacon James C. Spikes.

The Rev. John Douhan Jr., regional minister, Metropolitan Area of the Massachusetts Baptist Convention, delivered the charge to the church and the Rev. James H. Hamer, pastor of Union Baptist Church, Springfield, and president of the United Baptist Convention of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, delivered the charge to the pastor.

Two selections were rendered by the Senior Choir of Myrtle Baptist Church under the direction of the organist, Miss Geraldine Robert, "Balm in Gilead" by Dawson and "Come Ye Blessed" by Prindle-Scott. Jesse Banks, a member of the choir sang a solo, "I Want Jesus to Walk With Me" by Boatner.

Response and benediction by the pastor, Reverend Eddie S. O'Neal concluded the service.

A reception followed in the assembly room, which was beautifully decorated with roses. Pourers were Mrs. Nellie Scott, Mrs. Margaret Houston, and Miss Candace Haywood.

Among the guests present were Monsignor Bernard S. O'Kane, of St. Bernard's Roman Catholic Church of West Newton, Dr. and Mrs. Ross Cannon, Second Church Congregational of West Newton, Dr. and Mrs. John Brush, Andover Newton Theological School, the Reverend Dan Jones, St. John's Baptist, Woburn; the Rev. and Mrs. Loy L. Long of Auburndale and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent de Gregoris, Andover Newton Theological School.

Ushers were Miss Dorothy Bishop, Mrs. Ruth Greene, Oscar Carter Sr., and Robert Haywood.

Messages of regret were received from Rabbi Murray I. Rothman, Temple Shalom, West Newton, the Rev. Carl Banks, Second Free Will Baptist Church of Providence, and the Rev. Paul Thompson, Olney Street Baptist Church, Springfield.

Philip J. Stoner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Stoner, 350 Auburndale Ave., Auburndale was awarded a B.S. degree at Millikin University, Decatur, Ill.

The letter to the Commissioner follows: "Enclosed please find the text of the statement presented to the Newton School Committee on June 27, by Richard S. Fallows in behalf of and representing The Single Session Committee.

"At that School Committee meeting, Dr. Charles E. Brown said he would ask the state Board of Education to accept a temporary 25-hour week proposal. The School Committee supported this proposed schedule which would be 8:20 a. m. to noon and 1:15 to 3:30 p. m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and 8:20 to 12 noon on Tuesday and Thursday. At the same time, the School Committee authorized the creation of a special committee to study a permanent schedule for the following year.

"We contend that Dr. Brown's new proposal is educationally unsound. By cutting the lunch hour fifteen minutes, he will work an added hardship on those children far from school. On Monday, Wednesday and Friday, our elementary school youngsters will experience an interminably long day.

By retaining his present Tuesday and Thursday program, he is not altering the present irrational schedule at all; in fact, he is further complicating the problem. We feel he must justify his position by supportive educational data as to why Newton's present hours are educationally sound for the child.

"We ask that the temporary deviation to be requested by Dr. Brown be denied. We would contend that our position for a Single Session is the most educationally sound and meets the Board of Education's five hour daily requirement.

"Since a lunch program could not be put into effect for the coming school year at this late date, we feel that a study group working from September until December could reappraise the Newton hours by January, 1967, in time for the School Committee budget.

We also feel that the mechanics of a single session could be worked out from

Booklet Needed

Editor of the Graphic:

Just mention of the word "Newton" often brings to mind "the best." Newcomers learn that this isn't so; other residents may agree. Rather than put the area of recreation in the light of good, better, best, I would prefer to consider the programs in terms of adequacy.

Although we find that Crystal Lake still has the stigma of a "polluted mudhole", our family is among those who are thankful for its existence with its partially improved facilities. The circulator certainly seems to help. We are grateful for the new docks. And now we welcome the initiation of a sailing program. I am sure that the Recreation Commission is aware of some of the drawbacks—including the beach area, a poor permit system, need for more ladders on the new docks, and an antiquated bathroom. We can remind you about these inadequacies and hope for a change.

But one private citizen cannot sit on her hands upon hearing that the lake is short two lifeguards. Staff members tell me that they attempt to cover themselves by closing the raft when they are without a lifeguard for the post; this situation has persisted during hot summer weather when the facility was being used to at least capacity.

When observation seems to indicate that for the most part, only families with preschool children have personal supervision during the week, one would like to question the wisdom of this economy.

I also understand that "through the years" there has been talk of the need for a pamphlet listing all the recreational facilities — and open space areas — in Newton. Once again, is money the reason that this isn't provided? Why should facilities be used principally by those who happen to hear of them — either by word of mouth or by noticing a one-time newspaper article. What lessons (or other forms of supervision) other than swimming and sailing are being offered this summer? When and where? Is there a charge? What is the minimum age for registration? How long is a series? What indoor facilities are available?

If groups of adults would like to play tennis or basketball in December, what arrangements are necessary? The rules and regulations for all the city's recreational facilities should be included in this much needed booklet.

It is my belief that, one more of us find it easy to know of existing programs and facilities, the increased interest and usage will bring the need for better and expanded programs more clearly into focus.

Cordially,

Mrs. David A. Chesler

Flight Wings For Two

Two Newton residents, Miss Cheryl Lee Hancock and Kenneth R. Kahn, have earned their wings after completing courses of the Trans-World Airlines at the training center, Kansas City, Missouri.

Miss Hancock is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hancock, 56 Fisher Ave., Newton.

She earned her flight hostess wings and is currently based in New York City where she is assigned to TWA's Star-Stream jet fleet.

Kenneth Kahn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Kahn, 95 Montrose St., Newton. He earned his flight wings as a pilot-flight engineer at the Jack Frye International Training Center at Kansas City.

He is currently based at Chicago where he is assigned to the jet fleet.

Political Highlights

strict veil of secrecy is supposed to surround the proceedings in a Grand Jury room.

DeGiacomo's disclosure that Peabody, Furcolo and Bellotti appeared after completing before Grand Juries seems to violate that secrecy rule.

He did not, of course, reveal what transpired in the Grand Jury room, but his statement, nevertheless, startled many politicians.

Volpe Draws Feminine Wrath By Supporting Cong. Martin

Governor Volpe is discovering that it's risky business to inject himself into a political fight in which a woman is a candidate, particularly when he endorses the lady's opponent.

It's one thing to pull the rug out from under a male contender at a Republican State Convention, but it's something else again to give the back of the hand to a pert, energetic feminine office-holder.

If the Governor doesn't already know this, he's likely to learn it—the hard way.

Not once — but twice — did Volpe walk into the fight between 81-year-old Congressman Joseph W. Martin and Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler. And on the second occasion he got slapped right back on his heels.

Most political experts suspect that Volpe helped Councillor Heckler rather than Congressman Martin when he twice endorsed Martin.

Volpe first announced his "wholehearted and enthusiastic support" of Martin at a testimonial dinner given Martin by the Fall River Republican Committee at which the veteran Congressman disclosed that he would seek a 21st term on Washington's Capitol Hill.

The Governor might have got away with that because Councillor Heckler had not announced her candidacy up to that time although Volpe knew she intended to do so because in explaining his endorsement of Martin to newsmen covering the dinner he said his statement meant he did not intend to support Mrs. Heckler.

But Volpe evidently hadn't heard about feminine wrath.

When Councillor Heckler held a press conference in Newton to announce her candidacy, Volpe conducted one about the same time at the State House and reiterated his support of Martin.

It was then that Mrs. Heckler made it crystal clear in polite but firm ladylike language that she felt Volpe should mind his own business, attend to his own affairs and not involve himself in a Republican primary.

She charged that Volpe was stifling leadership in the GOP, and she pointed out that the Governor neither lives nor votes in the congressional district where she and Martin are running.

The result of Councillor Heckler's crisp reply to the Governor was that she launched her campaign for Congress in much more spectacular fashion and attracted much more public attention to it than would have been the case if Volpe had not injected himself into the contest.

Volpe made one remark during his press conference which puzzled newsmen.

In reiterating his backing of Martin, Volpe described the Congressman as "my dear friend who has supported me strongly from the early days. He says he wants another term, and I support him."

Then the Governor added that his support of Martin would continue "as long as he stays in the contest."

That immediately stirred should retire at the close of his present term.

They point out that Senator Leverett Saltonstall, who is 74 and in excellent physical and mental health, is withdrawing from public life at the end of this year.

On the other hand, Martin, who is eight years older than Saltonstall, is feeble and had a poor record last year, is seeking reelection to another term in Congress.

It is difficult to reconcile the different positions adopted by Saltonstall and Martin.

Political observers also wonder how the Republican party can hope to appeal to the young voters when the leader of the party urges the reelection of an 82-year-old Congressman.

Martin has served in Congress for 40 years, has been both Speaker and Republican leader of the body, has known all the honors which could come to any Congressman and could retire now on a maximum pension.

There is no question but that in the prime of his career he rendered an important service to the Republican party and helped to keep it alive.

But he may find it difficult to hold his seat against the challenge of the 35-year-old Councillor Heckler who obviously intends to campaign on the issue that Martin, whatever political heights he might once have achieved, is no longer able to give his district the kind of representation and service it needs.

Mrs. Heckler's statements have made it evident that even while hammering at that theme, she plans to treat Martin with deference and respect.

She would have to be extremely careful to avoid creating any sympathy for Martin except that problem for her by intervening on Martin's side and, indeed, arousing some sympathy for Councillor Heckler.

Councillor Heckler is taking a long gamble and risking a promising political career in opposing Congressman Martin.

It isn't easy to defeat a sitting Congressman in a primary, however old and feeble he may be.

In fact, it has never been done in modern Massachusetts political history.

There have been a few near misses, but no one actually accomplished the feat.

Only two Congressmen have been defeated for reelection in the past generation. One of them—Thomas J. Lane of Lawrence—was Gerrymandered out of office along with ex-Congressman Laurence Curtis.

In that time no Congressman has been defeated for renomination in his party primary.

When Congressmen are elected, they usually hold their offices as long as they choose unless their districts are changed.

They are somewhat remote from the people and do not have to make controversial day-to-day decisions, which displease somebody, as do a Governor or a Mayor.

So Mrs. Heckler will be establishing a precedent if she emerges a winner from the September primary.

But if the political risk is great for Councillor Heckler, the political stakes also are high.

If she gains a seat in Congress, she's likely to hold it for a long time.

One of Mrs. Heckler's arguments is that a strong Democratic candidate might topple Martin on the age issue if he is renominated in the September primary.

The fight between Congressman Martin and Councillor Heckler probably will prove the most interesting Republican primary contest waged anywhere in Massachusetts this year.

Republican voters are not accustomed to turning out for

Two Books Are Reviewed By Newton Free Library

"Mountains and Water," Christopher Rand's latest book, and "Realities of American Foreign Policy," by George F. Kennan, are highly recommended by the Newton Free Library, which has prepared reviews of them as follows:

"Mountains and Water" is a collection of nine travel articles originally published in the New Yorker Magazine during the past 15 years.

"The articles exemplify the author's interest in the unusual and his ability to delve beneath the surface of a foreign country into its more exotic and bizarre substrata.

"It is this talent for the rare that gives Mr. Rand's collection a timelessness not possessed by the average travel book, assuring it historical interest beyond a mere guide-book appeal. As such, it is written for the intelligent armchair adventurer as well as the actual tourist.

"The articles emphasize the physical and psychological consequences that water and mountain ranges have on countries and their people, and discusses such areas as Canton, Afghanistan, Nepal, Israel, China, for example, includes among its inhabitants the Egg Family, a colony of some 35,000 descendants of Mongol princes which exists entirely in its egg-shaped boats on the Pearl River. The boats serve as homes, schools and shopping centers for the Egg Family, and water is the foundation of their unique society.

"In Nepal, it is the Himalaya Mountains which provide the chief environmental influence on the national character. The mountains have helped produce a rugged, individualistic people, content to be isolated from the mainstream of the twentieth-century with its attendant turmoil and tension.

"Unlike Nepal, the Huleh Valley, on the border of Israel and Syria has become a focal point of international tension. The Sea of Galilee and the River Jordan combine in exerting a powerful psychological and cultural force in the Valley, where the continuing crisis between Israel and the Arab nations is brought bitterly into focus.

Mr. Rand discusses this problem with a rare objectivity, contrasting the happier aspects of life in the Valley and remarking on the lonely life of the United Nations' soldiers who must accept. It is finally, however, the beauty of the Huleh Valley which impresses the visitor more than the occasional outbursts of hostility.

"Anyone who enjoys armchair trips to unusual locales will enjoy travelling with Christopher Rand, who will introduce the reader to a wide variety of people and cultures. The most of the trip is a visit to the public library and the travel ticket is Mr. Rand's latest book."

Of "Realities of American Foreign Policy," the library reviewer says: "George F. Kennan, the author, is a former United States ambassador to Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union.

"Currently he is a critic of American foreign policy. In this volume he draws on his vast experience as diplomat and scholar to describe and evaluate American policy, offering what he considers a more operative and realistic substitute for this policy. Although bearing some similarity to Hans Morgenthau's classic theory of Realpolitik, which reduces all foreign relations to terms of power relationships, Mr. Kennan's approach relies heavily on a psychological interpretation of American history, relegating power to a position of secondary importance.

"The author argues that America was both intellectually and psychologically unprepared for the role of world leader which World War II thrust upon it. Lacking sophistication that comes from tradition of world leadership, the United States depended too heavily on ideology, turning international politics into a global morality play. Mr. Kennan points out that this approach tends to enslave the United States to its ideology, necessitating a rigid pose, which limits the nation's freedom to change with the rest of the world.

"The author would remove policy decision-making from the realm of ideology to the realm of reason and objectivity, attempting to ensure a foreign policy in strict accord with the national interest. His theory is persuasively presented in George Kennan's new book, currently available at local public libraries."

He was really the "Mr. Republican" of the State Legislature.

You might disagree vigorously with some of Graham's opinions, but that didn't lessen the admiration for Graham, the man and the Senator.

The State can ill afford to lose legislators of Graham's stamp.

Yet, the fact was that Graham probably would have left public life and entered private industry if Volpe hadn't appointed him to the Turnpike Authority.

Graham has a growing family, and for financial reasons he couldn't afford to continue serving in the Legislature even though he held the position of Republican leader in the Senate.

Senator John F. Parker—of Taunton, chairman of the GOP State Committee, undoubtedly will become the new Senate Minority Leader.

Chairman Mario DiCarlo of the Newton Redevelopment Authority, Alderman Franklin N. Flaschner, chairman of the Aldermanic Planning Committee; Chairman J. Howard Loughman of the Planning Board, Public Works Director Willard S. Pratt, City Solicitor Matt B. Jones and ex-Mayor and present Metropolitan District Commission Chairman Howard Whitmore Jr.

The three Aldermen from Ward 4 — Harry H. Ham Jr., Warren A. Sutherland and William P. Matthews — will be asked to work with the committee when it is considering the Norumbega Park problem, as will a representative of the Auburndale Improvement Association, Mayor Basbas declared.

The Mayor said he may also invite a member of the Marriott Motor Hotels Corp., to sit in with the committee since that group will have a big financial stake in Norumbega Park. Mr. Basbas also asserted that he may increase the membership of the committee if he sees the need for it.

When they have settled the question of what should be done in Norumbega Park, the committee members will turn their attention to the land on Nahanton street. Originally, the site was proposed for a Sylvania college-campus-type science park or research centre, but that plan fizzled out. The area is presently zoned for limited manufacturing.

Mayor Basbas said he will ask the committee to determine what would be the best use for this land consistent with the characteristics of the area in which it is located.

The third matter the committee will study will be contemplated air rights development over the toll road at Newton Corner.

Inquiries already have been made by persons interested in that development. Proposals have been made for a group of small stores, a motel, restaurant, a department store, a theatre and medium-to-high rise apartment buildings.

It has been suggested that the development might include a combination of these structures in a complex, creating a plaza or mall.

Paul Tannenbaum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Tannenbaum, 284 Woodcliff rd., Newton Highlands; Bert Rosengarten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erich Rosengarten, 38 Locksley rd., Newton Centre, and Juliette Hickey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hickey, 215 Temple st., West Newton, visited the campus of the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis., to register for studies to start next September. They will return to the campus for further orientation Sept. 6.

Former Pastor Receives Award From Churchmen

Rev. Charles Harper, of Newton, former assistant pastor of the Eliot Congregational Church, Newton Centre, recently received an award from the Churchman's League of Massachusetts for outstanding service in the field of social action. Other recipients of this award were: Miss Helen B. Grumman, Back Bay; and Mrs. Lewis B. Carlson, Milton. Rev. Dr. Wilbur C. Zeigler is president of the Churchman's League.

Rev. Harper has the past four years has been director of the Interfaith Cooperative Metropolitan Ministry. Mrs. Carlson, a former school teacher in Milton and Dorchester, is a spokesman for the League at State House hearings. Miss Grumman is chief secretary in the Department of Social Action, Massachusetts Congregational Conference. The three recipients

Newton-Wellesley Hospital Eases Minds of Patients on Medicare

William S. Brine, director of Newton-Wellesley Hospital, has stated the institution's policy as it pertains to Medicare in a letter to patients.

Like all similar communications that go out from his office, the letter is intended to create an awareness that patients can expect the best possible care during their stay.

Director Brine's letter follows:

"To those of you who suddenly find this day introduces a new way of things—welcome to Medicare! Although a fair share of credit goes to the Congress of these United States for working out a system to help pay for care, let's give some credit to those who provide the care: the doctors, nurses, technicians, students, dietary, housekeeping, central supply, maintenance, general services, communications, pharmacy, general stores, laundry, grounds, medical records, business office, trustees and volunteers and a few others.

"I can't remember anyone from Washington asking whether this team of fine people would do the job or not, as they devised their legislation. I guess it was pretty much taken for granted. Why, it is difficult to assay, but I think it is mainly because they are a modest lot, seldom weep over their own misfortunes and spend most of their time helping others with theirs.

"So, enough of that. Let's see. You of the Medicare age represent almost 30% of our patient care days and numerically about 12% of our patients admitted. In other words, theoretically it takes longer on the average for you to recoup. Adding to the average is the fact that you are not having many babies, nor are many of you here overnight because your tonsils are bad! Statistics show that your diagnosis is not so different from those under 65. Although there are more of you with fractured hips, the younger fry have the broken extremities. And so it goes.

"Do we expect a sudden influx of Medicare patients? No. As many of you know, there is a waiting list for elective admissions, and there has been for many months. The line may get longer but not radically. Undoubtedly, there will be an increase in the use of the clinic and the outpatient diagnostic facilities, for these are included under Medicare. Perhaps this use may help to avoid hospitalization. I would estimate that about a 5% increase in patient days care will be the maximum.

"It will be quite an experience to launch this program. At the moment we haven't even received forms for filing claims. Uncle Sam will have troubles launching the new bill-paying program, but no one who needs care is going to be denied by doctors or hospitals! Regardless of all pros and cons, we will all try to make Medicare a great success."

$30,000 Raised By Women To Help Kidney Research

The annual meeting of the Women's Committee, Massachusetts Kidney Foundation, was held recently at the Sidney Hill Country Club.

During the meeting, it was announced that the organization had realized a total of $30,000 in fund raising events held throughout the season.

This money was presented to the Massachusetts Kidney Foundation for grants to support kidney disease research throughout the State.

Officers of the Women's Committee for the coming year also were announced at the Sidney Hill meeting. They are:

Mrs. Gerald Schuster, president; Mrs. Robert Hurwitz, Mrs. Robert Levine, and Mrs. Sydney Miller vice-presidents; Mrs. Maurice Mades treasurer; Mrs. Harold Feinstein, financial secretary; Mrs. Harvey Fleishman, recording secretary; Mrs. Laurence Levin, corresponding secretary.

Proposes Civic Group Council

Robert M. Young, 48 River Ave., president of the Newton Upper Falls Civic Association, proposed the establishment of a council of civic groups throughout the city at a recent meeting of the association.

"It would serve as a means of offering united effort from all areas on issues which are pertinent to the entire city," Young said, and added that individual groups would lose none of their control in their immediate areas.

Newton "Hams" Contact World At Field Day

Middlesex Amateur Radio Club, which has a good number of Newton "Hams" on its roll, took last Saturday and Sunday off for the League's annual field day at Bear Hill Tower in Stoneham.

Portable generators supplied power to operate two stations set up there for the 24-hour period, and contacts were made with points throughout the world.

The club was formed nine years ago with the assigned station call of W1HEB.

Its officers for the coming year are: President, Irving Geller, WA1CDW; vice president, James Joliff, K1LQP, and treasurer, John Hart, K1YVY, all of Newton.

Clergy

Rev. Pitman is the immediate past president of the association.

The Newton Clergy Association meets regularly in the various churches and temples of Newton. It presents a varied program of speakers and subjects of scholarly interest and social and communal concern to its ecumenical membership.

MR. TOWN
PAINT & SUPPLY
All latex house paints are the same. Right? Wrong.
 Different because of experience. Dutch Boy has experience in manufacturing exterior paints since colonial days. Dutch Boy Latex House Paint represents the sum total of this experience. The Dutch Boy label is your guarantee of the finest latex house paint, the finest results.
 Different because Dutch Boy's exclusive formulation means unexcelled durability, outstanding color retention, resistance to chalking. Whites stay bright—won't yellow—and non-fade colors stay fresh, beautiful, clean.
 Different because of Dutch Boy PBL (Penetrating Bonding Liquid). When you have to paint over a chalky painted surface, you do not have to scrub off the old chalk first or use a primer coat. Simply add PBL to Dutch Boy Latex House Paint.
 Different because Dutch Boy is a pure 100% acrylic latex house paint. Only a pure 100% acrylic latex can give you all of the advantages of latex house paint—superior durability, maximum color retention, resistance to chalking, peeling, blistering. Exterior latex paint has to be 100% acrylic latex to be the best... that's Dutch Boy. Because of differences like these, neighborhood Dutch Boy dealers like us are happy to recommend Dutch Boy Latex House Paint. Satisfied customers become repeat customers. And only a quality paint, properly applied can offer the real economy of less frequent repainting. Paint is our business. Make use of our experience. Be it a purchase or just advice. Come in soon.

Pretty Holiday Bridal Unites

Miss Mutch - Mr. Churchill

On Monday, July 4th, Miss Diane Carol Mutch became the bride of Richard Alan Churchill at St. John the Evangelist Church.

(Loring)
MRS. R. A. CHURCHILL

Mr. and Mrs. John Patrick Mutch of Attleboro and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Eliot Churchill of 111 Wood End road, Newton Highlands, are the couple's parents.

Two rings were exchanged at the 10 o'clock nuptials ceremony. A reception followed at the Le Fayer Club, Pawtucket, R. I.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore an ivory gown re-embroidered with Alencon lace on English net, designed with a scoop neckline, long sleeves, and a cathedral-length train.

She wore a mantilla of matching Alencon and carried a double lace fan with white roses, Stephanotis and fern.

Miss Veronica Silva was maid of honor. Miss Rita Hetu and Miss Sharon Papiene were bridesmaids. Miss Lark Hammond was junior bridesmaid, while Pamela White was flower girl.

Andre Paponeau served as best man. The ushers were Paul Theberge and Robert Craig. Mark Philebert was junior usher, while Master Paul Hammond was ring bearer.

Mr. Churchill and his bride left for the King's Grant Inn, Laconia, N. H. They will make their home in Rehoboth.

Mrs. Churchill was graduated from Attleboro High School, class of 1964.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the Lyndon Institute, St. Johnsbury, Vt., and the Cambridge School of Broadcasting, Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Cushman

Mark Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Townsend Hamilton Cushman of 133 Day street, Auburndale, recently, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

In honor of the half century mark, the couple were given a sherry-buffet supper by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Whitman (Elizabeth Cushman) at their Lexington home.

Among those present were another daughter, Mrs. C. Chandler Wright (Susanna Cushman) of Orinda, Calif.; their only son, Mr. Townsend H. Cushman Jr., of Jackson, Miss.; as well as three of their grandchildren, Pvt. David C. Wright of Fort Jackson, South Carolina, Jill M. Whitman and Gweneth G. Whitman.

Also present were Mrs. Guy W. Tucker (Margaret Cushman) of Otisfield, Me., Douglas H. Cushman of Washington, D.C. and the Rev. and

Miss Gesmer In Washington On Internship

Miss Elisabeth K. Gesmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gesmer, 23 Chapin Rd., Newton Centre, is one of 15 Wellesley College juniors who have just begun work in the nation's capitol as unpaid participants in the annual Wellesley - Vassar internship program in Government. The Wellesley students have joined the staffs of four Senators, three Congressmen, a Congressional campaign committee, and several government bureaus.

In order to add working experience to their academic information about governmental administration at the national level, the interns will spend nearly seven weeks at their assigned jobs in Washington. They will also attend Congressional sessions, committee hearings, and press conferences. The entire group will meet twice each week for discussion periods with experts from various branches of government.

Infantidings

To Mr. and Mrs. Gerald D. Saks (Janet S. Perlmuter) of Woburn, a second child, first son, Evan Michael, on June 11, at the Richardson House. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard H. Perlmuter of Newton Centre and Mrs. Philip Saks of Springfield.

Mrs. Robert C. Derr (the former Patricia Bradley, niece of the couple) of Medfield.

Joanne F. Leone Married To Harold Thomas Pheeny

At a 10 o'clock double-ring ceremony at St. Luke's Church in Belmont, Miss Joanne Frances Leone became the bride of Harold Thomas Pheeny.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Frank Leone of Belmont. Mr. and Mrs. William J. Pheeny of 43 Waban Hill road north, Chestnut Hill, are the groom's parents.

The bride's uncle, the Rev.

(Ken Hird)
MRS. HAROLD T. PHEENY

Elyse Thierry Seeks Title Of Miss High School

A local high school senior competed in the Miss High School of Massachusetts Pageant, Saturday, July 2, in the Show Bowl of Pleasure Island, Route 128, Wakefield.

Seeking the title of Miss High School of Massachusetts was Elyse Thierry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fernand Thierry, 23 Calvin Rd., Newtonville, a senior at Newton High School.

She is active in dramatics, ski club, Accapella Choir, and American Field Service. Also, she has been accepted to the School of Fine and Applied Arts at Boston University.

Touring Theater Quartered Here

Caravan Theater, with 20 members of its residence company housed at Newton College of the Sacred Heart, is ready to move out from there to give performances indoors, outdoors, in large halls, gyms or on tennis courts and fields anywhere in New England.

Sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee, the traveling troupe has portable bleachers that can seat 100 persons.

Any group or organization wishing to obtain fine theater should make inquiries at Newton College of the Sacred Heart, 332-6700.

Joanne MacCuspie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. MacCuspie, 10 Larch Rd., Waban, an English major at Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa, was awarded a B.A. degree from the College of Liberal Arts.

Miss Secunda - Mr. Levy Married at Sheraton Plaza

Now making their home in Boston are Mr. and Mrs. George David Levy (Karen Lee Secunda), whose marriage took place recently in the Oval Room at the Sheraton Plaza, Boston.

Dr. and Mrs. Lazarus Secunda of 145 Fuller street, West Newton, and Mr. and Mrs. William R. Levy of Boston, are the couple's parents.

Rabbi Robert Shapiro officiated at the 6:30 o'clock double-ring ceremony, which was followed by a reception.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a gown of antique ivory silk-linen designed with a scoop neckline, brief sleeves and a slim A-line skirt. The empire bodice and Watteau train were misted with appliques of white Venice lace.

The bride's mantilla was bordered with Belgian lace and she carried a bouquet of white baby orchids and trailing Stephanotis.

Mrs. Robert N. Nizel of Cambridge, was matron of honor. Mrs. Robert A. Danziger of Waban, sister of the groom, was an honorary attendant.

Young Joan Danziger of Waban, niece of the groom, was flower girl.

David W. Fagell of Stoneham served as best man. Two brothers of the bride, Jeffrey A. Secunda of West Newton and Dr. Steven K. Secunda of New York City, Robert A. Danziger of Waban, brother-in-law of the groom, Roger Samet of Boston, Lester L. Halpern of Holyoke, Dr. Alan Elkins of New York City and George D. Hano of Holyoke were the ushers.

Mr. Levy and his bride left on a trip to Jamaica and Puerto Rico.

The bride, a graduate of Wellesley College, is attending the Harvard Graduate School, where she expects to receive her M.A.T. degree in August.

Mr. Levy is a graduate of the University of Vermont and the Cornell Graduate School of Business. Having served as a lieutenant in the Army, he is a member of the University Club.

Problem Of TV Star: What To Do With Gift Elephant

By TERRANCE W. McGARRY
United Press International
MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Broderick Crawford is thinking of resurrecting his long-run television series "Highway Patrol" — with the new version set in Mexico. It might take his mind off his elephant problem.

"The highway patrolman I played never had any family life," said the beefy Oscar winner (All the King's Men) here. "So the way it looks now, it turns out that all along my wife was Mexican. We resume the series with my retirement from the Highway Patrol."

"She wants to go back to Mexico, I start helping out the local cops and bang — bang — I'm right back in police work, only on the southern side of the border."

"It will be a co-production for both Mexican and American television, the first of its kind, I think."

Crawford has high hopes for the sequel, since the original ran for 4½ years in the United States and is still being carried by some stations, but adds that "I don't know why, the show success surprised me."

"I still catch it on the late show occasionally and I always go sound asleep watching it," he says. "I fall asleep listening to my own voice. But it was a financial success, so I'm proud of it on that count."

Since the character Crawford plays would have no official status in Mexico, "we got approval from the government to make the series here as long as I don't carry a gun or make any actual arrests. That has to be shown as the job of the Mexican police I help out."

"We can do things like investigating international narcotics operators, looking for U.S. criminals on the lam down here, stuff like that."

Other than these restrictions, Crawford said, he has been promised freedom from the Mexican government censorship.

Crawford's getting in practice for the series now, starring in the movie "Gregory and the Angel," A Mexican-American co-production.

"We split everything right down the middle between three Mexican backers and three Americans," he said. "I'm one of the American backers, and we're using a script I bought in Spain. The Mexicans are providing the crew, and Mexican comedian Tin-Tan is a co-star."

"I'll speak my lines in English and the rest of the cast will speak Spanish. They'll dub my voice in Spanish for the Latin American version, and the other voices into English for release in the states."

About that elephant problem: "I own an elephant in India, and I don't know what to do with it."

"It all started about 12 years ago when I saved this kid in Los Angeles. I pushed him out of the way of a car. Well, it turned out he was the son of the Maharaja of Cooch-Bihar. So later on when I was in India, the Maharaja gave me a baby elephant."

When they bring it out for parades, you can see 'Broderick Crawford' written on its saddle to identify it as my elephant."

"I left it there with the Maharaja, but its grown up now and too big to put in an airplane. I don't know what to do with it. I'm not sure I'd like the taste of elephant barbecue."

Although the highway patrolman Crawford played will be retired in his next appearance, Crawford himself — who will admit only to being "in his 50s" — has no plans to quit.

"I like playing heavies," he said. "The handsome-type stars, the collar ad guys, they don't realize they're getting old until it's too late, and they learn the hard way. Nobody cares if the heavy is older."

Firefighter Of Today Projects Fine New Image

By ROBERTA ULRICH
United Press International

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — The image of the fireman as sitting in a tilted-back chair playing endless games of checkers between fires is as outmoded as the Dalmatian chasing the fire horses.

These days when a fireman isn't fighting fires his chair is apt to be the one-armed type found in classrooms. Instead of checkers he probably is concentrating on a lecture on the science of hydraulics.

Firemen are going to school in increasing numbers to keep abreast of such things as the type of flames created by plastics and how to write comprehensible reports.

At Spokane Community College they can acquire an Associate of Arts Degree. The course, which college officials believe is the only one of its kind in a junior college, is open only to professional firefighters. Taking one or two courses a semester, a fireman can complete the degree requirements in about six years.

At present, 101 fireman are enrolled in various courses in addition to one entitled "Company Operations," in which all 262 members of the Spokane Fire Department train at a drill tower used to create tactical problems. In addition, 26 firemen from the suburban Spokane Valley department are enrolled in that course and four from Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

The four from Coeur d'Alene's 10-man department also are working for the fire science degree, driving 35 miles from their homes two nights a week to attend classes.

The curriculum and degree program were set up by the college, working with the Spokane Fire Department, the Fire Fighters Union and the State Department of Vocational Education.

The firemen-students must pay their own tuition ($3 a course) and get no time off to attend class.

In addition to their technical training, the firemen study English, political science, speech and public relations. Technical courses include electricity, alarm systems, fire prevention, physics, investigation, radiation, respiratory hazards and tactics.

Spokane Fire Chief W.A. Dunham, a veteran of 39 years in the department, said the program was designed to help firemen "meet the challenge of today's requirements in fire protection."

"Fire fighting has become more complicated with different materials, new materials constantly being developed and new fuels," he said.

"This is primarily a program for our younger men and especially the younger officers — the men who will be running the department one day."

Meyers graduated from high school in 1950, joined the fire department in 1958 and made lieutenant in June, 1964.

He finds returning to studying "not really hard" and said he is "getting quite a bit out of the course." He added that his homework probably requires about twice the amount of time he spends in class. "But I'm learning something," he said. "It's very worthwhile."

Movie-Making Lets Off Some Juvenile Steam

RICHMOND, Calif. (UPI) — Youths in the predominantly Negro north section of this San Francisco Bay area Town don't have a baseball diamond or basketball court—so what do they do?

Some of them, at least, make movies.

Douglas Casperian, a University of California student, borrowed a movie camera and film for the youths at the North Richmond Neighborhood House, a Quaker-founded recreation organization.

Since then, three movies have been made by boys ranging in age from 12 to 18 who live in the shabby district that has an unemployment rate 20 percent greater than the rest of the city.

The silent movies are accompanied by taped music done by 17-year-old Eddie Jackson and his group.

The characters "speak" by holding corn-strip "balloons" to their mouths.

None of the movies has a racial theme. One is about a boy and his dog, and two are fantasies.

One of the fantasies, "The Dream Blowers," has an All Negro cast — almost.

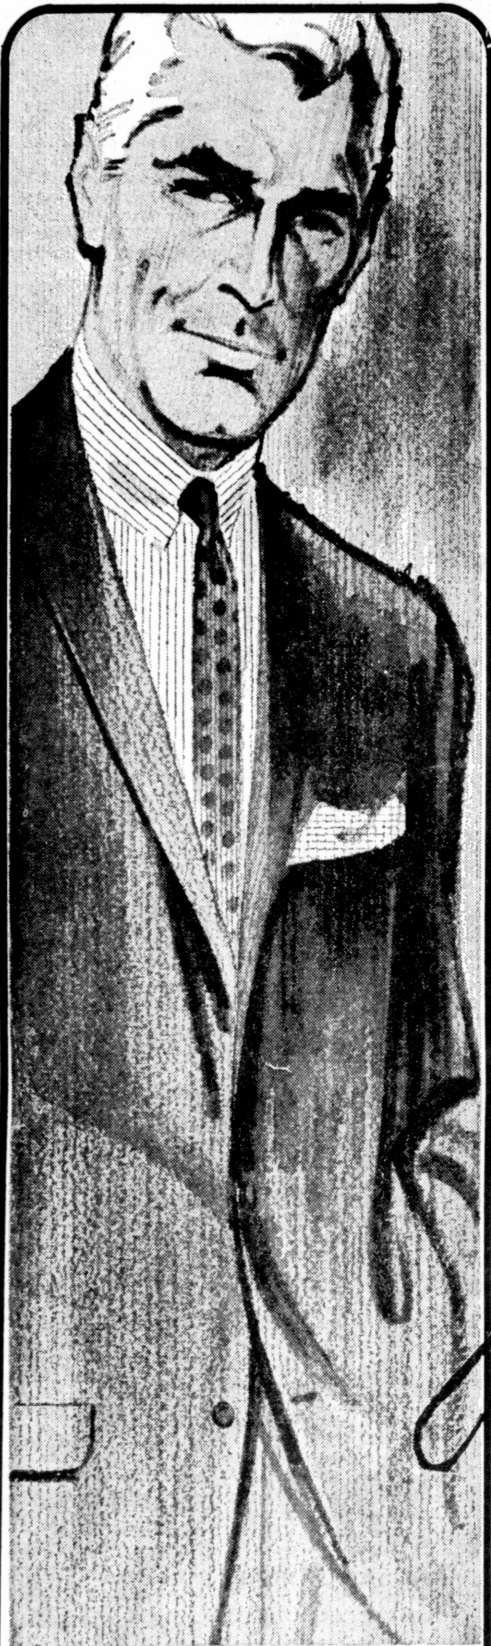

A white man wandered into the path of the camera during the filming of a street scene, explained casting director Warren Ford, 17.

"The Dream Blowers" is about a group of boys and their girl friends who hold a beach party and the Walter Mittyish dreams of some of the boys.

Ford said the group's next film will be more ambitious—a documentary about the Negro teen-agers of North Richmond. He said they hope to show that all teen-agers there aren't hoodlums.

Local Students Taking Foreign Study Program

Lisa M. Ayman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. David Ayman of 80 High Rock terrace, Chestnut Hill, will be among 23 high school-aged boys and girls attending Mount Hermon School's Liberal Studies Program in Advanced French. The program will consist of two weeks of concentrated French language study on the Mount Hermon campus and five weeks travel and study in France.

Miss Ayman, a student at Newton South High School, will leave this country for France July 14, and will return August 19.

Liberal Studies Program is an intensive study program for bright students to concentrate their efforts in one academic field of their choice. Three foreign study programs and 20 other academic fields are offered this year by LSP. The total student enrollment of 281 boys and girls represents public and private schools in 31 states and two foreign countries.

Others attending LSP are: Carole Shaffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving A. Shaffer of Newton Centre, Newton

Newton's Second Church Is Scene of Tedrow-Ware Bridal

The Second Congregational Church in Newton was the recent scene of the marriage of Miss Evelyn Elise Ware to William I. Tedrow.

MRS. WILLIAM I. TEDROW

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Ware, Jr., of 33 Somerset road, West Newton, and Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Tedrow of Wollaston are the couple's parents.

Dr. Ross Cannon officiated at the two o'clock afternoon double-ring service. A reception followed at the church parlors.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned of silk organza. Angel lace appliques marked the bodice, sleeves and bell-skirt, which was made with a detachable chapel-length train.

A self material rose petal headpiece held in place her elbow-length illusion veil. She carried a cascade of small white carnations and stephanotis.

Miss Carol Ann Ware of Newton was her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids included Miss Margaret Ware of Athens, Ohio, Miss Barbara A. Sullivan of Auburndale, Miss Laurie Bradlee of Cambridge and Miss Billie Jo Brice of Kingston, Pa.

Terry O. Tedrow of Costa Mesa, Calif., brother of the groom was best man. Michael

F. Ware of Newton, George L. Ware 3rd, of Athens, Ohio, Eric D. Bradlee of Cambridge, Keith Sedlacek of Phoenixville, Pa., Mike Holland of Lakewood, Ohio, and John Dockery of Brooklyn, N. Y., were ushers.

Master Michael Tedrow of Costa Mesa, Calif., nephew of the groom, was ring-bearer.

The bride is a graduate of Newton High School, Heidelberg College and the Chandler School.

Mr. Tedrow was graduated from North Quincy High School, Hebron Academy and Harvard College, class of 1966.

Bermuda was the honeymoon destination of the couple.

Florists Field Day To Be Held On Wednesday

The annual Florists' field day is scheduled for Wednesday, July 13, from 3 to 8:15 p.m., at the Waltham Field Station.

More than 200 commercial florists attended the affair last year, and Newton's florists are expected to join the gathering with their families this year.

The program has been prepared by the Massachusetts Extension Service in cooperation with the Massachusetts Flower Growers Association, and is designed to give florists an opportunity to see what is new at the experiment station. A catered family barbecue at 5:30 p.m. will be a feature.

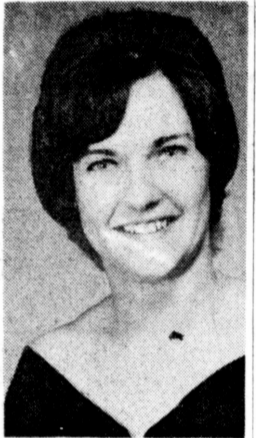

Reservations for the barbecue must be made by tomorrow (Friday.)

Spring Bridal For Miss Sabatini, Mr. Shattuck

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Sabatini of Newtonville makes known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lois Sabatini, to Peter Shattuck. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Shattuck of Newton and Annisquam.

A graduate of Newton High School, Miss Sabatini is now attending secretarial school. Having prepared at the Rivers Country Day School, Mr. Shattuck is a student at Boston University. He is a member of the Marine Corps Officer Training Reserve.

A spring wedding is planned.

CHERIE HOLLAND

Cherie Holland, Thomas Harter Become Engaged

Announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Holland of Needham makes known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Cherie G. Holland, to Thomas W. Harter. He is the son of Mrs. Donald B. Harter of Northampton, formerly of Needham, and the late Mr. Harter.

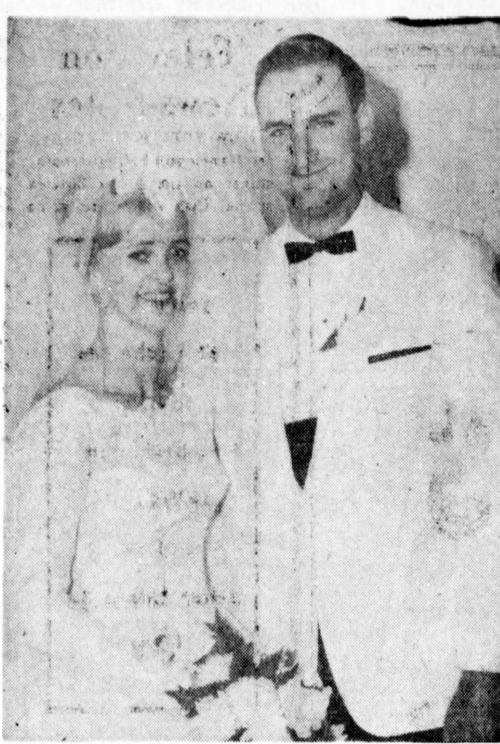

A graduate of Needham High School, Miss Holland attended West Virginia Wesleyan College. She is now associated with Cramer Electronics, Newton, as a branch coordinator.

Mr. Harter, a graduate of Williamsburg High School, completed a four year tour of duty with the Air Force. He is a jet engine tester for Pratt and Whitney Aircraft in East Hartford, Ct.

Miss Brighton, Mr. Yanco Wed; Honeymoon In Bermuda

St. Joseph's Church was the setting for the recent wedding of Miss Joan Cecelia Brighton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Brighton of 9 Pickering place, Needham, to Mr. Philip Jerome Yanco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Yanco of 30 Auburn street, West Newton.

Officiating at the 10 o'clock morning ceremony was Rev. Francis D. Garrity, and a reception followed at Hotel 128, Needham.

Takes Teaching Job Prior To Further Study

Richard J. Palmaccio, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Palmaccio, 789 Commonwealth Ave., Newton Centre, a Boston College Honor graduate, was awarded a B.S. degree in Math at the recent commencement, and he will continue his studies toward a Master's degree.

In that connection, he has taken a paid teaching internship at Wellesley High School effective this coming fall.

On June 13, Richard departed for a European vacation. While in Italy he will renew friendships formed on previous trips in 1956 and again last summer when he also toured Switzerland.

Richard prepared for college at St. Sebastian's Country Day School.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white silk organza and peau d' ange gown fashioned in bouffant style with a portrait neckline, appliques with pearl beading, and long sleeves. Two back attached Watteau panels featured lace and her headpiece of white organza petals and roses held in place a three-tiered shoulder-length veil. She carried two purple-throated orchids with cascading carnations and chrysanthemums.

Miss Virginia Frawley of Norfolk was the maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Nancy Denesha of Sagamore, Nancy Horne of Medford, Betty Jean Sterling of Brookline, Katherine McGuinness of Cambridge, and Mrs. Margaret Yanco of Nashua, N.H.

Serving as best man for his brother was Mr. Richard Yanco of West Newton, and ushers included Mr. William Yanco and Mr. Edward Yanco of West Newton, Mr. Francis Yanco of Nashua, N.H., Mr. Francis Brighton of Needham, and Mr. Paul Brighton of Burlington.

Recently returned from a wedding trip to Bermuda, the couple will make their home in Needham.

Miss Young - Mr. Berman Wed; Living on Cape Cod

Spending the summer on Cape Cod are Mr. and Mrs. David Preston Berman (Susan Ellen Young), whose marriage took place, recently, at Temple Emeth.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Young of Newton Centre and Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Berman of Belmont are the couple's parents.

Rabbi Zev K. Nelson officiated at the six o'clock late afternoon service, which was followed by a reception in the temple.

Given away by her father, the bride's A-line skirted gown had an empire bodice of Swiss daisy lace appliques made with a circlet neckline and puff sleeves.

The matching lace cap held in place her bouffant illusion veil. She carried her Bible with orchids.

Miss Joan Carolyn Young of Newton Centre was her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Laura Jane Corwin and Miss Carol Ann Cohen, both of Newton, and Miss Sally Elizabeth Young of Newton Centre, another sister of the bride.

Bert Beck of New York City, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man. The ushers were Douglas Coupe of New York City, Joel Schwartz of Sharon, cousin of the bride and Scott Taylor.

The bride is a graduate of Boston University. She is a teacher in the Boston public schools.

Mr. Berman, a graduate of Springfield College, will attend Michigan State University.

Television News-Notes

NEW YORK (UPI)—Daughter Nancy will be a guest-star singer on the Frank Sinatra special that will be on some network sometime next season.

Ricky Nelson of the famous radio-television family that is retiring after practically inventing broadcasting will be seen next season as the star of an original video musical called "Flip Side," an item in the ABC Stage 67 series.

The importance of the nosy neighbor, Gladys Kravitz, to the "Bewitched" series on ABC has been pointed up in retention of the character by casting Sandra Gould as a replacement for the late Alice Pearce, who created the role.

Rick Jason, star of ABC's "Combat!", will be one of those appearing next season on the network's "American Sportsman" series. He will go elephant hunting in Africa.

ABC has signed for a third season of National Basketball Association games: 12 regular season and five playoff games.

NBC's American Football League schedule in the fall calls for broadcasting a record number of 58 games including the championship and all-star contests.

you'll find at Lechmere sparkle a-plenty in JEWELRY — and many other things to buy

Here you'll always find the newest costume jewelry—and rings by the hundreds, from tiny infant circlets to attention-getting cocktail styles. You can buy a costume watch or a name brand jeweled watch, including tiny solid gold designs that look like bracelets, and sturdy railroad watches.

Here you may select creamy cultured pearls by the hank—at Lechmere's low prices—and have them especially strung. Here you'll find top name cigarette lighters, pens, and every kind of clock for bedside, table, mantel, or wall. Mesh handbags, perfume bottles and adult games, too.

Here you can buy silverware, an inexpensive silver-rimmed ash tray or the complete coffee service that will someday be a family heirloom all priced Lechmere's way.

And here, in this store-within-a-store, is our leather goods department, containing lovely jewel boxes, good-looking wallets and belts for men, handsome leather desk sets.

You'll find "Jewelry" a department to shop often, for many things.

a Lechmere
The Diamond
Room

Adjacent to our Jewelry Department is our very fine Diamond Room, especially planned to give you the privacy necessary for an unhurried selection of a lovely diamond ring or other fine diamond jewelry. The sales personnel here are diamond experts, happy always to give whatever advice you may desire.

And remember, every Lechmere diamond carries a registered guarantee of color, cutting, clarity, weight, and full purchase price turn-in value.

Newton Official Announces Major Hospital Project

David L. Rosenberg, of Newton, president of the Jewish Memorial Hospital, this week announced the construction of a $1,100,000 addition to the facilities of the hospital.

The addition, which will be erected on the top of existing buildings, will provide 70 additional beds, making a total of 326 beds in the hospital.

President Rosenberg stated that the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare has approved a grant of $279,679 for this expansion.

It will provide for a new x-ray department, with a new $50,000 x-ray unit, and a complete, modern scientific rehabilitation unit for assisting patients in physical and occupational therapy. Also, the dining room and solarium will be enlarged.

Construction is expected to take approximately 15 months to complete.

Two Selected For Summer Intern Program

Governor John A. Volpe has announced that two young Newtonites were selected for participation in the Commonwealth's Summer Internship Program, which makes available research positions to college juniors, seniors and graduate students.

They are William W. Dow, 81 Avalon Rd., Waban, a student at the University of Massachusetts, and Richard P. Malie, 163 Winchester St., Newton Highlands, a Northeastern University student.

They were among seven out of 49 who passed a lengthy written examination and a personal interview. They will be assigned to state agencies to do research work.

Said the Governor: "The skills that these young people can contribute this summer will be of value to the Commonwealth, while they, at the same time, will gain invaluable practical experience."

Abraham Heckler; standing, Albert Miller, Leon Levitan, Mark Aronson, Arnold Weisman, Bertram Lipman, William Starr and Gerald Cohen. Members of the class taught by Rev. Heckler received certificates qualifying them to chant the Haftorahs.

Rev. Meyer Is To Preach At Union Church

The Rev. Eugene Meyer, of the Auburndale Congregational Church, will be the preacher next Sunday, July 10, at the Newton Union summer service to be held at the Union Church in Waban, at 10 o'clock.

Rev. Meyer came to Auburndale about eight years ago, having previously served churches in Rochester, Minn., New York City and St. Louis, Mo. He is a graduate of Washington University in St. Louis, and of Eden Theological Seminary and Chicago Theological Seminary. He has also done graduate work at Union Theological Seminary and Columbia University.

Music at this service will be by Ruth Healey, organist and Paul Wiggin, tenor.

During the week of July 8 through 14, the Rev. Meyer will be on call for pastoral care for the churches cooperating in the Union summer services and he may be reached by calling 527-4636 or 332-1976.

Joan M. Wilensky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius L. Wilensky, 14 Selwyn Rd., Newton Highlands, and Kathy L. Axelrod, daughter of Mrs. Selma Axelrod, 5 Marshall St., Newton Centre, attained the Dean's List at Chamberlayne Junior College, Boston. Each is an interior design major.

Richard J. Sagall, son of Dr. and Mrs. Elliot L. Sagall, 178 Old Farm Rd., Newton Centre, a June graduate of Newton South High School and a member of the National Honor Society, has begun a schedule of testing and orientation at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio.

People Over 65 Found High In Intelligence

Two local doctors are members of the Board of Trustees of Age Center for New England, Inc., a non-profit research organization whose headquarters are at 115 Newbury street, Boston.

They are Dr. Everett Walters of 240 Otis street, West Newton, and Dr. Milton Greenblatt of 11 Burnside road, Newton Highlands.

The Center is engaged in the social scientific study of more than 2000 relatively healthy older persons of the community, in an attempt to contribute to the greater understanding of persons over 65 and their value to society.

The Center's executive director, Hugh Cabot, has announced a five-year research grant from the National Institute of Child and Human Development of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The award, totalling in the neighborhood of $260,000, was made to the Age Center for a study of intellectual functioning in men and women of 65 years or more.

In announcing the award, Cabot said: "The intelligence level of older persons, regardless of their socio-economic status, has been demonstrated by the Age Center's preliminary findings to average 124 as against the national average of 100. This is an intelligence quotient normally associated with young people accepted by leading colleges as good material. We hope that the large study, no being undertaken under the new research grant, will shed further lights on the increase in intelligence as the years progress."

Blind Benefit By Arrangement With Blue Cross

Blind persons who are beneficiaries under the new Medicare program, and who receive financial assistance from the Massachusetts Division of the Blind, are now provided with a simplified way of obtaining medical services.

"In an announcement made today, John F. Mungovan, director of the Massachusetts Division of the Blind, said that the Division of the Blind has entered into a unique arrangement with Massachusetts Blue Cross-Blue Shield. Under this plan Blue Cross-Blue Shield, through the Division of the Blind, will issue to those blind persons who are Medicare beneficiaries and recipients of Aid to the Blind, a special Blue Cross-Blue Shield membership card. Using this special card, these blind persons will be enabled to obtain the services of a physician and a visiting nurse. The card may also be used for having a doctor's prescription filled.

"Mr. Mungovan said, 'The blind medicare beneficiary will need only to present his special Blue Cross-Blue Shield card in addition to his Medicare card and he will receive the service or prescription he requires. The doctor, the visiting nurse or the pharmacist, as the case may be, will forward the bill to Blue Cross-Blue Shield for payment.'

"The Division of the Blind will reimburse Blue Cross-Blue Shield for those costs

Hebrew Regional High School Has Graduation

Graduation exercises of the Regional Hebrew High School were held at Temple Emanuel in Newton in June.

Fourteen students were recipients of diplomas after having successfully completed a three-year course of study beyond the elementary six-year Religious School.

Regional Hebrew High School is a joint enterprise of the following Temples: Temple Emanuel, Temple Mishkan Tefila, and Temple Beth Israel, all of Newton, and Temple Beth Israel, Waltham.

Classes offering upper level subjects in Jewish Bible and literature, Jewish History and Jewish Philosophy are held Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. at Temple Emanuel, which has been serving as the host Temple.

The graduates delivered talks dealing with various aspects of the school curriculum such as "Prophecy and Writings," "Ethics of the Fathers," "Rashi," "Israel," "Jewish Philosophy," and "Comparative Religion." Guest speaker was Rabbi Peretz Halpern of Temple Israel, Swampscott. Dr. Albert L. Gordon of Temple Emanuel conferred his blessing upon the graduates.

Diplomas and awards were presented by Mr. Stanley L. Cohen, educational director of Temple Emanuel; Clarence N. Jacobson, chairman of Temple Emanuel School Committee and Solomon Kaufman, chairman of Regional Hebrew High School Committee. Rabbi Philip Kieval of Temple Beth Israel delivered the opening prayer.

The graduates and their parents received relatives and friends at a reception in the Community Hall following the program.

Participants in the exercises including the following: Lewis Hecht, Temple Emanuel; Samuel Goldhaber, Temple Beth Zion; Carl Cohen, instructor; Rabbie M. David Weiss, Temple Emanuel; Rabbi Albert I. Gordon, Temple Emanuel; Stanley L. Cohen, educational director, Temple Emanuel; Aaron Soltes, chairman, School Committee, Temple Beth Israel; Samuel Sacks, chairman, School Committee, Temple Mishkan Tefila; Samuel Seskin, Temple Emanuel.

Following is the list of graduates and their Temple affiliations: Gail Resnikoff, Temple Beth Israel; Barbara Andler, Temple Mishkan Tefila; Linda Elovitz, Temple Emanuel; Susan Carlin, Temple Emanuel; Janice Weinstein, Temple Emanuel; Roberta Rosendorf, Temple Emanuel; Norma Starr, Temple Emanuel; Rosalind Soltes, Temple Beth Israel; Barbara Glassman, Temple Emanuel; Marla Baker, Temple Emanuel; Barbara Levenson, Temple Emanuel.

Dr. Kroll Named To Schools Here And To Harvard

Dr. Arthur M. Kroll, who moved on July 1 with his wife and daughter, Deborah Ann, to 264 Grove street, Auburndale, was awarded the degree of Doctor of Education by the Graduate School of Harvard University at its recent commencement.

A graduate of Northbridge High School in Whitinsville, Dr. Kroll received a B.A. degree cum laude in physics from Clark University in 1962, and a Master of Education degree from Harvard in 1963. At Clark he was elected to Sigma Pi Sigma, the National Physics Honor Society, and at Harvard he was elected to Phi Delta Kappa, professional fraternity for men in education.

Dr. Kroll has accepted a joint appointment as administrative assistant in the public schools of Newton and as assistant professor of Education at Harvard Graduate School of Education.

He is a member of the American Educational Research Association, the American Personnel and Guidance Association, the National Vocational Guidance Association, the American School Counselor Association and the Association for Counselor Education and Supervision.

With Dr. Edward Landy, professor of Education at Harvard and assistant superintendent of the Newton schools, Dr. Kroll is co-editor of two books on the subject of guidance in American education.

road in Newton Highlands gained entry to them by pushing in a screen at one house and ripping out a screen at another.

Jewelry was taken by the thieves who entered the home of Oscar Wolk at 29 Kendall road after ripping out a screen on a rear window.

It is believed that the same robbers entered the home of Isadore Segal at 43 Kendall road, where they pushed in a screen in a master bedroom. A lady's watch, a man's plaid jacket and $60 in cash were taken from the Segal dwelling.

A portable television set valued at $125 and $100 in coins were taken by burglars who broke into the home of Murray E. Bortman at 278 Spiers rd., Newton Centre.

Two diamond rings and two gold bracelets were

He stated "Newton is a garden city, and we can be proud of the efforts of the vast majority of our citizens to maintain the beauty of our community. However, it is a shame that a small handful of irresponsible individuals can so mar our City with careless disposal of junk."

Pointing to the junked car, the Mayor went on, "This junked car dumped on a public playground — this pile of broken glass and sharp rusting metal, is not only an eyesore, but it is a positive physical danger to the well-being of our youngsters who play here."

"What the person responsible for this dumping did not recognize was that junked cars dumped on public lands must be removed with tax money—a burden shared by all our citizens, including the dumper himself."

The Mayor then further stated "This is a problem not only with public lands, but also with private homes and businesses."

"I can understand the joy experienced by some of our teenagers when they collect junked cars on their parents' property to use for parts in building their own vehicle. But these ugly rusting piles ransacked. He was unable to state what had been taken.

Police are also investigating several breaks and thefts which occurred prior to the holiday weekend.

Two breaks occurred in homes on Westchester road. Sidney R. Bornstein of 28 Westchester rd., reported that his dwelling had been entered by thieves who got in by removing a screen in a rear window. He was unable to state what was missing.

While police were investigating that break, they discovered another next door at the home of Mrs. Sylvia Alter at 26 Westchester rd. A quantity of jewelry and $10 in Kennedy half dollars were taken in that robbery.

The home of Moses J. Steiner at 35 Everett st., Newton Centre, was ransacked by thieves who gained entry by jimmying both the rear porch door and the kitchen door.

The office of the Chandler, Hoover and Giles Insurance Agency at 1359 Centre st., Newton Centre, was ransacked and desks and file cabinets opened. Entrance was gained by breaking a lock in a window.

An attempt was made to break into the High and Texaco Service Station at 1149 Walnut st., Newton Highlands, but the would-be burglars did not get into the building.

Jewelry, money and bankbooks were taken in a break at the home of Harold Fox, 46 Ferncroft rd., Waban.

A lawn sprinkler valued at $12 was stolen from the home of Mrs. Jesse Knight at 151 Allerton rd., Newton Highlands.

stolen in a break at the home of Alan R. Ferestian, 175 Chestnut st., West Newton, where a master bedroom was completely ransacked.

Burglars got into the home of Robert E. Hilton at 136 Pearl st., Newton, by removing a fan from a kitchen window. They stole $110 in cash.

Richard Mullen reported to police that the home of his father-in-law at 27 White ave., Newton Centre, had been burglarized and several rooms

Largest Group of Library Friends In Brandeis University Parley

Some 400 delegates from 38 states represented the 75,000 members of Brandeis University National Women's Committee, the largest friends-of-a-library group in the world, at the 18th annual conference on the campus recently.

A highlight of the get-together was the dedication of the 250,000 volume capacity Gerstenganz Science Library in the university's new 10-building science complex, which symbolized the acceptance of a new responsibility by the group.

The National Women's Committee has been solely responsible for the maintenance and growth of Brandeis' 400,000-volume Goldfarb Library, which was begun in 1948 with a 1000-book collection.

of metal ruin the atmosphere of the community and lower property values."

The Mayor concluded by stating that something will be done, and that he is presently proposing ways and means of preventing this situation and enforcing ordinances against the dumping of automobiles.

The Mayor's recommended ordinances are currently before the Claims and Rules Committee of the Newton Board of Aldermen.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS
I have given thee a wise and an understanding heart.
—(Kings 3:12)
In our daily association with people, we should remember that we play an important part on whether our relationship be disagreeable and unpleasant or happy and harmonious. God has put within our heart all the love and understanding to heal difficult situations and harmonize our associations. God blesses us when we seek understanding and express our love for our fellowman.

Hospital Dedication Honors Local Family

The recent dedication of six modern Treatment Rooms in the Emergency Unit of Beth Israel Hospital honored the late Philip Smith, his wife, Miriam, and his family. The ceremonies cited the family's "sense of responsibility to community betterment" over the span of many years.

Mrs. Miriam Smith, and her children, Richard Smith and Mrs. Nancy Lurie participated in the ceremony with their families. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith and Mrs. Nancy Lurie reside in Chestnut Hill and West Newton, respectively.

Irving W. Rabb, vice president of Beth Israel, officiating at the dedication, noted that "the existence of the Treatment Area in the Emergency Unit is only one manifestation of Philip Smith's concern with his community and with his fellow men."

The dedication ceremony was also attended by numerous close friends and relatives of the Smith family. Following Mr. Rabb's remarks Dr. Sidney S. Lee, of Newton, Beth Israel's general director, described the role of the Treatment Rooms in the functioning of the Emergency Unit. Richard Smith responded for the family.

"This is a salute to a family which has served the community through participation in the affairs of this great institution and through strong support whenever it was needed. In this spirit I accept, on behalf of the officers and Trustees, the Marian and Philip Smith Treatment Rooms," Mr. Rabb stated.

Philip Smith was a member of the Board of Trustees at B.I. from 1956 to 1961, and served on the Finance Committee, the Diagnostic Clinic Committee, the Public Relations Committee and the Nursing School Advisory Committee.

On the community-wide level he was a vice chairman of the Combined Jewish Appeal and devoted himself wholeheartedly also to the cause of furthering better inter-group relations, Mr. Rabb noted.

Mrs. Philip Smith has also maintained an active interest in the hospital through its Women's Auxiliary, Friends of the Maternity and Outpatient Department, Mr. and Mrs. Smith maintained endowment funds at the hospital for many years.

Continuing in the family tradition, Richard Smith and Mrs. Lurie have been active in the affairs of the hospital for many years. Richard Smith is a trustee of the hospital and serves as a member of the Research Committee. His wife, Susan, and his sister are both active members of the Women's Auxiliary and Life Members of that organization and Friends of the Outpatient Department and the Emergency Unit.

Dr. Lee noted the great expansion in Emergency Unit service to the community which had taken place in recent years. The current rate is 20,000 visits per year, he said, and the Unit has been designed to handle an eventual load of 30,000 annually.

Pointing out that one out of every fifteen patients seen in the Emergency Unit requires immediate life-saving procedures, Dr. Lee added that the modern equipment and design of the Smith Treatment Rooms makes it possible to administer such procedures quickly and efficiently.

In his response for the family, Richard Smith recalled that his father had become interested in the Beth Israel Hospital as far back as 1922 and that service in its behalf had always afforded him a great measure of satisfaction. He added that his parents had shown an early interest in the Emergency Unit because of its key role of service to the community at any time it was needed. He noted his own continuing interest and that of his sister, Mrs. Lurie, in the development of the hospital and voiced the hope that the three grandchildren present at the dedication would wish to carry on in their turn.

Following the response, Mrs. Philip Smith undraped the plaque in the Emergency Unit and the family was escorted to view those treatment rooms not in immediate patient use.

Eve Anne Valentine, 801 Chestnut St., Waban, has returned home for the summer from her studies at Mt. Ida Junior College, where she completed her freshman year.

Candidates For Street Foreman

The state director of civil service has provided Street Commissioner George McCauley with the names of four men from which to select two as permanent foremen and inspectors.

They are: Timothy J. Gannon, 35 Brooks avenue, Newtonville; Joseph A. Greco, 94 Adams street, Waltham; John F. Bradley, 204 Crafts street, Newtonville; and John J. Cady, 48 Indiana terrace, Newton Upper Falls.

The salary for the positions is $6,215 per year.

South Middlesex NAACP Awards 5 Scholarships

Stephen Parnell of Newton South High School and Richard Jefferson of Newton High School, each received $425 scholarship awards at the recent June meeting of the South Middlesex Branch N.A.A.C.P., held in Wellesley Hills.

Stephen Parnell son of Mrs. Uarda M. Parnell and the late Dr. John Parnell, resides at 18 David Road, Newton Centre. Richard Jefferson, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Jefferson of 15 Prospect Street, West Newton.

Special awards of $50 each were given to Josephine Hardy of Framingham South High School; William Mickens of Dover-Sherborn Regional High School; and Austin Moore of Newton High School.

The scholarships were donated jointly by the Community Parent's Organization of Newton and the South Middlesex Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Both high school seniors and college students are eligible for the awards which are administered by the Education Committee of the South Middlesex Branch, which includes Newton, Wellesley, Natick, Framingham, and surrounding towns. The branch office is at 5 Main Street, in Natick square.

Land For Homes Here Seems To Be Running Out

There was a slight increase in the number of real estate deeds registered in Newton during the first five months of 1966, according to figures compiled by the First Federal Savings and Loan Association. There were 335 deeds, compared with 325 in the first five months of the previous year.

Deeds recorded for May, 1966, numbered 100. There were only 62 in May of 1965. Six permits for new dwelling units were issued in Newton in May of this year. Eight were issued in May of 1965.

There was a sharp drop in new dwelling permits in the first five months of this year, there being only 26, compared with 127 for 1965.

The drop is an indication that land available for the construction of homes in the Garden City is running out, the most desirable lots having been developed.

Accreditation Commission Commends Newt.-Wellesley

The Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals has notified Newton-Wellesley Hospital of its continued full accreditation, hospital director William S. Brines announced today.

A letter from John D. Porterfield, M.D., director of the Joint Commission, informed the 260-bed hospital of its approval.

Dr. Porterfield wrote, "The Commission wishes to commend you for maintaining standards deserving of accreditation and for your constant effort to improve the quality of patient care. The staff and administration are commended for the evidence shown of good care given patients."

Hospitals across the nation are reviewed regularly by the Joint Commission, to assure patients that acceptable standards of medical and hospital care are being maintained.

Member agencies of the Commission are the American College of Physicians, the American College of Surgeons, the American Hospital Association, and the American Medical Association.

A physician representative of the Commission visited Newton-Wellesley Hospital on April 29th. He met with administrative and medical staff representatives, and reviewed statistical data, medical records, and minutes of meetings and conferences. He reviewed policies, procedures and regulations of the medical staff and hospital. The visit included a methodical tour of the hospital, as well as impromptu discussions with department heads and supervisory personnel of the nursing department.

Commenting about the accreditation program, Director

Brines said, "A hospital voluntarily seeks to maintain the highest standards of patient care. That is the toughest task confronting a hospital. It is gratifying when an impartial observer on behalf of the community rates your work highly. It is further meaningful to know that in accreditation the hospital continues to qualify for federal grants, participation in Medicare and professional teaching. It is reassuring, too, since the total hospital effort is directed toward the best in patient care under circumstances that provide maximum safety and comfort to the patient."

Training For Airman Ganley

Airman Thomas F. Ganley 3rd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Ganley, 1577 Washington St., West Newton, has been selected for training as a U.S. Air Force munitions specialist at Lowry AFB, Colo.

A graduate of Newton High School who attended Wentworth Institute, the airman training at Lackland AFB, Texas. His new school is a part of the Air Training Command, which conducts hundreds of specialized courses to provide technically trained personnel for the nation's aerospace force.

Three Types Of Training To Be Available In City

The Newton office of the Division of Employment Security has listed three types of training under the Manpower Development and Training Act.

A course of training for Machine Operator, General under the MDTA will start on August 8 at the Newton Technical High School, 40 Elm Road, Newtonville.

Trainees will learn to operate drill presses, lathes and milling machines and will be taught to read blueprints and to use calipers and micrometers. The course will include everything from machine operation to set-up.

Machine tool operators are in urgent demand throughout the area so trainees are assured of immediate placement as soon as they graduate from the course.

The MDTA program provides training allowances to the majority of the trainees. All trainees will have their transportation paid to and from the school. Trainees are also allowed to work twenty hours part time while in training. This income will supplement their training allowance.

Those who are unemployed or employed only part-time and wish to enroll for this course are asked to report promptly to the Division of Employment Security, 290 Centre Street, Newton, for an interview with the Selection and Referral Officer in charge of MDTA.

Besides the training for Machine Operator, General, Mrs. Harvey, manager of the Newton DES office states training will be available for clerk-typist trainees and arc welder trainees. The dates on these two courses will be published later, but meanwhile applications are being accepted for all three courses and a tickler file of applicants set up.

All these courses are paid for by Federal funds, and trainees are exempt from the draft while on a course. Mrs. Harvey says there has never been a more favorable time for people to update their education and training and thus increase their earning power. She says the time to get the training is now.

Report promptly to the Division of Employment Security at 290 Centre Street, Newton Corner and ask to talk to an interviewer about MDTA. If you desire training in some other line come in and make your wishes known. Every effort will be made to help you, says Mrs. Harvey.

Newton Woman Asst. Manager For Convention

Mrs. Lee Chrisman of Newtonville served as assistant convention manager for the 35th Biennial National Convention of Alpha Chi Omega held at Wentworth-by-the-Sea, Portsmouth, N.H., from June 26 through July 1st.

More than 600 delegates from the sorority's 104 college chapters, 85 alumnae chapters, national and district officers, as well as visitors and their families, attended the national meeting of the 81-year-old sorority.

Mrs. Chrisman is a former president of the Boston Alumnae Chapter, and a charter member of the Evansville Alumnae Chapter.

Mrs. Chrisman was initiated into Alpha Chi Omega at the University of Michigan and she has both bachelor and master's degrees in music.

Her husband is a professor at Boston University and chairman of the music education department; Mrs. Chrisman is a teacher on sabbatical leave to do graduate work at Boston University towards her doctorate.

Sacred Heart Nun Leaves On Far East Lecture Tour

A Newton College of the Sacred Heart nun leaves Massachusetts this first week of July for a two-month lecture tour in the Far East, Australia, and New Zealand.

She is Mother Margaret M. Gorman, R.S.C.J., chairman of the psychology department at the women's college, and a psychological consultant for the U. S. Army.

More than 25,000 miles primarily to be made by the Sacred Heart teachers and teachers-to-be some of the latest developments in psychology which will help them both as educators and as nuns.

Mother Gorman's tour will take her to Tokyo, Japan; Taipei, Formosa; Korea, Melbourne, Brisbane, Sydney, and Canberra, Australia; and Wellington and Auckland, New Zealand.

In addition to the Religious of the Sacred Heart, her audiences will include other religious orders, lay educators, professional philosophers, high school and university students, parents, and graduate associations.

For the Religious, Mother Gorman will offer short courses in social psychology, developmental psychology, the psychology of religion, and the theory of counseling.

With the philosophers, she will discuss the theory of the nature of man in regard to symbolism, creativity, and religion.

Students and ex-students will hear her ideas on the relation of psychological theories to literature, art, and religion. To the parents, she will talk about parent-daughter communication, as well as the identity crisis in adolescence. And she will address various other groups on the psychology of communication.

A member of the Board of Professional Affairs of the Massachusetts Psychological Association and a fellow of the American Catholic Psychological Association, Mother Gorman is the author of "General Semantics and Contemporary Thomism," which was published by the University of Nebraska Press. She is also one of the editors of "Reflections on Man: Readings in Philosophical Psychology from Classical Philosophy to Existentialism," which was published earlier this year.

A full professor of psychology at Newton College since 1959, Mother Gorman regularly lectures to the Civilian Personnel Division of the U. S. Army at Washington, D. C., Fort Monmouth, and Fort Lee, and to the Department of Agriculture Graduate Division.

A native of Kingston, N. Y., Mother Gorman earned her bachelor of arts degree at Trinity College, Washington, D. C.; her master of arts degree at Fordham University; and her doctor of philosophy degree at Catholic University of America.

Accompanying Mother Gorman on this speaking tour and offering a similar series of lectures and courses in the field of Scripture will be Mother Jean C. McGowan, R.S.C.J., a member of the theology department at Manhattanville College of the Sacred Heart, Purchase, N. Y.

Two To Receive Training As Auto Mechanics

Robert Kamerman, 19, of 50 Winchester Rd., Newton Highlands, and Nazareno DeFain, 18, of 41 Gardner St., Newton, have been selected for Chrysler Motors Corporation's automotive technicians training program.

They will take part in a comprehensive three-year apprenticeship training program developed by Chrysler to train young men to become automotive mechanics.

The apprenticeship training is part of the nation-wide program sponsored by Chrysler and the Federal government.

They will receive on-the-job training as either general repair or body repair mechanics in the service departments of local Chrysler dealerships.

In addition, they will spend two nights a week getting formal instruction in automobile maintenance and repair at approved training centers near the dealerships.

After the apprenticeship program, the youths will be given an opportunity to join Silver Lake Motors, Inc., 444 Watertown St., Newton, as trained mechanics.

Marilyn Atwood, daughter of Mrs. Bertha D. Atwood, 57 Kingswood rd., Auburndale, is attending the summer session at Northland College, Ashland, Wis. The session began June 13 and will continue through July 22.

Stagemobile To Play Auburndale Next Thursday

The Stagemobile of Boston Children's Theater will be on the Auburndale Playground Thursday, July 14, under sponsorship of the Newton Recreation Department. Two plays will be presented, "Pinocchio" and "The Magic Orange."

The performances will be given at 11 a.m. and at 1:30 p.m.

The Stagemobile is a traveling, outdoor theater equipped with stage, scenery, and costumes of children's plays.

Mounted on a gaily painted truck, it arrives at the site of its performances about an hour ahead of time so as to convert it into a complete theater.

U. S. AIDE FOILS CZECH SPY ATTEMPT

AN AMERICAN DOUBLE AGENT foiled the attempt by two Czech diplomats to "bug" the offices of high U.S. officials the State Dept. said Wednesday.

Frank Mrkva, 38, an employee in the State Dept. passport division, was offered $3440 to allow installation of a listening device in the office of East European affairs; a second was to have been placed in the office of Undersecretary George W. Ball. Then he exposed the plot. One Czech, Juri Opatrny, second embassy secretary, was ordered out of the country in three days. The other, Zdenek Pisk, of the Czech UN mission, faces action by the UN secretariat. Mrkva was promoted and given a State Dept. honor award.

AIR STRIKE PARLEYS RESUMED

NEGOTIATIONS to end the six-day airline strike resumed Wednesday when Northwest Airlines agreed to drop what the union called reprisals against seven strikers in Tokyo.

The new session was considered the most serious yet to end the walkout at five major airlines. The airline said the fringe benefits were cut back after the employees refused to service military aircraft under terms of a pre-strike agreement.

GEMINI 10 LAUNCH PLANNED DESPITE STRIKE

MORE THAN 1500 moonport construction workers at Cape Kennedy joined 1,100 space center machinists on strike Wednesday but Gemini 10 launch preparations rolled along unscathed toward Monday's blastoff date.

Three key Apollo men-to-the-moon construction projects were stalled by the walkout of all but 200 building tradesmen.

In the Air Force launch area, engineers and astronauts John Young and Michael Collins were putting the 100-foot Gemini 10 space machine through its last big test before launch.

THUNDER, HAILSTORMS RIP N. E.

VIOLENT THUNDER and hailstorms ripped through widely scattered parts of New England Wednesday night, and two small "twisters" created havoc in northern New Hampshire and Maine.

A storm, accompanied by high winds combined to stall efforts to rescue an injured Rhode Island man trapped in a high crevasse on Maine's Mt. Katahdin. A helicopter was grounded and game wardens were unable to move Charles E. Ludwig, 50, of Barrington, R. I., who was injured when he fell off a cliff.

SINATRA, 50, TO WED MIA FARROW, 21

FRANK SINATRA, 50, and Actress Mia Farrow, 21, plan to wed sometime between Thanksgiving and Christmas, Mia's mother, actress Maureen O'Sullivan, has announced.

Mia is sporting a 9-carat diamond engagement ring valued at $80,000 to $100,000. Sinatra gave it to her before flying to London to make a picture. Mia, by the way, is younger than Sinatra's daughter, singer Nancy Sinatra.

GANG-TYPE MURDER IN PROVIDENCE

AN APPARENT gangland killing Wednesday took the life of 41-year-old North Providence man. William Marfeo was dead on arrival at Rhode Island Hospital. He had been shot six times in the head and back while sitting in a restaurant.

His brother, Savino, 37, of Providence suffered a heart attack after witnessing the shooting. He was in the same hospital in poor condition.

STOCKS KNOCKED DOWN AGAIN

THE STOCK MARKET suffered its second consecutive setback in moderately active trading Wednesday. Apparently the continued uncertainty over the tight money situation and further fears of an increase in interest rates held the upper hand in trader sentiment.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average fell 4.79 to 881.40. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index gave up 0.5 to 86.30.

LUCI APPLIES FOR WEDDING LICENSE

LUCI JOHNSON and her fiance Patrick J. Nugent of Waukegan, Ill., applied for their marriage license Wednesday.

The couple stood in line at the District of Columbia license bureau for 10 minutes with many other couples. They paid $2.50 for the license which will be mailed to them later. They will be married Aug. 6 in the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, Washington.

U. S. PILOTS FACE EARLY WAR CRIME TRIALS

ASIAN CONFLICT continued today to dominate international news, with these developments:

North Vietnam may put captured U. S. pilots on trial as "war criminals" in late July or early August, diplomatic observers said. They described these "show trials" as a diplomatic escalation of the war.

U. S. war planes blasted oil tanks north of Haiphong. Other pilots strafed Communist guerrillas, killing 71, in the South in an effort to thwart a major Red thrust.

In Saigon, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky reshuffled his cabinet and brought in a Buddhist as deputy premier. The action came as moderate and militant Buddhists clashed again. Ky's new deputy is Dr. Nguyen Luu Vinh, who was active in the overthrow of the Diem regime in 1963.

Communist Chinese Foreign Minister Marshal Chen Yi in Peking said publicly for the first time Wednesday that China's international situation was worse than when the Korean War broke out. He spoke to visiting Japanese athletes.

REGISTRAR McLAUGHLIN TERM EXTENDED

GOV. VOLPE'S VETO of a bill to grant a two-year extension of Motor Vehicles Registrar McLaughlin's term of office has been overridden by the legislature. The Senate voted 24 to 10 to override and the House followed with a 137 to 48 vote. The measure keeps McLaughlin in office until 1969.

PHONE CO. WON'T STOP MONITORING

WHETHER SUBSCRIBERS like it or not, the New England Telephone Co. plans to continue to monitor personal phone calls. Jay Whatley, asst. vice president of the company, said that monitoring will continue even if the subscriber requests that his line not be checked. The company insists that its monitoring practice does not consist of listening in on calls.

BELMONT WOMAN KILLED IN CRASH

A CAR-TRUCK COLLISION in Shelburne Falls Wednesday took the life of a Belmont woman. Mrs. Sylvia G. Tarlin, 56, was killed after the car in which she was a passenger collided with the truck hauling a house trailer then caromed off the Mohawk Trail down on embankment. Her husband, Lloyd Tarlin was reported in serious condition at Franklin County Hospital, Greenfield.

BEATNIK BANDIT GRABS BANK'S $2700

A BEATNIK TYPE gunman Wednesday held up the Northboro branch office of the Westboro Savings Bank and fled with $2700 in a paper bag. The bandit approached a woman teller and said, "This is a gun. This is a paper bag. Now fill the bag." Police said the gunman fled by car toward Westboro.

Homes Entered Plus Holdup Listed Here

Several Newton homes were burglarized over the past weekend, and a holdup was staged in the Newtonville Western Union office on Sunday night.

Three automobile were stolen from Newton homes on Sunday. All three were subsequently recovered.

State Senate Seat Sought By Newtonite

William A. Lincoln of 340 Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, well-known attorney and businessman and a prominent Republican this week announced his candidacy for election to the State Senate from the Norfolk-Suffolk senatorial district.

Lincoln made known his entrance into the senatorial race at a press conference Tuesday.

A would-be burglar, who entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Reiling at 18 Princeton st., Newton, fled when he entered the bedroom of the dwelling about 5 a.m. Saturday morning and discovered the Reilings were awake and not sleeping as he apparently had believed.

As the robber was reaching into the pockets of Reiling's trousers hanging on a rack, Reiling coughed. The burglar, described as about 6 ft. 1 inch tall and wearing black gloves, turned, fled down the stairs and ran out the door.

The Reilings had been awakened by a noise in the house. But they remained in the bedroom until they heard the door open.

A long-haired youth, about 20 to 22 years old, held up the Western Union office at 458 Newtonville ave., Newtonville, Sunday night and escaped with about $115 he took from the cash drawer.

A clerk, Miss Ann Nolan of 71 Augusta ave., Roslindale, was alone in the front office when the bandit entered and asked: "Where is my money order?"

"What's your name?" Miss Nolan replied.

Mayor To Bring Fight To State For More Aid

Mayor Monte G. Basbas served notice yesterday that he intends to fight a proposed reduction of $244,000 in the amount of financial assistance Newton will receive from the State this year.

Basbas announced that he intends to confer with State Tax Commissioner Guy J. Rizzotto and that, if necessary, he will appeal to Governor Volpe to get the full amount of State aid originally allocated to the city.

The Mayor stressed that the city would have to dig into its own reserves to make up for the loss in anticipated revenue from the State and that it probably would mean an automatic tax rate increase next year if the city fails to get what it was originally told it would get.

Mayor Basbas explained that earlier this year he was notified that the city had been allocated $870,402 by the State as a result of the enactment of the 3 percent limited sales tax.

Newton's tax rate of $72.20, only $1.80 higher than the $70.40 rate of last year, was based on the assumption that the city would get $870,402 from the State.

Recent reports from the State tax department, however, indicated that amount would be reduced to $626,232, a cut of $244,170.

Basbas said that he has not received any formal notice of a slash in the State funds allocated to Newton but that he was dismayed by published reports that they could be cut by more than 25 percent.

"We fixed this year's tax rate on the basis of an allocation of $870,402 from the State," Basbas asserted. "We were informed that the city would receive that amount from the Commonwealth," he continued.

"If that sum is lowered after the tax rate has been established, it would mean MAYOR—(See Page 2)

Nostalgia Haunts Auction Of Norumbega's Fun Items

Nostalgia like the scent of pressed roses, with overtones of happy fun days of other years and the far-away sounds of laughter and music, permeated the area and were the lures which brought some 300 people to fanned, but faded, old Norumbega Park last Friday afternoon; to witness a unique auction. The resonant, businesslike tones of the auctioneer cut through the memories as he hammered out sales of former fun items that ranged from memorized and initial picnic tables to silenced amusement ride cars and a roller coaster.

The affair was in charge of John J. McGrath, the auctioneer who sold off the last of the old Boston Post equipment and the discarded East Boston ferries, and his chore Friday was a somewhat similar one.

One woman present, Mrs. Alice Joyce, 73, of 25 Grant St., West Newton, recalled going to Norumbega on the old open-air street cars from Newton Corner.

Another fond recollection was of the first silent movies, shown there in 1910, when the Totem Pole Ballroom was an open-air theater.

A certain picnic table that had initials carved on it was what drew Mrs. Margaret Kiely of 20 Grant St., West Newton. A Waltham man had bid in the entire lot of 148 tables, but he heeded

Alderman Ham Resigns, To Leave Newton

Harry H. Ham, Jr., has resigned from the seat he had held on the Board of Aldermen for nearly 13 years.

Ham, who served as Alderman-at-Large from Ward 4, has moved to Sherborn, members of the Aldermanic Board were told Monday night.

He formerly resided at 63 Aspen avenue, Auburndale, and was serving his seventh term and 13th year as a member of the Board of Aldermen.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas expressed regret at Ham's resignation, declaring that Ham had contributed both time and talent to the city and the Board of Aldermen.

Ham has been chairman of the Aldermanic Claims and Rules Committee and also was a member of the Public Works and Street Traffic Committees.

She's Happy And Tokyo-Bound

Wins Study Trip To Japan

Miss Joanne Dempsey, a student at Newton College of the Sacred Heart, is Tokyo-bound this week as the winner of the college's first award of an all-expense-paid summer of study in Japan.

Miss Dempsey, a junior from Mineola, N.Y., will study Eastern culture for the next six weeks at Sophia University in Tokyo.

The award is sponsored by the trustees of the college and goes to the student who, at the end of her sophomore year, has completed the highest cumulative average in the school's intensive, two-year Study of Western Culture course.

Miss Dempsey is the daughter of the Honorable and Mrs. William J. Dempsey, 92 Fleet pl., Mineola. She is a graduate of Our Lady of Mercy Academy, Syosset, N.Y.

The happy junior was presented the award by Mother Gabrielle Husson, R.S.C.J., president of Newton College of the Sacred Heart.

Present at the ceremony and also extending her congratulations with those of Mother Gabrielle Husson, was Mother Mary H. Quinlan, R.S.C.J., dean of the college.

Kids Having Fun At Local Summer Camps

With the weatherman being extremely co-operative and legions of local youngsters having the time of their lives, the Newton Community Center Summer Camps are in full swing and set to provide a fun-packed eight week camp schedule.

Kinder Kamp, which is meeting at the spacious Warren Jr. High School in West Newton, is serving its greatest number of youngsters for a specific period since the program's start at the facility six years ago.

Parents visiting day was a recent camp highlight. Circus music and gala colorful clown costumes, and large hats made by the youngsters provided the festive theme.

One hundred and twenty Newton children entertained their parents and served refreshments during the program. Kinder Kampers range in age from three and a half

McCormack - O'Donnell Debate May Highlight Primary Race

Former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack and former Presidential Aide Kenneth P. O'Donnell, opponents for the Democratic nomination for Governor, apparently will engage in at least one televised debate before the September primary.

McCormack, a strong favorite to win the primary contest and gain the right to stand against Governor Volpe in the November election, presumably is somewhat reluctant to give O'Donnell the public exposure the latter would receive from a widely publicized debate.

Mrs. Kielty's plea and sold her the one she sought.
It may have been a combination of nostalgia and curiosity that brought Mr. and Mrs. Jerrold Hickey, 52 Kingswood Rd., Auburndale, to the park.
They were among the Auburndale residents who had carried on a five-year battle in an effort to prevent a zone change that would enable Marriot Motor Hotels of Newton, Inc., to erect a $4,000,000 motel complex on the hill that overlooks the Charles River and the interchange connecting Route 128 with the Massachusetts Turnpike.

Mrs. Hickey expressed the hope that the park's re-that we would have to dip into our own reserve funds to make up the difference and that we would have to raise that amount in taxes next year.

"I will resist as strongly as I can any reduction in the allocation of State funds to Newton.

"It is my intention to confer very shortly with State Tax Commissioner Rizzotto. If that conference should not produce satisfactory results, I will carry my fight to Governor Volpe," the Mayor stated.

At the State Tax Department it was stated that there probably will be a reduction of about $244,000 in the State assistance Newton will get because the sales tax receipts for April and May were approximately $7 million lower than had been expected.

During those two months the sales tax produced $17 million in new revenue as compared to the $24 million which had been anticipated.

Tax experts, however, added that the receipts for April and May, the first two months the sales tax was in operation, would be expected to be lower than normal and that the tax probably will average $12 million a month over a period of a full year.

Three Newton dwellings were broken into on Sunday.
They were the homes of Joseph H. Alpert at 42 Cross Hill rd., Newton Centre; Norman E. MacNeil at 45 Lansing rd., West Newton; and Albert J. Bonner at 30 Longwell rd., Waban.

Jewelry, insurance policies, an Israel bond and 12 Kennedy half dollars were included in the loot taken from the Alpert home. It is not yet known what was stolen from the MacNeil and Bonner dwellings.

A white gold diamond engagement ring was stolen from the home of Mrs. Minerva Segal at 33 Deborah rd., Newton Centre. The burglar entered the house by opening an unlocked porch door and then breaking the glass in a kitchen window.

A bank envelope containing $325 was stolen from the Midnite Foods store at 719 Washington st., Newton.

Car thieves even entered the driveways of Newton homes to ply their trade.

Herbert Huntley of Walnut st., Newtonville, reported to police that his automobile was stolen from the driveway of his home. The machine later was recovered at Walnut and Hull sts., Newtonville.

A car owned by Leonard H. Levine of 7 Holland st., Newton, and valued at $8000 was stolen from his home. It was recovered in Somerville.

Jack Rosenberg of Long Island, N.Y., reported that his automobile was stolen from a yard on Jules terrace in Newton Centre. The vehicle later was recovered in Boston.

An automobile owned by Mrs. Margaret McGovern of 310 Commonwealth ave., Chestnut Hill, was stolen from her driveway.

1. REGULAR SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

Everyone should have sufficient money in a Regular Savings Account at Newton Savings to meet unexpected needs. Then, when there's an emergency, a special "sale" or other situation that requires cash immediately, your savings are "right there." Another nice thing to know — Regular Savings Accounts now earn at our new, increased rate of 4.30% a year. Now is the time to open yours.

2. SPECIAL NOTICE ACCOUNTS

Our Special Notice Accounts are ideal for people who want a sound investment with a good return. If you have longer-range plans such as a down payment on a home, education, travel or other major goals, they're for you, too. Special Notice Accounts at Newton Savings earn at the very attractive rate of 4.60% a year. Ninety-days' notice is required for any withdrawals you plan to make. A minimum of $500 is suggested for the initial deposit.

3. SYSTEMATIC SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

Systematic Savings Accounts are for those who can save regularly, for extended periods. The dividends for this type of account are the highest of all . . . 4.80% a year for the 48 month period (1/2 of 1% over prevailing rate for 48 months) and 5.30% a year for the 96 month period (1% over prevailing rate for 96 months). With this very rewarding rate of return, you'll have an excellent reason to save like clock-work, all year 'round!

EVERYONE SHOULD HAVE 2 SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

Everyone has different reasons for saving . . . but everyone should have two types of Newton Savings accounts to realize these thrift goals. A Regular Savings Account is best for your emergency or day-to-day needs . . . and either a Special Notice or Systematic Savings Account is the choice for those big, long-range goals. Senate day at the Sidney Hill Country Club in Newton.

"Massachusetts needs a Lincoln in the Senate," was one of his statements and apparently will be the theme of his campaign.

Officers

presently employed by the Ring Crown Dental Lab in Jamaica Plain.

Lt. Snow attended St. Mary's College in Minnesota for one year. He is employed by the Zayre Corporation in Natick.

Governor John A. Volpe as Commander-in-Chief of the Massachusetts National Guard, presented the diplomas and commissions to 125 new second lieutenants.

He will seek election in the senatorial district which includes Wards 1, 6 and 7 of Newton, the entire town of Brookline and Ward 22, Brighton.

Long prominent in the Republican party, Lincoln is chairman of the Newton Republican City Committee, vice president of the Newton Republican Club, a member of the Republican National Finance Committee, former chairman of the Massachusetts Republican Finance Committee and has been a delegate to three Republican State Conventions.

Active in civic affairs, Lincoln served as chairman of Newton's United Fund campaign last year, is a member of the Newton Redevelopment Authority, a director of the Samuel Francis Smith Homestead Society, a director of the Newton Community Council, a member of the Faulkner Hospital Corporation, an overseer of the Boys Clubs of Boston and an honorary director of Kiddie Kamp, Inc.

Lincoln told the gathering at the Sidney Hill Country Club that he would campaign forcefully and on a record of past achievement.

"There are really two basic issues," Lincoln declared.

"The first is 'responsibility,' and it is a sad, but widely known fact that our Legislature has not been distinguished for responsibility in recent years," he continued.

"The second basic issue seems to me to be 'legislative imbalance,'" Lincoln asserted.

"The Massachusetts House contains 168 Democrats and 70 Republicans," he pointed out.

"The Senate contains 27 Democrats and 13 Republicans," Lincoln stated.

"This imbalance means that the Republicans have insufficient strength to combat poor legislation and the Democrats are not encouraged to insist on true representation of their constituents.

"It would be my ambition to be one of a group of Republicans who would restore balance to the Senate. A balanced Legislature means better government and protection for the citizens," Lincoln concluded.

Speakers on behalf of Lincoln's candidacy included former Congressman Lawrence Curtis, Senate Minority Leader Philip A. Graham and Jerome M. O'Leary, campaign consultant. They were introduced by William M. Silverman, well-known attorney.

Camp Mary Day Holds Festive Friday Program

Camp Mary Day, a Girl Scout day camp, was very festive Friday morning when all the units gathered at Dicks Dell for the show.

The Brownies, under the supervision of Miss Barbara Taranto, Miss Margie Tichnor, and Mrs. Dorothy Wright opened the program with a square dance.

The theme for the two-week period was "Nature." One unit of Juniors had made beautiful posters of the local wild flowers.

Some of the girls explained the posters and then the unit closed their number with an original song "Don't Pick the Wild Flowers." The adult leaders were Mrs. Pat Ingalls, Mrs. Nancy Leventhal, and Miss Julie Schneider.

The other Junior unit put on a skit entitled "Careless Camper." The girls were costumed for their roles as campers, rangers, and firemen. Their performance had been directed by Miss Claire Murphy, Mrs. Dorothea Tarricano, and Miss Martha Tarricano, aide.

The program closed with the Cadettes who spoke on Conservation at Camp Mary Day. Paula Rosen read her poem "Nature," written especially for the show. The Cadettes asked the camp to take a pledge to keep Camp Mary Day green and beautiful. Mrs. Claire Anderson is their leader. Everyone was treated to refreshments.

Red Cross To Hold Swimming Night Classes

The Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, will conduct swimming classes for adult residents of Newton at Crystal Lake, Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. beginning July 19.

Jeffrey Bruce, Red Cross water safety instructor, will volunteer his services for these classes.

The instruction is designed primarily to assist adults to enjoy the water by learning the proper methods of swimming and to improve their swimming skills.

There is no charge for the Red Cross instruction but a swimming permit must be obtained from the City of Newton Recreation Department at City Hall or at Crystal Lake. The charge of the permit is $3 for adults.

Camps

to six years old. Day Campers, seven thru twelve years of age, who meet at Sever Hale Reservation in Westwood have also been busy with varied activity.

James Campentino, waterfront director has been coordinating testing and swimming instruction for children daily. Youngsters will be given cards with Red Cross approval based upon their competence as demonstrated by their tests.

Among the campers highlights have been trips to Duxbury Beach, Trilside Museum, climbing of Big Blue in Milton, and individual cookouts.

The exciting and varied arts and crafts program is under the direction of Miss Allison Karsh. Popsicle stick crafts, paper mats, and gimp are among some of the earlier craft worked on by youngsters.

This year's bus driving service counselors include: Eric Reiner and Paul Milmed, graduates of Amherst College. Both will be attending Oxford in Eng and come September. Anthony Quintiliani has returned for a second year and is coordinating the bussing effort.

For information with regard to the Center Camp programs, please visit the agency at 429 Cherry st. in West Newton or phone 244-2260.

City's 25th Summer School Underway With 2500 Students

Entering its 25th year, the Newton Summer School has some 2500 students from Newton and surrounding towns, enrolled in a variety of courses.

Acting principal of the Summer School is Richard M. Adams, house master at Newton High's Beals House. He has charge of the senior level Harvard-Newton division, the Tufts-Newton seminar, and the work-study programs.

The summer faculties are from Newton and all parts of the country. They include master teachers, interns from B.U. and Harvard, and apprentice teachers from a number of colleges. Students from outside Newton pay a higher tuition than is charged residents. Every high school student, regardless of his program, is under the supervision of Newton High School and earns credit toward graduation.

The senior high school is for pupils now in Grades 9 to 12 and for adults. Held at Newton High, it incorporates the Harvard-Newton program at this grade level, with Harvard interns teaching in a number of classes. Make-up, review and advanced classes in a wide variety of subjects have attracted an enrollment of some 900.

Except for its work in cooperation with the Newton High courses, the Harvard-Newton summer program is concentrated at Weeks Junior High School, under the direction of William E. Webster, principal of Weeks and Assistant Principal Joseph W. Sylva.

Some 300 children who will enter Grades 7 to 9 in September take four courses, each of which meets five times a week. Also, 208 elementary school pupils take a standard range of studies.

The Tufts-Newton seminar in public affairs, under the direction of Richard C. Howland, is open to students who have completed their sophomore or junior years. It is jointly sponsored by Newton High School, the Lincoln Filene Center for Citizenship and Public Affairs at Tufts. Problems here are being explored by 50 students, half of them from Newton and half from Boston.

Newton is conducting an elementary school science program under the direction of Henry Atkins, Underwood School principal. This program is in cooperation with Educational Services, Inc. The youngsters will enter Grades 5 or 6 in September. Half of them are from parochial schools.

Stanley Russell, secretary of the School Committee, directs the Newton Creative Arts Center held in Newton South High, where 100 children from Grades 5 through 12 are concentrating for four weeks on art, music, dance and drama, and their interrelationships.

Its largest summer enrollment to date is at Newton Junior College, with 150 college-age students representing 10 to 15 colleges. The 12-course program is under the direction of the college Dean, Charles D. Merrill.

Cameron Larson has charge of the Lincoln-Eliot project, and at Emerson School, the one in charge is Mrs. Ella May Gay. Dr. Donald T. Welch, coordinator of elementary school education, works with both.

Vollin B. Wells, head of the business department at Newton High, directs a small junior high school program for 25 9th graders at Weeks Junior High. The business experience they get includes the use of shorthand.

Newton High Grad Appointed

Michael W. Teitelman, a graduate of Newton High School, will become an assistant admissions counselor at Muskingum College, New Concord, Ohio, on Sept. 1.

He received his B.A. degree in 1960 from Albright College, and his Master's from Brown University in 1962, with additional credits from Penn State University and City College of New York.

For the past five years he has been a teacher in the public schools of White Plains, N.Y.

Army Commission

William R. Balkan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Balkan, 736 Chestnut st., Waban, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army Medical Corps Reserve.

A graduate of Tufts University, he is a student at New York University College of Dentistry at Bellevue Medical Center in Manhattan.

Young Magicians Put Away Rabbits, Wands 'Til Fall

The young amateur magicians, members of the Presto Club of Weeks Junior High School in Newton, recently climaxed their season with a magic show held in the school auditorium.

The show was held prior to the start of the summer school vacation when rabbits, wands, tall hats and other accessories to the mystic profession are stored away until another school season rolls around.

A highlight of the recent season-closing show was the successful escape from a straight-jacket, in the best Houdini manner, by young Stephen Pfau.

Guest performer was Alfred Keene of Newton Lower Falls, who is known as "The Mad Magician." He has made three guest appearances before the pupils of the Weeks School since the Presto Club was organized eighteen years ago.

Featured on the program with Mr. Keene were Danny Pfau, Joe Bayes, Larry Cibley, Herbert Downes, Steve Finer, and Richard Beaser. Herbert Downes, graphic arts and technical drawing instructor at Weeks, has been the club's sponsor since its inception eighteen years ago. Current members of the Presto Club are, Joe Bayes, Laslo and Gabor Lakner, Douglas and Eric Smith, Danny and Gery Pfau, Larry Cibley, Richard Beaser, Richard Wayne and Steve Finer.

Governor Volpe Reappoints 2

Appointments by Governor John A. Volpe, announced July 7, included the following:

The Rev. Robert J. McEwen, S.J., of Chestnut Hill, reappointed to the advisory board, furniture and bedding section, division of food and drugs, State Department of Public Health.

Arthur M. Warshaver of Waban, reappointed to the same board.

both on July 4th. Brimstone for gunpowder was stored in the cellar during the War of 1812, and the site has since become known throughout the world as "Brimstone Corner."

Miss Howell was graduated in June from Newton South High, and will enter Gordon College, Wenham, this fall.

Miss Shellagh Bortone of New York City, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

Miss Van Haelst, Mr. Campbell Wed In New York

Miss A. Joan Van Haelst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Andre Van Haelst of Waban, was married recently to John Polk Campbell. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Townsend Campbell of Decatur, Ill.

The Rev. Terrance J. Finlay, rector of St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church, New York City, performed the ceremony in the church chapel. A reception followed at the Plaza Hotel.

Miss Jacqueline Van Haelst, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

Thomas Campbell served as best man for his brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will make their home in New York City.

The bride, who attended Wheaton College, received her bachelor of arts degree from the Boston University College of Liberal Arts.

Mr. Campbell, a graduate of the University of Colorado, is associated with the architectural firm of Armand Bartos. He will be attending the Columbia University School of Architecture in the fall.

Miss Linda Bortone of Lexington, Miss Joan Hungerville of Needham, sister of the groom, and Miss Judith Alberico of Watertown were bridesmaids.

John Fitzgerald of Pittsfield was best man. Ushering were Gerard Murphy of New Jersey, James McAloon of Newton, Joseph K. Fardon of Woburn and David Bortone of Lexington, brother of the bride.

After a trip to Cape Cod and the Islands, Mr. and Mrs. Hungerville plan to make their home in Chelmsford.

The bride was graduated from Watertown High School and Emerson College.

Mr. Hungerville, an alumnus of Boston College, attended the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

Bride's Uncle Officiated At McCall - Parkhurst Bridal

At the Newton Centre Methodist Church, recently, Miss Barbara Louis Parkhurst became the bride of Ronald Eugene McCall.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. E. Tyler Parkhurst of Newton Centre and West Dennis, and the late Mr. Parkhurst. Mr. and Mrs. Chester E. McCall of Montoursville, Pa., are the groom's parents.

Dr. Emory S. Bucke of Nashville, Tenn., uncle of the bride, officiated at the 2:30 o'clock ceremony. The Rev. Seaton M. Woodley, Jr., assisted. A reception was held at the church parlor.

Dr. C. Chandler Parkhurst of Winchester gave his niece away. She was attired in white silk organza and Chantilly lace. The diamond and pearl sunburst brooch she wore is a family heirloom worn previously by both her mother and grandmother at their weddings.

The double-tiered elbow-length illusion veil was fastened to a jeweled lace floral headpiece. She carried a cascade of rubrum lilies.

Mrs. Charles W. Meroth of Medford was matron of honor. Glenn Strehle of Wellesley, Miss Margaret McPhee of Newton Centre, Mrs. Calvin Jones of Belmont and Miss Louise Walsh of New York were bridesmaids.

C. Thomas McCall of Rochester, N. Y., served as best man. Ushering were John S. Reidell of Philadelphia, Pa., G. Harvey Gilmour, Gordon B. Parkhurst and Jonathan T. Parkhurst, two brothers of the bride, all of Newton Centre.

Master Kurt McCall, nephew of the groom was ring-bearer.

The bride, a graduate of Wellesley College, class of 1963, is a third year medical student at Hahnemann Medical College in Philadelphia, Pa. She is the granddaughter-ter of the late Bishop and Mrs. Charles Wesley Burns of Boston and the late Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Parkhurst of Winchester.

MRS. RONALD E. MCCALL

Also a third year student at Hahnemann Medical College, the groom was graduated from Pennsylvania State University, class of 1963.

After a trip to West Dennis, the couple will make their home in Philadelphia, Pa.

Candlelight Service Unites Dieffenbach - Robinson

At a recent 8 o'clock candlelight ceremony in the Lutheran Church of the Newtons, Miss Heidi Marie Dieffenbach became the bride of 2nd Lt. Donald Edward Robinson.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Erwin Dieffenbach of 248 Elliot street, Newton Upper Falls, and the late Mrs. Stanley Osborne Robinson of 46 Lafayette road, Newton Lower Falls, are the groom's parents.

The Rev. William Scar officiated at the double-ring service, which was followed by a reception at the church parlors.

Escorted by her father, the bride's semi-empire gown of white silk linen had elbow-length sleeves. She chose a white lace mantilla and carried a spray of white carnations.

Mrs. David Robinson of Amherst, sister-in-law of the groom, was matron of honor.

MRS. DONALD ROBINSON

Miss Carol Ann Heymann of Natick, niece of the bride, Miss Andre Courchaine of Worcester, Miss Maureen Rose of Brighton and Mrs. Charles Draper of Medfield were bridesmaids.

David Robinson of Amherst, brother of the groom, served as best man. The ushers were Charles Draper of Medfield, Steven Clifford of Hingham, Ralph Heymann of Natick, and James E. McMichael of Pittsfield, Me.

The couple left on a trip to Plymouth and Provincetown. The bride was graduated from State College at Framingham class of 1966.

Lt. Robinson, who is serving with the Army, is a graduate of Northeastern University, class of 1965.

Miss Nadler, R. L. Lichter Exchange Vows

A reception at the Middle Island Country Club, Middle Island, Long Island, N. Y., followed an outdoor ceremony, recently, which united Miss Anne Barbara Nadler and Robert Louis Lichter.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Nadler of Great Neck, New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Lichter of Newton Highlands are the couple's parents.

Rabbi Dan Issac of New York performed the pretty summer bridal.

REBEKAH RALEN

Miss Ralen, Mr. Grossman Become Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Ralen of Chestnut Hill makes known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Rebekah Joan Ralen, to Neil Jason Grossman. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Grossman of Newton Centre.

Miss Ralen was graduated from Lasell Junior College and the Beth Israel Hospital School of Dental Nursing.

Mr. Grossman was graduated, cum laude, from Dartmouth College, class of 1964, where he was a Rufus Choate scholar as well as a member of Omichron Delta Epsilon.

A May 1967 wedding is being planned.

"Sacrament" Is Science Church Lesson Subject

Communion will be observed in all Christian Science branch churches this Sunday. "Sacrament" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon. The service occurs twice each year, and is altered from other Sundays to include reading of the Church Tenets and a period for kneeling in silent communion. This is followed by a second repetition of the Lord's Prayer, which is an integral part of the opening for all Christian Science services.

The Golden Text this week is from Romans: "The kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost."

Correlative passages from the denominational textbook include the following: "We know that a desire for holiness is requisite in order to gain holiness; but if we desire holiness above all else, we shall sacrifice everything for it" ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy).

Junior Engineer

Jason Kirshen of 23 Oxford Rd., Newton Centre, is listed at the State House as eligible for the rating of junior civil engineer in the State Department of Public Works.

Miss Nancy Hassell Bride of Kenneth Jon Berggren

Miss Nancy Hassell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Hassell of 15 Fair Oaks avenue, Newtonville, and Kenneth Jon Berggren, son of Mrs. Henry C. Berggren of Worcester, were married recently, at the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville.

MRS. K. J. BERGGREN

The Rev. Robert J. Harding officiated at the 2 o'clock nuptials, at which two rings were exchanged. A reception was held at the church parlors.

Given away by her father, the bride's full-length gown of silk organza and Chantilly lace was made with long sleeves and a detachable train.

The jeweled crown was fastened with an elbow-length French illusion veil. She carried a cascade of miniature white carnations centered with pale pink gladiolus.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Robert Elwell of East Hartford, Ct., sister of the groom. The bridesmaids were Miss Linda Hassell of Newtonville, sister of the bride, Miss Pamela Noyes and Miss Nancy Roche, both of West Newton.

A. Curtis Berggren of Holden, brother of the groom, served as best man. Sharing usher duties were Robert Lindgren of Worcester, cousin of the groom, William Hassell of Cranston, R. I., cousin of the bride, and Jeffrey Bailey of Holden.

After a trip to New Hampshire, Mr. and Mrs. Berggren will be at home at 5 Evergreen avenue, West Boylston.

Infantidings

Mr. and Mrs. Barry E. Rosenthal of Waltham announce the recent birth of a daughter, Stacy Lynn, at the Richardson House. The proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Sussman of Newton Centre and Dr. and Mrs. Myron R. Rosenthal of Milton. Mrs. Ida Sussman of Newton and Mrs. Edward Revis of Denver, Colo., are the great-grandparents.

AT REWARD LUNCHEON — Principals at annual Reward Luncheon of Hospital Group of Jewish Memorial Hospital, held recently at Chateau Garod, are left to right, Mrs. Louis Hellman, of Newton, hospital's "Woman of the Year"; Mrs. Samuel Lipsitz, luncheon chairman, and Mrs. Michael J. Seidenberg, president of the group, both of Brookline.

gown of peau de soie and Alencon lace, entraine. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

Miss Henriette Nadler was her sister's maid of honor, while Mrs. J. Anthony Tyson was matron of honor. Miss Nancy R. Lichter, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid.

The best man was Ralph Levy of Brookline. Ushering were Professor Douglas Roberts of Cambridge, Dr. Theodore Sakano of Terre Haute, Ind., and K. Sundaresan of Quilon, Kerala, India.

Mrs. Lichter received her B.A. degree in history from the University of Wisconsin, class of 1964, attended the University of Chicago under an NIH grant in 1965, and received her master's degree in social work at Boston University in 1966.

Mr. Lichter received his B.A. degree, cum laude, from Harvard College, class of 1962, where he majored in chemistry. In August, he expects to receive his doctorate from the University of Wisconsin, where he was granted an NIH fellowship. He will do post-doctoral research on an NIH fellowship at the Technische Hochschule in Braunschweig, Germany.

MARGARET CAGGIANO

Miss Caggiano Future Bride Of John J. Whyte

Mr. and Mrs. Marchie Caggiano of Stoughton announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Margaret Ann Caggiano, to John J. Whyte. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Whyte of Needham.

A graduate of St. John High School, Canton, she is a secretary for the Plymouth Rubber Company in Canton.

Mr. Whyte was graduate from Needham High School. Having served four years with the Air Force, he is now associated with the Stowe Woodard Industries, Newton.

The wedding is planned for next fall.

ANDREA PESKIN

Miss Peskin Is Fiancee Of Mr. Ostroff

Of interest here is the announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Peskin of Teaneck, N. J., who makes known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Andrea Peskin to Alvin Ostroff. He is the son of Mrs. Harry Ostroff of Mattapan and the late Mr. Ostroff. Mrs. Ostroff is a member of the staff of the Newton Graphic.

The announcement was made at a reception at the Ambassador in Teaneck on Saturday, July 2nd. The wedding will take place in early summer in 1967.

A graduate of Teaneck High School, class of 1964, Miss Peskin attended Mount Ida Junior College. She is now a student at the School of Practical Arts in Boston.

Mr. Ostroff is a member of the class of 1967 at Northeastern University, where his fraternity is Sigma Phi Beta.

Art Exhibit And Sale At Centre Woman's Club
A large exhibit and sale of professionally done fine oil paintings will be conducted Sunday, July 17, at the Newton Centre Woman's Club, Beacon and Centre sts.
The paintings will be sold by auction beginning at 2 p.m. This is another of a series of offerings brought to the public of the area by the New England Art Foundation.
Every artist whose works are represented is one whose paintings are normally sold at retail in art galleries of various cities. Here is a rare opportunity to acquire good art at substantially less than gallery prices.
There is plenty of convenient parking, and the hall is air-cooled.
The public will be admitted at 1 o'clock to give prospective bidders an opportunity to review the paintings.

DOG SCHOOL

Miss Kruse-Mr. Murray Married At Needham Church

St. Joseph's Church in Needham was the setting on Saturday, July 9, for the marriage of Miss Nancy Lee Kruse to John Henry Murray Jr., of Needham.
Mr. and Mrs. Helmer Bertil Kruse of Waltham and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Murray of 26 Trowbridge avenue, Newtonville, are the couple's parents.
The Rev. Francis Garrity was celebrant of the 11 o'clock nuptial mass at which the bride and groom exchanged rings. A reception was held at the Village Club in Needham.
Escorted by her father, the bride wore a sheath-skirted gown of silk shantung with a Watteau train. The empire bodice had a scoop neckline and three quarter-length sleeves.
Her elbow-length mantilla was fashioned of precious Alencon lace. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty cabbage roses accented with vinca.
Mr. Murray was graduated from Newton High School and Fitchburg State College. He is now a teacher and hockey coach at the Derwood E. Neuman Junior High School.
Mrs. Susan E. Pinkham of Waltham was matron of honor. The bridesmaids included Miss Norma E. Kruse of Waltham, sister of the bride, and Miss Maureen Murray of Newtonville, sister of the groom.
The best man was Charles J. Chaisson of Waltham. Sharing usher duties were Edward Sahagian of Foxboro and Frederick Tirrel of Wellesley.
Cape Cod is the honeymoon destination of Mr. Murray and his bride, who plan to live at 34 Walnut street, Needham.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM THORNDYKE

William Thorndyke and Bride Making Home In Needham

Now making their home in Needham are Mr. and Mrs. William Alfred Thorndyke (Sandra Helen Christensen), whose marriage took place, recently, at St. John's Methodist Church in Dedham.
Mr. and Mrs. Noble C. Christensen of 117 Highland avenue, Dedham, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thorndyke of LaPorte, Indiana, are the couple's parents.
The Rev. Joseph H. Crocker, former pastor, officiated at the 3 o'clock double-ring service. The Lord Wakefield in Wakefield was the setting for the reception.
Given away by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of peau de soie appliqued with Alencon lace on the empire bodice, skirt and border of her train.
She chose a lace edged mantilla and carried her Rainbow Bible topped with a single white orchid and marked with cascading satin ribbon caught with clusters of stephanotis and greens.
Mrs. Noble C. Christensen Jr., of Arlington Heights, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. William Stevens of Dedham, Mrs. Edward O'Connell of East Bridgewater, Mrs. James Schleuter of Saxonville and Miss Elena Furia of Revere were the other attendants.
Richard Swim of LaPorte, Ind., served as best man. Sharing usher duties were Noble C. Christensen Jr., of Arlington Heights, Ill., brother of the bride, William Stevens of Dedham, Edward O'Connell of East Bridgewater, Richard Williams of Braintree and Lloyd Thorndyke of LaPorte, Ind., brother of the groom.
Bermuda was the honeymoon destination of the couple.
The bride is a graduate of Dedham High School, the Chandler School for Women ANNUAL REWARD LUNCHEON HELD — The Annual Reward Luncheon of the Women's Division of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society was held recently at Anthony's Pier 4. Special honor was paid to those women who have earned $100 or more for the organization. In photo, left to right, Mrs. Jacob Furman, Mrs. Joel Jacobson, Mrs. Henry Rosenfield, all past presidents; Mrs. Leonard Freed, incoming president; and Mrs. Arnold Levison, past president.

Varied Agenda Aired Before Aldermen's Meeting Mon.

On a unanimous vote Monday night, the Board of Aldermen granted a request of Champion Broadcasting System, Inc., for permission to erect an addition to its transmitter building on Saw Mill Brook Pkwy., Oak Hill. The item had been tabled at the previous meeting on motion of Alderman Alan S. Barkin, and was removed from the table at his request. Barkin reported that he had attended the regular meeting at the Oak Hill Improvement Association and found that the members were unanimously in favor of the granting of the petition.
In other action, the Board authorized the expenditure of $8101 from available federal funds by the Welfare Department for personal services.
One of three offers for 14,000 square feet of land at 11 Milton avenue, West Newton, was accepted. That was bid of $300 made by Henry Walsh who, according to Chairman Nixon of the Finance Committee, would allow neighbors to park cars on the property. An offer of $225 by Peter Kitsifas, and one of $280 by George Murray for the same land were denied.
Two appropriation requests by the Director of Public Works for pedestrian lights installation were voted approval. One was for the Woodward and Chestnut Sts. intersection in Waban, where the installation will cost $6500. The crossing already has traffic light protection. The other was for Waverly Ave., Ward St. and Stuart Rd., Newton Centre, at a cost of $8000.
A public hearing was held on a petition by Suburban Welders Supply Company, Inc., for storage of inflammables at a new location, 105 Rumford Ave., West Newton. Its present site is at 14 Bailey Pl., Newtonville. The petition for removal to the new site and storage of inflammables was granted. There was no opposition at the hearing, and representative of the Fire Department said it had been determined that the storage did not constitute a dangerous hazard.
Held were five recommendations of Alderman William E. Hopkins for improvements at Newton Corner. One was for a "walk" signal on Centre Ave., another was for the banning of truck parking at Newton Corner, still another was for a pushbutton signal at Centre St., and the rest were for relocation of poles and signals on Washington St. and at the north end of Park street.
Still another item held was a request by the Director of Public Works for $1897 from parking meter receipts for an off-street parking area at

Ethel says:
Of course tell them about "Vacation Film—return what you don't use!" Scorby's doesn't take back film because it isn't fair to our customers. Film, like cottage cheese, spoils when kept in warm places. Vacationers returning film could have kept it in the car's glove compartment, back ledge or trunk or, in the hold of a ship or plane. SCORBY'S SELLS FRESH FILM SO YOU CAN GET SHARP, GOOD PICTURES. That's one of the reasons why we sell so much. Also because we have a special quantity price which is lower than Scorby's regularly low price. Tell them, George, about air conditioned Scorby's at 1029 Great Plain Avenue, Needham, with loads of parking behind the store from 8:30 till 6, Friday till 9 p.m. George, tell them why we've grown so because we service and know what, how and why we sell to give value plus low prices. George, where did you go? I'll bet he went back to the store to sit under the air conditioner. Come join us, at SCORBY'S.

TEN TIPS to protect your home while you're vacationing...

1. Do not have the local newspapers publish the fact that you are leaving. Remember, burglars read newspapers, too.
2. Make certain you notify the milkman and the newspaper carrier to stop making deliveries.
3. Ask your mailman to hold your mail at the Post Office for you until you return.
4. Do not pull all the window shades down while you're away.
5. Do not leave notes on the door indicating the date you will return.
6. Don't leave your house key under the mat, over the door, or in the mail box. Those are the first places a burglar will look.
7. Make certain that all doors and windows are securely locked.
8. Notify your neighbor how long you will be gone. Ask him to keep his eye on your property.
9. Call the police and let them know when you are leaving the premises and the date of your return. They will check your residence while you are away.
10. Place your valuable jewelry in a Safe Deposit Box at the Newton-Waltham Bank.

Here's another valuable tip — carry very little cash while traveling. Instead, use Travelers Checks (available at this bank) so that your vacation will not be ruined by lost cash.

Now, you're all set to go. Have a wonderful vacation.

Food Costs

Washington — Farm families and city farmers spend about the same percentage of their incomes for food supplies.

Miss Stressenger Is Bride Of Mr. Watson

Planning to live in Portland, Me., are Mr. David Lyle Watson and his bride, the former Miss Margaret Anne Stressenger, whose marriage took place recently at the First Baptist Church in Newton. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald James Stressenger of 27 Waldorf road, Newton Highlands. The groom is the son of Mrs. Bernard L. Watson of East Parsonfield, Me. and the late Mr. Watson.

The Rev. Harold A. Malmberg officiated at the four o'clock double-ring service. The Wellesley Inn was the scene of the reception.

Given away by her father, the bride's Irish linen gown was applied with Venetian lace. A matching lace crown held in place her antique full-length white illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses, white heather and ivy.

Miss Carol J. Stressenger of Newton Highlands, sister of the bride, was honor maid. Miss Joan M. Hansberry of Osterville, Mrs. Donald V. Barker 3rd, of Brighton, and Miss Albinia P. Orlowski of New York were bridesmaids.

Joseph L. Watson of East Parsonfield, Me., served as best man for his brother. Ushering were another brother, Bernard L. Watson of East Parsonfield, Me., James E. Smith of Eatontown, N. J., Alfred Nelson of Lakeville, Allyn Bolz of Groton, Conn., and Stephen DiBasio of Cornish, Me.

The bride was graduated from the Faulkner Hospital School of Nursing.

The bridegroom is a pre-medical student at the University of Maine.

Buffet-Card Party Planned

Newton members of Commonwealth Chapter No. 408, B'nai B'rith Women, call attention to a summer buffet card party to be held Wednesday, July 20, at noon, at Riverview Terrace, 110 Francis st., Brookline.

Chairman Edith Baker, her committee, and President Jeanne Max have outlined an exciting afternoon in air-conditioned comfort complete with door prizes and surprises galore. An enjoyable day is promised for all the chapter's members and friends who are planning to attend.

St. Paul — The famous northern lights have been seen as far south as Texas.

SANDY'S OUTING COMMITTEE—Committee member for the annual outing of Sandy's Department Store employees held at Houghton Pond in the Blue Hills Reservation recently. A program of games and sports followed a delicious barbecue. Families and friends of Sandy's employees joined in the day's fun. The committee, front, left to right, Richard Crisp, Rita Layden, William O'Connell, Maureen Keane, and Peggy Gorman; standing, Marie Walsh, James Walsh, Wendell Palmer, Nick DiFiore, Ronny Ramer, Robert Crossley, Ellie Crossley, Al Crisp, and Helen Hagberg.

The promotion of a Newton native and graduate of Newton High School, has been announced by the North Atlantic Regional Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

John E. Foristall, assistant to the District Director in Philadelphia, and recently acting as assistant commissioner for administration in the North Atlantic Region, has been moved up to the position of North Atlantic Regional Commissioner.

4 Promotions At Garden City Trust Company

Mrs. Charles E. Dockser, President, Garden City Trust Company, 232 Boylston St., Chestnut Hill, has announced the promotion of four men to vice-president and one man to assistant treasurer.

John J. Gaffey has served with Garden City for five years. In his new role as vice-president he will continue to have charge of the credit department of the bank.

Francis E. McDade began working for Garden City Trust Company at the time of its opening in 1959. He has served as assistant treasurer and assistant vice-president prior to receiving the new title. His prime duties have been, and will continue to be, manager of the Bedford branch.

Joseph P. Shiel has been responsible for the implementation of details involved in the opening of the branch offices. Of late he has concentrated on establishing computer operations within the bank. Before his promotion to vice-president Mr. Shiel had been assistant treasurer and assistant vice-president.

The fourth officer to be promoted to vice-president is Irving R. Stewart, formerly an assistant treasurer and assistant vice-president. Mr. Stewart will continue in his position of loan officer.

Donnis R. Tossier has served as manager of the Bedford Science Park branch for about a year. In addition to new duties as assistant treasurer, Mr. Tossier will continue to manage the Science Park branch.

Local Bentley College Alumni Elected Officers

Four Bentley College alumni from Newton have been elected class officers and will play key roles in planning their next five-year reunion in 1971.

They were among 67 chosen at the annual meeting of the Alumni Association held in Waltham, where Bentley is building its new $13,000,000 campus. The gathering was part of the 12th annual Reunion Day, when returning alumni viewed the 100-acre site of 12 new buildings scheduled for simultaneous construction starting next fall.

Local residents elected were Gino L. Angelone, 314 Langley road, Newton Centre, vice president day division, class of '56; Robert T. Bontempo, 64 William street, West Newton, treasurer day division, class of '56; Thomas Luebbeman, 143 Pearl street, Newton, secretary day division, class of '61, and Barnett Gillis, 60 Botsford road, Chestnut Hill, vice president evening division, class of '36.

Ronald L. Promboin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Promboin, 4 Placid Rd., Newton Centre, was graduated magna cum laude from Williams College in Williamstown. He prepared for college at Newton South High School.

Judith A. Melvin, daughter of Mrs. Anne Melvin, Newbury St., Newton Centre, received a silver key and the Associate in Arts degree at Westbrook Junior College, Portland, Me. She was one of five seniors attaining high honors.

Ann Mulcahy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Mulcahy Jr., 109 Old Orchard Rd., Chestnut Hill; Susan B. Levine, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Bernard E. Levine, 49 Philmore Rd., Newton; Joan D. Seeler, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Albert O. Seeler, 170 Nehoiden Rd., Waban, and Susan L. Breakell, daughter of Mrs. Mary J. Breakell, 212 Chestnut St., West Newton, were graduated from Mount Holyoke College in South Hadley.

Local Women Singers In Mozart Opera

The Cambridge Opera Workshop will present Mozart's "The Magic Flute" Thursday evening, July 21, at 8:30 o'clock, in the First Church in Cambridge, Congregational.

The "Queen of the Night," one of the most difficult of Mozart roles, will be sung by colatura soprano Hazel O'Donnell, wife of the Rev. Joseph O'Donnell, 64 Oakland rd., Newtonville. Mrs. O'Donnell is on the faculty of Lowell State College, and has sung in many concerts in the Boston area.

Another Newton resident, Mary Bucher, wife of Glenn Bucher, 60 Oxford rd., Newton Centre, will sing the role of "The First Lady."

BANK HAS NEW TELLER MACHINES — Teller Carolyn Marriott demonstrates to manager Nello Calderoni, center, and President Nathan I. Greene, the convenience and speed with which the new teller's machines installed at the bank work.

New Customer Convenience Provided By Teller Units

New machines which enable the customer to transact all his banking business with one teller have been installed by the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company. The machines are currently being placed in the 20 branch offices of the bank.

Nathan I. Greene, president of the Newton-Waltham Bank, stated: "This new system will enable our customers to transact their checking account, savings account, check cashing, loan payment business at one window. This will not only eliminate the inconvenience of visiting three or four tellers' windows but will also speed up service."

Along with the convenience, the new tellers' machines will maintain proof of recording and control over all transactions by validating the depositor's receipt, deposit slip, the amounts of checks cashed, and loan payment remittances. With original printing, teller totals, lock-protective control, and detailed audit tape, the system has all the control and

Miss Feffer On Staff of Boston Science Museum

Rochelle Ellen Feffer of 866 Beacon street, Newton Centre, has joined the staff of Boston's Museum of Science and has been appointed secretary in the campaign office, Museum's West Wing Expansion Fund Program.

Miss Feffer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Feffer of 5815 Meadowcrest drive, Dallas, Tex. She is a graduate of the Hillcrest High School in Dallas, and attended the University of Texas at Austin, where she majored in biology. She was a member of the Delta Phi Epsilon Sorority there and was active in B'nai B'rith Youth Organization.

The Campaign Office to which Miss Feffer is assigned is seeking to raise $8,000,000 to construct a new west wing exhibit hall and related parking structure. Demands for this additional space have been pressed by the growing attendance at the small Museum, which last year crowded in almost half-a-million people in an area intended for one-third their numbers.

The present museum, which houses exhibits on all the sciences under one roof, contains only 35,000 square feet of exhibit space. Plans for the new wing call for tripling this figure, thus making room for twice as many people and at the same time accommodating dynamic, show-stopper exhibits too large to fit in the present plant.

Secretaries Of Schools Plan 20 Year Gala

The school year, 1966-1967, will mark the twentieth anniversary of the founding of the Newton Educational Secretaries Association, which comprises all the office employees of the Newton Public Schools.

Plans are underway for a gala special observance of the occasion, under the leadership of Mrs. Rose Silverman of West Newton, president of the Association.

The first meeting of the planning committee was held Wednesday evening, July 13, at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Ruth Corey, 10 Regent st., West Newton, who is vice-president of the program committee of the Newton group. Representatives from elementary, junior high, high

Grateful For Police Service In Emergency

Police Chief Philip Purcell has received from a Newton Lower Falls family an expression of gratitude for services performed by his men in time of an emergency.

The letter follows:

"It is difficult to find words to effectively express the enormity due the Newton Police Department. Recently, just prior to my mother's death, we were forced to ask for the service of the police for the first time. Literally within seconds following a telephone call, the police responded, and I know they are constantly alert and immediately available for any and all emergencies.

"In the wee, small hours of the morning, when neighbors and friends are asleep and physicians not immediately available, these 'Doctors of Emergency' can be at your side to assist, employing all their knowledge and efforts for salvation. I dare say that my mother's life was prolonged because of their efficacious methods of resuscitation.

"Were my mother alive today, I am sure she would smilingly say, 'Grazie,' to the Newton Police Department. As for her children, we all say, 'Thanks a million!'"

Signer of the letter was

Dino Alterio, 2323 Washington St., Newton Lower Falls.

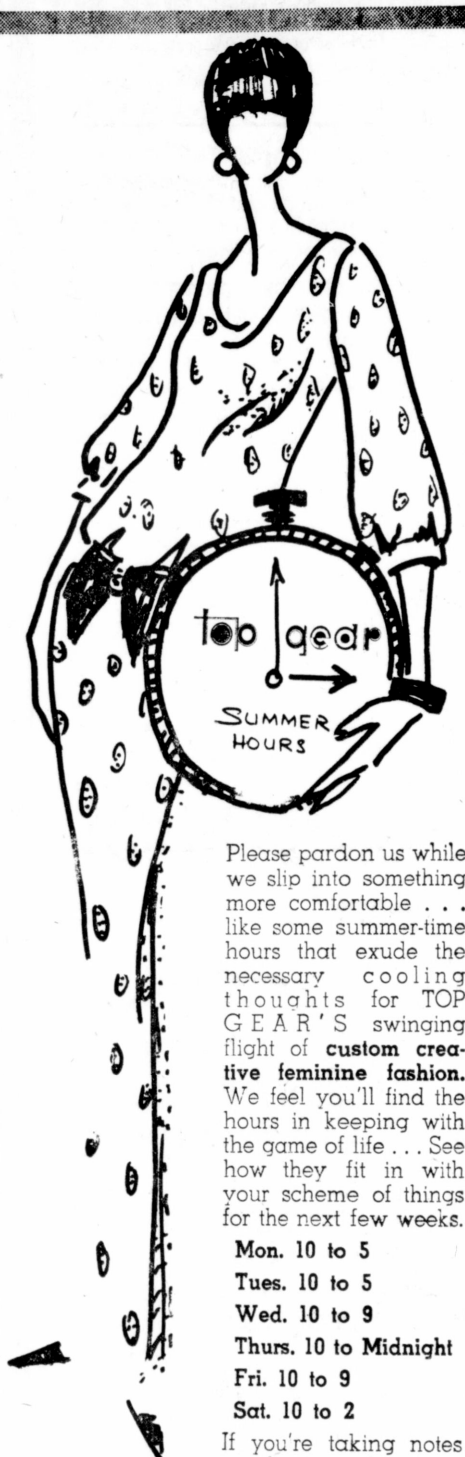

DAVID G. PRUYNE
Promotion In Insurance For Newton Native

David G. Pruyn, a native of Newton, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Sumner Pruyn of Farlow road, this city, has been advanced to secretary in the securities department of Connecticut General Life Insurance Co., Hartford, according to the announcement by Henry R. Roberts, president.

Pruyn is a graduate of Exeter Academy and Amherst College and received a master's degree from Harvard Business School.

He joined Connecticut General in 1954 and was appointed assistant secretary in the securities department in 1964.

He resides with his wife, the former Nancie Cole of West Newton, and their daughter, in West Hartford.

Sweet Corn
Due In Week
Report States

The current weekly report of the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture based on reports from wholesale produce markets, makes no mention of sweet corn's availability beyond the fact that it should be ready for sale by next Monday, July 18.

However, the report does have an "agri-fact" supplied by Nat Tilden of Scituate, a former member of the state legislature. Says the former representative, "The farmers' war on crops in this country is still going on, after more than 300 years. Crows go after many tender garden shoots, especially sweet corn.
Back in the 1600's the fledgling town of Scituate, for example, was paying a bounty on crows, and sweet corn seed is still treated with crow-repellent by knowledgeable Scituate farmers and home gardeners."

The week's best buys listed in the report are as follows:

Beets — native bunched, in good supply, lower priced.
Beetgreens — abundant, economical.
Cabbage — real budget helper; prices extremely low;
quality high.
Eggs — large and medium sizes excellent buys.
Lettuce — abundant and prices lower than last week.
Peas — still abundant.
Radishes — plentiful and low priced.
Squash — yellow summer and zucchini plentiful, economical.
Strawberries — last call this year for natives.

Wifely Chore, Army Style

First Lieut. Bradbury H. Huff, Jr., of Newton has silver bars of new rank pinned to uniform by Major Raymond E. Mullen, 1st Battalion, Fort Monmouth, ably assisted by Mrs. Diane Huff, formerly of Needham.

Promotion In Army For Local Officer

Bradbury H. Huff, Jr., of Newton, has been promoted from the rank of second lieutenant to that of first lieutenant, according to the announcement from the U. S. Army Signal School, Fort Monmouth, N. J.

Lieut. Huff is executive officer of D Company, of the Signal School's Troop Command.

Major Raymond E. Mullen, Jr., commanding officer of the First Battalion of the Army Signal School, pinned the silver bars of a first lieutenant on the Huff uniform at ceremonies held at the Fort.

Major Mullen was assisted by Mrs. Huff, the former Diane A. Marks of Needham.

Lieut. Huff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bradley H. Huff, Sr., of 20 Asheville Rd., Newton. He is a 1958 graduate of Newton High School and took his degree at Northeastern University in 1964.

He resides with his wife, Diane, at 27 Vaughn Court, Eatontown.

Colleague Chides Aldermen During Debate On Acoustics

A renewed discussion of a proposal to improve the acoustics in the Aldermanic chamber by Alderman Melvin J. Dangel, late in Monday night's meeting of the Board, was chosen by President Wendell R. Bauckman as an opportune time to chide the membership.

Said the president, "a microphone for each alderman would not have helped the acoustical situation tonight."

He pointed out that all during the making of reports by the various committee chairmen, small groups of two or more members had been carrying on private, but audible, conferences on the floor of the chamber.

"I believe we should pay attention to the reports," he went on. "Courtesy is due these chairmen."

Earlier in the meeting, John P. Nixon, Finance chairman, reported out an item in which the Public Buildings Commissioner requested an appropriation of $4200 from budget reserve.

Nixon explained that the money was intended for repairs in the offices of the veterans department, the payroll department and the board of assessors, and also for an installation of improved intercommunication equipment in the aldermanic chamber. The equipment, he said, would include a microphone for the use of each member of the Board.

His committee, Nixon said, had agreed that the emergency repairs should be financed, but that the installation did not constitute an emergency, and therefore could wait until more was known about the details.

The Finance Committee, Nixon went on, had therefore cut the $4200 appropriation to $2200.

The full Board voted unanimously to approve the Finance Committee's recommendations. The Public Buildings Commissioner's request had been taken up by Nixon when Alderman Dangel was out of the chamber. It developed later that he was unaware of the cut made in it when he voted "aye" on acceptance of the committee's report.

Dangel was successful in his effort to set Aug. 18 as the time for a demonstration of the intercommunication equipment by the firm that had submitted the low bid on the project. After Monday night's meeting, he notified the city clerk that at the Aug. 1 meeting he would move for reconsideration of the vote on the appropriation item.

Mrs. Heckler Is Guest Speaker At Meeting Here

Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler was the guest speaker at the recent meeting sponsored by Newton's Ward 2 Republican Committee held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Horner in Newtonville.

Mrs. Heckler is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Representative in Congress from the Tenth District.

William R. Horner, newly elected chairman of the Ward Committee, presided at the meeting.

The committee heard a report of the proceedings at the recently held State Republican Convention by Richard Lee. A question and answer period on GOP plans for the fall elections followed.

Two new associate members were voted into membership. They are Don Howard and Joseph Hallett.

Newtonite Is Commander Of DAV Of Mass.

J. Edward Theriault of 45 Bridge street, Newton, a retired building inspector for the city and a past commander of Newton Post, American Legion, and past commander of Post 23, Disabled American Veterans, was installed last weekend as commander of the Massachusetts Department of the Disabled American Veterans.

The former DAV State Department treasurer was unopposed for the organization's highest office.

A founding member of St. Jean's parish, he has been active in the St. Vincent de Paul Society and has been a director of the Newton Family Service Bureau and Newton Boys' Club. He has also been active in Boy Scout work.

With the Yankee Division during World War I, he was awarded the Silver Star and cluster and was cited for gallantry in action as a member of the 101st Field Artillery Regiment.

Rev. Lawson Is Guest Preacher Here July 17th

The Rev. Earl W. Lawson of Malden, will preach at the Newton Union Summer Service next Sunday, July 17th. The service will be held at 10 o'clock in the Union Church at Waban. Mr. Clendenning Smith will be the organist and Paul W. Wiggins, tenor, will be the soloist.

Rev. Lawson is a charter member of the American Baptist Order of The Brothers of the Cross; a member and secretary of the Berean Brethren Club, vice president of the Malden Council of Churches, a board member of the Massachusetts Council of Churches representing the Baptist State Convention, and also a board member of the Northern Baptist Education Society.

He is vice president of the Boston City Missionary Society and a teacher at eight released time weekday religious education classes in the Greater Boston area.

Rev. Lawson is also a representative of the NAACP for Malden, Medford, Everett, Saugus and Chelsea and is on the Steering Committee for the Southern Leadership Conference as well as a member of the newly formed Commission on Church and Race.

During the week of July 15th through 21st, pastoral care will be taken care of by Rev. Fred Field Goodsell, and he may be reached by calling 527-2004, and he will be glad to be of service if needed.

Hole-In-One By Newton Golfer May Win Prizes

A Newton golfer, Neil Linsky of 274 LaGrange street, scored a hole-in-one recently which may bring him fortune and a long voyage.

The ace was holed at the Leo J. Martin Memorial Golf Course and placed the local fairway athlete on the eligible list for the Rusty Nail Hole-in-One Sweepstakes.

Linsky may win a trip to the ancient home of golf, Scotland, and $1,000 in cash.

The winner in the annual contest will be chosen next year.

12 Injured In Series Of Local Car Crashes

Newton accidents that caused injuries this past week happened to drivers or passengers of automobiles, with a single exception.

The non-auto mishap caused serious burns to a tree worker who was trimming limbs for the Edison Company.

Employed by a Bedford tree surgery firm, Ernest Guillory of Weymouth came in contact with high-tension wires Monday on Pine Grove Ave., Newton Lower Falls. Police removed him to Newton-Wellesley Hospital where he was placed in the special care unit. Hospital officials described his injuries as fourth-degree burns on the left shoulder and neck, third-degree burns of the chest, stomach and right wrist and both hands.

Twelve persons were injured in a number of automobile accidents, nine of them hurt in three crashes last Saturday, one of them a hit-and-run affair.

The latter happened to Barbara Storer of 19 Beach St., Newtonville, who told police she was hit by a car that backed out of a driveway on Los Angeles St., Newton, and failed to stop. Her back was injured.

A collision involving two cars at Linwood Ave. and Walnut St., Newtonville, caused injuries to four. The drivers, according to police, were Alexander T. Sbordone, 17, of Newton, and Mark L. Sugarman of Waltham. Sbordone was shaken up, and Danielle Sbordone, who was his passenger, was treated at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Kind Thoughts From West Coast To Local Graduate

The "Good Guy", "Good Neighbor", "Dispenser of the Milk of Human Kindness" and any other similar award for being a fine, human being should be presented this week to a former Newtonite who has moved his residence to California.

This refers to George A. Parsons, a former letter carrier in Newton, who now lives in Long Beach, California.

Mr. Parsons subscribed to the Newton Graphic for many years and still has the newspaper mailed to him on the West Coast.

That he still follows the A.B. degree. This week he town will be attested to by Philip Myers Lowe, of Newton Centre, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip L. Lowe.

Young Lowe was a member of the 1966 Class at Harvard where he was graduated with sons hadn't forgotten the received a letter from Mr. Parsons in California congratulating him.

It seems that Parsons delivered mail at the Lowe home and was sufficiently interested in old acquaintances to sit down and write a congratulatory note to a young college graduate. He had read of Lowe's graduation in the Graphic mailed to him.

Former Letter-Carrier Parsons activities of the old home Lowe's boxer dog. He inquired about the pet and asked young Philip to give the dog a pat for him.

Young Lowe was a grade student here when Parsons was delivering mail.

Parsons retired from the postal service some six years ago and moved to California. The Lowe's have been residents of Newton for eighteen years.

The kind thought expressed in the Parsons' letter and mailed across the miles from a one-time letter carrier to a youth who was a mere boy when the West Coast writer wore the postal grey, impressed the young Harvard graduate deeply.

The Graphic reiterates his comment that it is a pleasant experience to discover that there are still some genuinely for a leg injury. Sugarman's neck was injured, and his wife, Barbara, was shaken up. Both were treated at the hospital.

When two cars came together at Boylston and Elliot Sts., Newton Highlands, four persons reported injuries. The drivers, police said, were Janet G. Murphy, 26 Waldorf Rd., Newton Highlands, and Mrs. Margaret M. Cook of South Natick. Mrs. Murphy suffered an injured left knee and hand. Marie Murphy of Holyoke, who was with her, had head and leg injuries. Both were treated at Newton-Wellesley. Mrs. Cook hurt her left shoulder and knee, and Anna M. Hilton S. Crowley of Natick.

of Brookline, who was with her, had a head injury. They also were treated at the hospital.

On last Thursday, two cars met at Washington St. and Quinobeguin Rd., Newton Lower Falls, and both drivers were injured. The drivers, police said, were Maria Marzilli, 61 Broadway, Newtonville, and Edward H. Rogers Jr., of Wellesley. Miss Marzilli suffered right knee, foot and leg injuries. Rogers was treated for a scraped nose and arm injuries.

One driver, Norman C. Aronson of 65 Longfellow Rd., Newton Lower Falls, was hurt in a three-car crash at 2285 Washington St., Newton Lower Falls. He was treated at Newton-Wellesley for back injuries. The other drivers, according to police, were Peter C. Taylor, 15 Dalby St., Newton, and William

Corpsman To Return After Iran Service

A Newton youth, Robert M. Abramson, is expected home next month after serving two years as a Peace Corps volunteer.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Abramson of 252 Upland avenue, Newton Highlands.

Young Abramson has been stationed in Mahabad, Iran, where he has taught English to high school students for the past two years. He also helped their teachers coordinate their English program.

The Newton Peace Corpsman trained for his overseas assignment at the University of Michigan.

He is a Newton High School graduate, class of 1960, and received a B.A. degree from the University of Michigan in 1964.

He plans to attend the Harvard University Graduate School of Business in the fall.

To Be Air Policeman

Airman Craig W. Cady, whose guardian, Mrs. Mary E. Wedge, resides at 13 Dalby St., Newton, has been assigned to MacDill AFB, Fla., after completing Air Force basic training.

The airman will be trained on the job as an air policeman with the Tactical Air Command.

Police Officers Injured In Rte. 27 Crash

Three Newton police officers were injured early Tuesday morning, when their car was in collision with one on Route 27 in Sherborn.

At the time they were on their way back to Newton after taking a patient to Medfield State Hospital.

The injured were Patrolmen Richard J. Lochiatio who was driving, Paul J. Fitzsimmons and Robert V. Braceland. They were taken by Sherborn police to Framingham Union Hospital, where all three were X-rayed and given treatment.

Lochiatio's right side and back were injured. Fitzsimmons had an injured right arm and head, and Braceland hurt his right shoulder, head and back. All had to go off duty.

Driver of the other car, who was not hurt, was identified as Philip Bettencourt of Wrentham.

Six Qualify As Social Workers

Six Newton residents passed a civil service examination to qualify for appointment as social workers, it was announced this week at the State House. In the order in which they placed on the civil service list, they are:

Fontaine M. Falkoff, 387 Wolcott St., Auburndale; Kathleen P. Mullen, 14 Cotter Rd., Waban; Brenda L. Tocman, 321 Crafts St., Newtonville; Diana M. Berg, 44 Farquhar Rd., Newtonville; Frederick P. Gaynor, 109 Cabot St., Newton, and Margaretta B. Cox, 11 Sylvan Ave., West Newton.

Dianna N. Kaplan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kaplan, 21 Ivanhoe St., Newton, has been accepted at Ricker College, Houlton, Me., for the 1966-67 academic year.

Herbert Connor Receives "CAPS" First Award For Public Service

Herbert L. Connor of 33 Clark street, Newton Centre, was honored on Wednesday, June 29, with the first Public Service Award presented by "CAPS" — "The Citizens for the Advancement of Public Service" — at a dinner meeting held at Clark University in Worcester.

His citation said, in part: "A nationally recognized leader in the field of apprenticeship training, you serve on many boards, in numerous advisory capacities, and as a willing speaker dedicated to developing the most effective apprenticeship training programs and apprenticeship standards both to further the economic welfare of the state and nation and for the benefit of the individuals involved."

Further: "Citizens for the Advancement of the Public Service are pleased to confer upon you the CAPS 1966 public service award in recognition of outstanding service in the employ of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts."

Mr. Connor has been Director of Apprenticeship in the Massachusetts Division of Apprenticeship Training, Department of Labor and Industries since 1945. He is a past president and presently treasurer of the National Association of State and Territorial Apprenticeship Directors.

He serves as a member of the Governor's Committee on Equal Employment, the Governor's and President's Committee on Children and Youth and the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped.

The CAPS award is based on at least five consecutive years in state service with an outstanding record of character and work quality. Mr. Connor, with 21 years of service, has ably demonstrated the quality CAPS seeks to recognize, according to the citation.

Four local women were installed recently as high national officers of the 75,000 member Brandeis University National Women's Committee.

The event took place at the organization's 18th Annual Conference held on campus at the university in Waltham.

Mrs. Leon Margolis of 30 Edgehill rd., Chestnut Hill, was installed as national president.

Serving as top officers with Mrs. Margolis and also installed at the conference were: Mrs. Abraham Margolis of 63 Adeline rd., Newton Centre, and Mrs. Fred Bernhard of 774 Walnut st., Newton Centre, as vice-presidents; and Mrs. Ghayer S. Warshaw of 18 Willow st., Newton Centre, executive director.

The Women's Committee, the largest friends-of-library group in the world, is solely responsible for the maintenance and growth of Brandeis' 400,000 volume Goldfarb Library.

At the annual conference, the women assumed responsibility for the 250,000 volume capacity Gerstenzang Science Library.

Aldermen Put Off Lease Of Land

The Board of Aldermen at Monday's meeting showed no immediate concern for, and attached no urgency to, a proposal for more off-street parking at Newton Corner.

It postponed for later consideration a request by Director of Public Works Willard H. Pratt for the leasing of property at 243-259 Washington st., and 302-310 Centre st., for three years.

This would be paid for by an appropriation to the street department from parking meter receipts, according to the request.

The committee on Public Works had approved the request 5 to 0, according to the report of Chairman George L. Hicks.

It was stated that the rental cost would be $5000 per year, and Hicks said that the lease would not be valid unless the building on the land was razed.

Alderman Adelaide B. Ball expressed the opinion that the matter could well wait till another meeting of the Board.

Stephen Woodruff, sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman F. Woodruff, 495 Watertown st., Newtonville, earned all straight "A's", and was named to the Dean's List at Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

COLLINS SPACE WALK CUT SHORT

ASTRONAUT MIKE COLLINS walked in space to a target satellite Wednesday night and then had to return to Gemini 10 because of a fuel shortage.

Command pilot John Young had to use too much steering rocket fuel to keep his craft within 50 feet of the dead Agena 8 satellite.

"Get back in," Houston ground control ordered Collins after 27 minutes of a scheduled 55 minute space walk. Collins obeyed and the Gemini 10 veered away from the Agena. Collins was calm, even though he reported he had dropped his camera.

HURRICANE CELIA AVOIDS U.S.

HURRICANE Celia was driving northeast today about 200 miles west of Bermuda, and "will not affect the coastline of the U.S.," weather bureau experts said.

Celia also will not bother efforts to recover the two Gemini 10 astronauts in the prime recovery area Thursday night. This splashdown site is some 380 miles east of Cape Kennedy. Celia's trailing squalls should have passed by Thursday afternoon, weather experts said.

MASS KILLING SUSPECT TOLD DON'T TALK

THE ACCUSED murderer of eight Chicago nurses was advised Wednesday by his court appointed lawyer not to talk, that he does not have to answer investigators' questions about the massacre.

Richard Speck, 24, met public defender Gerald Getty in the city jail infirmary. Getty said he did not discuss any plans for Speck's defense. Speck is reported recovering from a suspected heart attack after having slashed his wrists.

MORE TROOPS SEAL RACE RIOT AREA

AN ADDITIONAL 400 National Guard troops moved into the riot-stricken area of Cleveland Wednesday night, bringing the total peace-keeping force to 2,000. The action came after citizens complained of looting, arson and lax law enforcement.

The troops sealed off three blocks in the Hough avenue area forcing residents to park cars outside the area and walk home. Firemen Wednesday were plagued with calls from the riot area; one building was hit with a home-made incendiary bomb. Other fire-swept buildings were set afire again.

JOHNSON ACTS; AIR STRIKE TALKS RESUME

PRESIDENT JOHNSON's plea for "round the clock" negotiations to settle the airline strike was heeded by union machinists and airline officials Wednesday night. Both sides agreed to resume talks that had been broken off. The President warned that "the time has come when a settlement is indicated — the patience of the American people is being tried."

STOCK PRICES DIP SHARPLY

STOCK PRICES dipped sharply on reports from abroad Wednesday. A flurry of selling followed Britain's emergency measures to prevent the devaluation of the pound and deflate the economy but the consensus agreed most traders would wait to see the effectiveness of such measures before making judgments. In the long run, most commentators feel the move will be constructive.

The Dow Jones industrial index closed at 874.49, down 9.58.

LBJ WARNS WAR TRIALS 'REVOLTING'

WAR CRIME TRIALS of captured American fliers would be "very revolting and very repulsive," President Johnson sternly warned North Viet Nam late Wednesday. He added that the U.S. would act accordingly, if the trials are held.

He offered to begin immediate discussions with Hanoi under International Red Cross auspices, to extend provisions of the Geneva conventions for the protection of war prisoners to cover the Viet Nam conflict.

Johnson said North Viet Nam is faring worse in the war; its troop losses are 10 to 1 to American losses, he said, and they are now sending boys aged 12 to 16 into battle. He indicated that more American manpower will be required beyond the 280,000 Americans already committed to the war.

MARINES CONTINUE DRIVE ON VIET REDS

MORE THAN 900 elite troops of North Viet Nam were reported wiped out by U.S. Marines Wednesday in the greatest Leatherneck operation of the war.

The Marines threw another battalion of up to 1,500 men into the continuing battle today and struck at what appeared to be a North Vietnamese command post. Marine officers said the brigade-sized sweep through the northwest corner of South Viet Nam "spoiled" Communist plans to attack three South Vietnamese cities in a monsoon offensive.

North of the border, one American jet was shot down by a Communist MIG and three MIGs were damaged in an aerial battle. One American plane also was lost to groundfire as the North Vietnamese launched a record 29 surface-to-air missiles against raiding planes.

WAGE PRICE FREEZE HITS BRITAIN

BRITAIN'S PRIME minister, Harold Wilson, Thursday put a broad wage and price freeze in effect on the nation in a massive effort to save the pound from devaluation. Today the prices of gasoline, beer, wine, hard liquors and many other goods go up. Down payments for credit buying rise; repayment time is reduced. Nonessential government projects are eliminated and defense spending is severely cut back. Britain's economy has been severely shaken by a long maritime strike, low productivity and full employment.

PAROLE BOARD TO HEAR CRIMMINS PLEA

THE STATE PAROLE BOARD Wednesday ordered a parole hearing next Tuesday for imprisoned former executive councilor Joseph R. Crimmins of Somerville.

The board voted to hold the hearing at Middlesex County Jail, following testimony by Executive Councilor G. Edward Bradley, who presented documents purporting to establish Crimmins' innocence. Crimmins was sentenced to two and a half years in jail last fall on bribery and conspiracy charges stemming from the reappointment of Anthony N. DiNatale as public works commissioner. Bradley gave the board a sworn affidavit from Daniel T. Carey of Belmont, who said he was with Crimmins during the time when the Democratic councilor allegedly accepted a $2,500 bribe.

KERRIGAN DENIED WRIT IN KILLING

JOHN J. KERRIGAN, 46, convicted of killing a Cambridge patrolman six years ago and sentenced to death, was denied a writ of habeas corpus by the U.S. circuit court of appeals in Boston Wednesday.

A unanimous opinion written by Judge Frank M. Coffin, upheld a U.S. District Court ruling denying the appeal, which claimed Kerrigan's civil rights had been violated because he allegedly had not been told of his right to counsel and his right to remain silent while under interrogation by Cambridge police in 1961.

FULL PHONE PROBE ORDERED

THE STATE DEPARTMENT of public utilities will hold public hearings next month on the New England Telephone Co.'s practice of monitoring private phone calls.

Chairman Roy Papalia said the DPU would undoubtedly require high phone officials to testify at the hearing Aug. 10 and 11 in the new State office building.

Charter Change Bill Is Doomed

Representative Irving Fishman announced this week that he had withdrawn his sponsorship of a bill calling for a referendum on proposed changes in Newton's city charter. His action possibly doomed the measure to defeat by the House of Representatives.

Fishman recorded himself as opposed to the enactment of the bill this year during a public hearing before the legislative committee on municipal finance at the State House on Tuesday.

He declared that he supported requests by the Newton League of Women Voters and the legislation Committee of the Board of Aldermen for further time to study the matter.

To Make Study Of Housing Site

A planning study will be made to determine the best site for the proposed new housing development for elderly persons in modest circumstances.

This was decided Tuesday at a conference attended by Mayor Monte G. Basbas, the members of the Newton Housing Authority, City Planner James Miller and Planning Consultant Charles Downe.

Miller and Downe will make the survey which will determine where the city's next housing project will be built.

Three sites are to be studied.

One is the M & B car barns between Auburn street and Commonwealth avenue in Auburndale, adjacent to the parking lot at Norumbega Park.

That is the location originally favored by the Housing Authority and opposed by Mayor Basbas.

Also to be considered as possible sites for the housing development are the abandoned Auburndale fire station and the Burr School which is to be abandoned next year.

Welcome-Home Party For Vietnam Vet

An army lieutenant, who has just returned from a year's service in Vietnam, will be given a welcome-home party by his parents and neighbors on Sunday afternoon.

It will be a festive occasion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Constant of 39 Moreland avenue, Newton Centre, Sunday afternoon as they host a party for their son, Lt. Richard A. Constant.

Attached to the Signal Corps, Lt. Constant will be home for a 30-day leave and then will go to Germany for a new tour of duty. A graduate of Boston University, where he was a member of the ROTC, Lt. Constant is married to the former Gail Martha Harvey of Brookline.

Young Girl Hospitalized With Burns

A seven-year-old girl was burned about the hands and feet when a candle she was using for illumination in her Newton Centre home tipped over and set fire to her bedroom.

Ruth Elliott was carried from the burning home at 293 Boylston street by her father, Edward W. Elliott. Mrs. Jean Elliott, the girl's mother, was also hospitalized briefly for smoke inhalation.

Doctors at Newton-Wellesley Hospital said the youngster suffered second degree burns on both hands and both feet and would have to stay at the hospital for an indeterminate time. She was, however, reported in no danger and resting comfortably.

The blaze started in the girl's third floor bedroom, spread to other rooms on that floor and downstairs into the hallway and bath on the second floor.

Assistant Fire Chief Harvey D. Preble, Engines 3, 6, 7 and 9 and Ladders 1 and 3 responded to the alarm from Box 7213 at 9:53 p.m. Saturday night. The all out was sounded at 12:54 a.m. Sunday.

Thief Boasts Strong Back

Stealing in Newton is beginning to look like hard work. At least it was for thieves who entered the home of Marsha Blaker, at 20 Hammond Pond parkway on Monday night and walked away with a bronze umbrella stand weighing about 75 pounds.

Miss Blaker told investigating officers Robert J. Wargin and George F. Chappelle the burglars entered her apartment between 7 and 10 p.m. and removed the stand which was valued at between $300 and $400.

Choice Seat At The Game

$100 Tax Rate in 1970 If School Costs Climb

A warning that Newton's tax rate could climb to $100 in five years was sounded by Mayor Monte G. Basbas after school officials indicated it will be necessary to increase the school budget $1 million annually through 1970.

Basbas pointed out that rising school costs, coupled with other capital improvements it has planned to undertake such as the construction of new library and recreation facilities, could send the city's tax rate soaring to the $100-mark in that period.

The Mayor based his projection on the assumption that about $3.5 million worth of new taxable property will be built in the city each year.

He took into consideration the revenue the city expects to receive from the sales tax proceeds but pointed out that a referendum designed to repeal the sales tax will be on the ballot in the November election.

Repeal of the sales tax would cause an automatic increase of at least $3.50 or $4 in the tax rate next year, aside from any other factors which may boost up the rate, the Mayor observed.

The belief of school authorities that expenditures for school purposes must be increased $1 million per year if Newton is to maintain a top public school system, is reflected in an analysis of school needs printed in the summer issue of "Patterns," the school department publication, and covering the period of the next five years.

While Mayor Basbas is a strong advocate of a good school system in Newton, he has declared that he must consider all aspects of the municipal government and various public services as well as the ability of the people to pay for them.

Salary increases to school personnel would account for a substantial portion of the $1 million annual rise in the school budget, it was indicated in the analysis in "Patterns."

Newton school officials declare that the problem of getting outstanding teachers has become "more severe."

They assert that colleges private industry and the federal government as well as other school systems are all in competition for good teachers.

Nine teachers left the Newton public school system this year to take positions elsewhere, it was reported.

Three of them went to graduate schools to train for administrative positions. Two entered the employ of a non-profit corporation. One joined

Strict Jay-Walking Law Will Soon Be Enforced

Pay close attention to when and where you step off that curb for it may soon cost you hard cash to make a mistake.

Strict enforcement of Newton's jaywalking law has been urged by the Newton Board of Aldermen and the Newton Police Department will soon embark on an "educational program" to prepare residents for the crack-down.

Penalties for violation of the law will be assessed in much the same way as parking violations. The violator will be given a "ticket" which is returnable in person or by mail to the Newton District Court within 21 days. It provides for a fine of $1 for the first, second and third offenses in one calendar year and $2 for the fourth and subsequent violations.

Failure to return the citation and fine within the prescribed time will result in a criminal complaint and arrest warrant being issued.

"Lock Your Doors," Urges Police Chief

Newton householders were warned today by Police Chief Philip Purcell against depending on locked screen doors to protect their homes against burglars while they are away or asleep.

Chief Purcell declared that house-breakers can cut the screening near the latch and enter the house quickly without arousing suspicion.

He urged residents to lock the regular doors of their homes when they are going out or retiring for the night even if the weather is warm.

The Police Chief also cautioned against keeping large sums of money in the house, pointing out that this is the first thing burglars look for.

Chief Purcell reported that at least half the house-breaks occurring in Newton are the work of juveniles and are usually committed in the daytime.

The losses from the breaks committed by youthful offenders usually result from the damage they cause, Chief Purcell observed. Professional burglars, on the other hand, work fast, get away quickly and take as much of value with them as is possible.

Nine Newton Draftees Get Warm Sendoff

Nine young Newton soldiers-to-be were given a rousing send-off this week by members of the Newton Lions Club, The Mass. State Guard Veterans, the Italian-American War Veterans, the American Legion and the Disabled American Veterans as they left the draft board offices on Boyd street for their training centers.

Inductees Robert Fairhurst, David Hay, Richard McLean, Walter Panzer, Herbert Redden, Peter Rubinstein, William Ryan, Bradford Thurston III and David Vito were presented with "AWOL Bags" containing assorted gifts such as sewing kits, pens and cookies by the Lions Club.

Carson Post #141 of the American Legion presented razors to each inductee and distributed coffee and donuts.

On hand to see the boys off were Lawrence R. Kadis of the Lions Club, Edmond LeFevre and Herb Lovely of the Mass. State Guard Veterans, James Bergantino of the Newton Veterans Honor Guard, John Bianchi and Nunzio Pellegrini of the Italian American War Veterans, Thomas Silk of the Carson Post, American Legion, Anthony Pellegrini of the Sons of Italy, and Ed Theriault, John Bouchard and Walter Sheehan of the Disabled American Veterans.

Mayor Basbas Aids Fund Drive

Mayor Monte G. Basbas, left, is serving as honorary chairman of Theatre Party Committee planning benefit performance of pre-Broadway John Raitt musical, "A Joyful Noise" at Carousel Theatre, Framingham, August 23rd. Shown with Mayor Basbas are, Max Feinerman, ticket chairman, center; and Francis J. Sawyer, president of the Massachusetts Kidney Foundation to benefit from the performance, which is expected to raise $20,000 for the Foundation.

Sr. Citizens Program Aim

Consideration for the senior citizens of Newton has prompted the formation by Mayor Monte G. Basbas and Wallace Fletcher, president of Community Action, Inc., of a new organization, the Newton Council for the Aged.

This will be an advisory committee to the Mayor and a standing committee of Community Action, Inc.

Members of the committee are: Allison Budgell, 93 Forest st.; Mrs. Isabel Coleman, 239 Washington st.; Carl Eschebach, 864 Watertown st.; C. W. Gould Capon, 58 Channing road; Dr. Hale Cook, Comm. Health Department, Newton City Hall; Harold Cave, 108 J. F. Kennedy Cir.

Also Peter DiFoggio, 5 Churchill st., all of Newton; Mrs. Worthing West, 56 Taylor terr., Newton Centre; Miss Lucille E. Nass, 1990 Washington st.; George Watterdorf, Dir. Welfare Department, Newton City Hall, all of Newton.

In welcoming the members to the first meeting, Mayor Basbas thanked them for accepting membership on a committee which if it is to be successful will have to spend many hours coordinating activities and developing new programs for a group of citizens who desire and deserve programs of dignity and worth.

O'Donnell Tries To Revive Old Feuds in Governor Race

Battles for the Democratic nominations for Governor and U. S. Senator and the two places at the head of the Democratic State ticket are gradually gathering steam.

Former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack is attempting to move along smoothly and to stir up as little controversy as possible in his gubernatorial contest with former Presidential Aide Kenneth P. O'Donnell.

O'Donnell, on the other hand, is doing his utmost to reopen the wounds left by the 1962 convention and primary clashes between McCormack and Senator Edward M. Kennedy.

SWIMMING POOL SECTION

Gene Hurley Pools Pioneer Backyard Luxury

Gene Hurley, President of Hurley Swimming Pool Builders, Inc., of Needham Mass., one of New England's most experienced swimming pool distributors, a true pioneer in the package pool industry, has developed with the national manufacturer, Pioneer Pools, the latest design in the residential market.

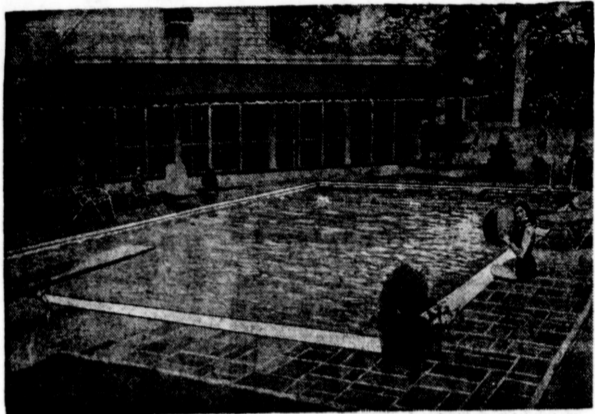

The new bowl shape construction gives the adults the maximum in depth for diving and the toddlers the maximum in safety in the perimeter of the pool. It also minimizes the vacuuming of the pool.

Gene Hurley also noted the vast improvements in the filtration of the Swim King Pools. The new speed filter is compact, and it filters with about 30 percent more efficiency.

All the new improvements in the swimming pool industry have brought the cost down to where the average home owner can now afford a family swimming pool. The average pool built in New England, fully equipped with ladder, diving board, and all the other necessary equipment, under normal conditions, would sell for $3500.

At the present time there is approximately a 10-day waiting period due to the heavy demand of consumer recognition of family swimming.

Mortgage banks are very co-operative in merging swimming pool mortgages in order to give the home owner the lowest possible monthly payment. The First National Bank of Boston, through the Installment Loan Division, have now broadened their home improvement loans to include swimming pools. Depending upon the equity of the owner in his property, it could be possible to finance his pool loan up to seven years with no down payment.

"Pool Records Chattered", Says Hurley

GENE HURLEY

1966 is already setting an all-time record for pool sales in New England, says "Gene" Hurley of E. F. Hurley Builders, Inc., Needham Mass.

Early summer high temperature readings and oppressive humidity have contributed to the calls he and his associates for the "Swim King" Pioneer

Pools have received. He cites as other reasons the growth of public awareness that the family pool gives the public all of the recreational relaxation that they formerly experienced without the inconveniences of driving to Cape Cod or to the mountains for these pleasures, and healthful features of swimming can be enjoyed all week long rather than just on week-ends or short vacation periods.

Hurley predicts the demand for pools will extend even into the fall months.

Gene Hurley has long been identified with the family swimming pool. He is the New England distributor for the Pioneer "Swim King" pools. Gene has been recognized by the swimming pool industry for his many services and he now serves as Region I Vice President for the National Swimming Pool Institute.

Seal Is Quality Symbol

The official seal of the Swimming Pool Assn. of New England, Inc. (S.P.A.N.E.) is the symbol of quality, dependability and good business practices of its members.

When considering the installation of a pool, whether it be for a private home or for commercial purposes, the public should look for this seal as a guarantee of the product and workmanship just as the wise housewife depends upon the seals of guarantee.

S.P.A.N.E. was organized just ten years ago with eight members. The burgeoning industry swelled membership to 120.

S.P.A.N.E. guides and polices the pool industry, demands it maintain the highest standards for the preservation of its reputation and the protection of the buying public.

Affiliated with the National Swimming Pool Institution, Washington, D. C., S.P.A.N.E. is bound by the pledge to provide quality components and superior workmanship.

Recognized across the country for the advances it has achieved, the Swimming Pool Assn. of New England, Inc., won the top award of the National Swimming Pool Institute.

The National Swimming Pool Institute Certificate of Appreciation was presented to Gene Hurley in recognition of "valuable service to the institute and a lasting contribution to the swimming pool industry" this past January in Houston, Texas.

BARBARA GLASSMAN

Miss Glassman Touring Europe On 8-Week Trip

Miss Barbara Glassman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Glassman, 425 Ward st., Newton Centre, is touring Europe for the summer.

Miss Glassman is a 1966 graduate of Newton High School and Temple Emanuel Regional Hebrew High School. She is on an eight-week tour of Europe with the Histadrut Student Tour Group and will visit Israel, France, Italy, and Switzerland.

Four weeks of the vacation will be spent in Israel where Miss Glassman will live and work as a member of Kibbutz Kinneret, as well as touring the Holy Land and spending a week at an Israeli resort.

The remainder of the trip will be spent in France, Italy and Switzerland.

Miss Glassman will arrive home on August 9th and spend the remainder of the summer preparing for her entrance to Forsythe School of Dental Hygiene in September.

Shell Collection On Display At Free Library

A colorful exhibit of unusual land and sea shells is now on display at the Boys' and Girls' Library at 126 Vernon street, Newton.

These shells, collected over several years by Miss Andrea Rousseau, a student assistant in the Newton Free Library, include a Queen Helmet Shell from the West Indies, a chambered Nautilus from the Philippines, a Comb Murex and a Sundial shell from Tosa Bay, Japan, and many others from the United States. Each shell is labeled with its common and scientific name and the approximate location where found.

This exhibit will be on display through Aug. 31. The Boys' and Girls' Library is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Any boy or girl interested in starting a collection of shells will find helpful information in any of the following books: The Adventure Book of Shells by Eva Knox Evans, (published by Capital Publishing Co., Inc.); Starting A Shell Collection by Miriam Gilbert (published by C. S. Hammond and Co.); or Seashores by Herbert S. Zim (published by the Golden Press). These books on shells and many others on hobbies may be borrowed from the Boys' and Girls' Library.

Mayor Seeks To Have Drive-Ins Under Control

Mayor Monte G. Basbas' recommendation that the zoning ordinances be amended in order to give the Board of Aldermen control of all types of drive-in operations in the city met with no opposition Monday night at a public hearing in City Hall held jointly by the Aldermanic Committee on Claims and Rules and the Planning Board.

Specifically, it was explained by City Planner James A. Miller, the amendment would require special permits from the Board of Aldermen for Business A, Business B, Limited Manufacturing and Manufacturing Districts by drive-in or open air businesses such

GOP Unit On Voter Drive

A drive to assist Newton residents not already on the city's voter list to register for the upcoming elections was undertaken this week by the Newton Republican City Committee. Special emphasis is being given to new residents and those just turning twenty-one.

City Committee chairman William A. Lincoln today stated that committee workers inas restaurants, doughnut shops, parking lots, public garages, gasoline selling or service stations, garage repair shops and recreational places of assembly including outdoor motion picture theatres.

tend to reach all who are eligible to register and to offer them information and assistance in doing so.

Lincoln announced that the program is being directed by Mrs. Michael G. C. Bucuvalas, City Committee vice-chairman, assisted by the various Ward Registration chairmen. These are: Mrs. Dennis E. Myers, Ward One; Mrs. Frances Jonah, Ward Two; Ernest O. Sayfarth, Ward Three; Mrs. George Jones, Ward Four; Mrs. Stanley Epstein, Ward Five; Mrs. Malvin F. White, Ward Six; Miss Mary P. Cunningham, Ward Seven;

Bertram Promboin, Ward Eight.

Lincoln reminded residents that they may register by appearing at the Election Commission's Offices in City Hall during regular business hours. He pointed out that additional hours for registration are announced before each primary and each election. He urged residents not to wait until the last moments but to register as soon as possible.

The Republican City Committee, Lincoln added, will sponsor a continuing city-wide program to furnish information and assistance.

Political Highlights

In the fight for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate, Boston Mayor John F. Collins has delivered the first of a series of televised addresses he will make, outlining his record as one of the nation's most respected municipal officials.

His main adversary, ex-Governor Endicott Peabody, has been waging an energetic meet-the-people campaign, buttonholing voters at factory gates, shopping centers, street corners and just about any other place he can find a hand to shake.

Collins and Peabody both have certain factors in their favor as they square away for their battle which will finally be decided when the voters go to the polls on Sept. 13.

Few qualified observers would challenge the statement that Collins has made a better record as Mayor of Boston than Peabody did as Governor of Massachusetts.

Collins was overwhelmingly reelected to a second term after serving four years as Mayor.

Peabody was rejected by the voters of his own party after two years as Governor.

Collins is the only person ever to receive an honorary degree from Harvard University for his accomplishments as Mayor of Boston, an impressive testimonial to the job he has done as chief municipal executive of the State's capital city.

But there are also some factors which militate in Peabody's favor.

Where Peabody is free to devote his entire time to campaigning, Collins must spend a substantial portion of his time and energy running Boston's municipal government.

Crippled by an attack of polio which almost claimed his life 11 years ago, Collins couldn't match Peabody's bus stop and street corner campaigning if he wanted to try.

He must depend principally on newspaper statements and television appearances to get his message to the people, and in doing so he is obliged to combat the summertime lethargy of the voters.

Collins also must get his message home to people in distant sections of the Commonwealth who may not be familiar with the record he has made during his six and a half years as Mayor of Boston.

If it weren't for these factors, Collins would loom as an easy winner over Peabody in the primary despite the fact that a number of politicians ganged up on him at the Democratic State Convention to deny him an endorsement he thought he would get.

Collins, of course, is an excellent speaker, projects well on television, has an outstanding record to present and accomplishments to cite. He should be able to sell his candidacy — if the people listen to political speeches during the summer season.

Supporters of Kenny O'Donnell, who is waging an uphill fight against former Attorney General McCormack, make no secret of the fact that Kenny is Bobby Kennedy's boy, not Ted Kennedy's.

They declare, in fact, that the election of O'Donnell as Governor would be interpreted nationally as a political coup in Massachusetts by Bobby Kennedy.

That undoubtedly would be the case, but at this stage there does not appear to be much likelihood that such a coup will materialize.

Bobby Kennedy is not openly supporting O'Donnell although some persons who worked under Bobby in the Department of Justice are in O'Donnell's camp.

Whatever help, if any, Bobby is giving O'Donnell is being provided behind the scenes.

Highlands Pair Provides For A Second Child

A Newton Highlands couple has cooperated with Foster Parents Plan, Inc., 352 Park Avenue, South, New York City, for the second time.

A few years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Silver, 301 Woodcliff road, "financially" adopted a little girl overseas whose circumstances were reported as desperate by the New York organization. That child now no longer needs the financial assistance the Silvers provided, so now they have replaced her with another youngster.

This one, toward whose support and education the Newton Highlands couple has agreed to provide $15 a month for a minimum of one year, is Maria Karay Anni of Verria, Greece.

Maria's father died after two long years of suffering, leaving his family penniless and in loneliness and grief. Two other children were left besides Maria. The local welfare center gives the family $6.67 per month. Relatives help out with provisions worth approximately $5 per month. The mother adds $16.67 per month to the total income. The latter sum is part of the monthly rent the family receives from a part of the house they own.

Thus, it is easy to understand how helpful the monthly $15 from Mr. and Mrs. Silver will be.

Foster Parents' Plan is a non-propaganda, independent organization. It has no professional fund-raisers and its financial statement is mailed with pride to anyone who asks for it. Children may be selected according to age, sex and nationality. For information write to Foster Parents' Plan, Inc., 352 Park Avenue South, New York, New York, 10010.

Joins Chirurg & Cairns

Lendell A. Layman of 97 Farwell street, Newton, has joined the advertising firm of Chirurg and Cairns as vice-president and account supervisor. A veteran of 21 years with the Boston firm of Loudon Advertising, Layman has long been a prominent and popular figure in the Boston advertising fraternity, and is the newly elected president of the Advertising Club of Boston.

Volpe actually strips a Governor of any control over the State's delegation to either the Democratic or Republican national convention.

Under the newly enacted law, Massachusetts delegates are bound to vote for at least one ballot for the candidate who received the greatest number of write-in votes in a Presidential primary.

That is a law which should have been adopted a long time ago. It gives new meaning and significance to the Presidential Primary in Massachusetts. It prevents delegates from making their own deals and from going against the will of the people of the State.

So the argument about controlling delegates to a national convention doesn't carry much weight in the McCormack-O'Donnell fight.

Antiquated Law Causes Loss of Insurance Jobs

Several hundred insurance jobs are being lost to Massachusetts residents because of the failure of the Legislature to revise or repeal an antiquated and outmoded law.

A Worcester insurance company recently tried to take over the Boston Insurance Company which employs several hundred persons. However, it was unable to do so because of a law which forbids Massachusetts life insurance companies from owning stock in any other insurance company.

As a result the Boston Insurance Company is being liquidated by the Continental Insurance Company of New York.

Ladd Plumley, board chairman and president of the State Life Assurance Company of America, makes a strong point when he declares that the lack of action to update the existing law is somewhat ironic in view of all the talk by public leaders about the need for creating new jobs.

Fund-Raising Dinner For Auditor Candidate

A fund-raising dinner and reception will be held at Blinstrub's Village in South Boston next Tuesday night (July 26) for Representative James H. Kelly who is making a strong campaign for the Democratic nomination for State Auditor.

Co-chairmen of the affair are Representatives John J. Toomey of Cambridge, William Q. MacLean of Fairhaven, and Daniel W. Carney of Hyde Park.

OSCAR BRESNICK

EMANUEL M. GILBERT

Newtonites Named To B. U. Visitors Board

Two advertising and public relations executives from Newton have been named to the Board of Visitors of the Boston University College of Business Administration, it was announced recently.

They are: Oscar Bresnick, president of the Bresnick Company, Inc., Boston, advertising agency; and Emmanuel M. Gilbert & Associates, Inc., Boston, public relations consulting firm.

The Board of Visitors is a group of leading executives who meet with the dean, faculty and administration of the college to serve as an advisory group in establishing policies and direction of graduate and undergraduate programs. It assists in a continuous curricular review of degree programs, academic research projects, and in the development of the continuing education program for executives. It also serves to advise on development programs.

Bresnick, whose agency serves leading New England corporations, originated television's first series of seminars devoted exclusively to marketing.

He is chairman of the public relations committee of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies, a member of the Massachusetts Bay United Fund Campaign Committee and a member of the Advisory Committee of Suffolk University School of Business. He lives with his wife and son in Newton.

Gilbert, who was special assistant to the president at Brandeis University before establishing his agency last year, is a former publisher of the Group Marketing Magazine of Cahners Publishing Company, Inc. and a former executive with the Edward L. Bernays' public relations firm in New York City.

One time faculty member of the Boston University School of Public Communication, he has lectured on public relations at New York University, City College of New York, the New School of Social Research, University of New Hampshire, and Simmons College. Mr. Gilbert lives with his wife and two children in Newton.

No-Hitter By Babe Ruth Richie Watts

Ritchie Watts, Waban Chiefs' right-hander pitched a no-hit, 3 to 0 win over St. Jean's last Thursday evening on Nickerson field in Newtonville.

In doing so, he became the second 13-year-old to toss a Babe Ruth League no-hitter recently.

It was the young fellow's third shutout of the season. Earlier, he had a two-hitter at St. Jean's and a one-hitter at Our Lady's.

Thursday night he fanned two and walked three.

In another Babe Ruth game, played last Saturday on Russell Field in Cambridge, Newton South was nosed out 3 to 2 by Somerville American. Newton Scored twice in the initial inning, but after that the opposing pitcher fanned seven straight batters, and all told in the contest he struck out 14 of them.

Judge Miles Elected

Judge Frankland W. L. Miles of Chestnut Hill, former Presiding Justice of Roxbury District Court, has been elected to the Board of Trustees of Gordon College and Gerdon Divinity School in Wrenham.

Newton Men Chair Big Medical Conclave in Hub

Two Newton men will share the chairmanship of the symposium committee for a national medical convention in Boston next week.

More than 7000 doctors and hospital personnel will meet for the first time in a national conclave with the engineers who design and the manufacturers who produce the ever-increasing number of medical machines. Artificial hearts, lasers, computers and tiny blood-testing devices are among the hundreds of new developments which will be studied and discussed at the four and a half day symposium at War Memorial Auditorium and the Hotel Statler Hilton.

Co-chairman of the Symposium Committee are Robert J. Allen of 615 Commonwealth avenue, and John J. Post of 28 Roundwood road.

Mr. Allen and Mr. Post succeeded in bringing together on one panel discussion Drs. Michael DeBakey of Houston, Tex., and Adrian Kantrowitz of New York, the recognized leaders in the development of the mechanical heart.

The meeting in Boston which opens next Monday will be the first international meeting of the Association for the Advancement of Medical Instrumentation.

"The idea of the symposium," said Mr. Allen, is for doctors in a wide range of specialties to get together with engineers and manufacturers to discuss the progress and problems in medical instrumentation.

"Too often doctors and engineers don't speak the same language," he continued. "This meeting will give them a chance to say face to face what they expect of each other."

Four-Year-Old Strangled By Electric Cord

Frantic attempts at artificial respiration and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation failed to revive a four-year-old boy in Newton Centre last Friday.

Jeffrey Nieman, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Nieman, 133 Harwich Rd., died of strangulation in his home after he had wrapped a ten-foot length of extension cord around his neck.

According to the police report, the lad's mother, Mrs. Sabina Nieman, left her son in the living room to watch television while she went to the basement to wash clothes. Later, when she went up to check on him, she found him lying on the floor with the cord around his neck.

Mrs. Nieman summoned two neighbors, Mrs. Ronald E. Weinfield of 144 Harwich Rd., and Mrs. Stanley Wiseman of No. 120.

The neighbors applied the life saving methods, but it was no use.

Taken to Newton-Wellesley Hospital by police, he was pronounced dead on arrival shortly after noon. According to Dr. Peter Angelo, county medical examiner, death was accidental and due to strangulation.

The boy's father, who owns a metal fabrication plant in Braintree, and his mother, have two other children.

Dr. MacDonald Is Renamed To Orthoptics Post

Appointment of a Newton, Massachusetts optometrist, Dr. Lawrence W. MacDonald, to a national committee post of the American Optometric Association is announced by Dr. Melvin B. Dunbar, AOA president.

Dr. MacDonald, 471 Washington st., Newton, has been renamed chairman of the asorthoptics and visual training.

The AOA committee reports developments and new educational material in visual training and practical optometry, collects data from practitioners and advises individual optometrists on controlled projects.

The American Optometric Association, headquartered in St. Louis, represents 14,000 practicing optometrists throughout the United States.

Newton Aids Open Heart Surgery Case

The Newton Chapter of the Red Cross played an important role in another case of open heart surgery — this one on the 12-year-old son of a former Newton resident who came from Manila so that the operation might be performed at Children's Hospital.

Availability of fresh blood is vital in the area of open heart surgery, and this becomes particularly important in cases where the patient comes from a far place.

The Newton Red Cross Chapter sought donors here, and met a prompt response. The young patient was David Phillips, son of Stanley Phillips, who moved from Newton to Manila in 1949, and brought his other three children back with David. The mother died in 1958.

At the age of two, David underwent his first heart surgery in Boston, and it was indicated then that further surgery would be required in 10 years. At that time there was no assurance that complete success could be promised.

Children's Hospital has designated the second operation as successful, with the boy now able to return to a normal life.

Following are those who donated blood:

Mrs. Charlotte deGregorio, Paul A. DeWulf, David Feldstein, eGorge Goldstein, Robert J. Green, John D. Hamilton, Mrs. Edith Hawkridge, Leo Levine, F. Stanley Litchman, Richard J. Lunney.

Also, Andrew J. Lynch, Charles McAllister, Richard I. Miranda, Montague Rubenstein, David T. Rubin, Herbert Schwartz, William Szathmary and Mrs. Louise Wheeler.

At Medicare Parley

Atty. Sidney R. Neustadt of 220 Boylston street, Chestnut Hill, and Daniel Donovan of 162 Oakleigh road, Newton, attended the recent Medicare Conference in Washington that was sponsored by the American Nursing Home Association.

Water Safety Demonstrated At Fessenden

Gilbert Champagne, water safety officer of the Newton Police Department made a big impression recently on the 350 campers and counselors of Fessenden Day Camp in West Newton.

It was his annual visit to talk about and demonstrate the rules of safety.

This year, he covered the 10 don't's of water safety, the use of swim fins, mask and snorkel. He also brought along a surf board and demonstrated its use in making rescues. Also he showed how the spare wheel and tire out of a car can be put to use as an emergency life preserver, and proved that it can support four adults in the water. Bill Leary assisted.

Lee Loumos Says:

The most difficult question I have to answer is "Should I repair my old TV set or buy a new one?" There is no correct answer but let me offer some common sense advice.

Last year, TV owners spent over two billion dollars just to maintain their present sets — about 500 million more than was spent on new sets! This suggests that too many sets were repaired and not enough junked. Before YOU spend big money to repair your old TV again, consider that it may be costing you more to maintain your present set than to own a new, modern one. Recent advances in electronic science as well as lower prices combine to obsolete your old set.

Theoretically, your TV will last almost forever, if you keep replacing enough parts. As a rule of thumb, when it is about five years old and needs costly shop repairs or major components, that would be the time to purchase a new set.

So, next time our serviceman has to give you the bad news that your set needs major repairs, ask him to deliver a modern, new COLOR TV to you, on trial while yours is being repaired. The big, bright, clear new picture you will see may convince you to purchase the new set rather than pay the repair bill.

Lime Used By Ancients Now In Big Demand

NEW YORK (UPI) — The plaster ceiling over your head, the concrete road under your wheels and the chalk on your blackboard have one thing in common — they all originated nearly 500 million years ago as shellfish.

The calcium in the remains of the marine animals settled and solidified to help form much of the limestone from which men make lime, a chemical with an ability to neutralize acids economically.

Lime similar to that used in Egyptian tombs, for bleaches by the Romans, and for a variety of necessities by the Aztecs and Incas, is more in demand now than ever before, according to Steelways, official publication of the American Iron and Steel Institute.

The magazine said the American lime industry is in the midst of its greatest expansion program, with steel-makers providing a major market for this new output. The lime industry trade association reports that 1500 tons of new daily capacity have come into operation in recent months while further kiln facilities to produce 7000 more tons daily are planned. In 1965 alone, the steel industry consumed more than 30 million tons of the stone and about 3 million tons of lime. Most of the steel industry's limestone is used in the blast furnaces which release iron from its ores.

The upsurge in demand for lime, however, has been triggered largely by the great increase in steelmaking by basic oxygen furnaces. These furnaces—in which a jet of high purity oxygen is forced into molten iron—take an average of more than 140 pounds of lime for each ton of steel made, compared with 25 to 30 pounds per ton used in the open hearth furnaces which still dominate in steel-making, as they have for half a century.

War-Destroyed Vienna Prater Is Merry Again

By GERD KRIWANKE
United Press International

VIENNA (UPI) — One of the best known landmarks of Vienna celebrates its 200th birthday this year.

The famous Vienna "Prater," 20 years ago a war-stricken area of debris and rubble under a looming giant ferris wheel, today is again what it had been for two centuries — one of the favorite recreation areas of the Austrian capital.

The triangle of woodland between two arms of the Danube is not only Vienna's Coney Island, but also a vast park with many sports facilities including a soccer stadium with 90,000 capacity, two horse racing tracks and a swimming pool.

Emperor Joseph II announced April 19, 1766 that the Prater, until then reserved for the court and the high nobility, would be open for the public. In the following two centuries the Prater became one of the centers of Viennese life.

Here many an Austrian girl fell in love for the first time. Here many thousands of children stared with enchanted eyes at the charms of the Coney Island atmosphere.

Here many a young lady drove in an open coach to show her new dress and to attract the attention of the male sex.

Here many a Viennese lost and won high sums in horse races.

Here many a soccer fan saw the match of his life.

The ferris wheel which dominates the area is much younger than the Prater, but will be 70 years next year. Nobody in Vienna could imagine the city without the dominating steel construction.

However, 20 years ago it seemed that the last hour of the Prater had come. Advancing Soviet troops were engaged in a fierce battle with the Germans who had built up the Prater as one of their last strongholds before retreating across the Danube. Fire destroyed the Coney Island attractions, mortar fire transformed the park area into a moon landscape.

It was here where dark post-war figures met to exchange information on black market tips. At this moment of deepest neglect British film producer Carol Reed made the Prater world famous: under the shell of the ferris wheel East and West agents met and fought their deadly battles in "The Third Man."

Nothing of the gruesome post-war atmosphere now remains. The Prater has regained its top role as tourist and recreation area.

West Coast Home For The Ernest Linford Andersons

Now making their home in Oakland, California, are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Linford Anderson (Susan Roberta Anderson), whose marriage was solemnized recently at the Sacred Heart Church, here.

Mrs. Robert L. Anderson of 30 Beverly road, Newton Highlands, and the late Mr. Anderson, are the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Linford L. Anderson of Dixon, Calif., are the groom's parents.

Officiating at the 11 o'clock double-ring ceremony was the Rt. Rev. George Sullivan. The Meadows in Framingham was the setting for the reception.

Mr. Robert York Anderson of Newton Highlands escorted his sister, whose traditional gown of silk organza was embellished with Alencon lace on the bodice, bell sleeves and skirt, entraine.

An orange blossom wreath was caught with her elbow-length illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of carnations, baby breath and ivy.

Ings - Scott Wedding At St. Paul's Episcopal Church

The marriage of Faith Marie Adams Scott to Pfc. Robert John Ings took place recently at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Newton Highlands.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Virginia B. Adams of 969 Boylston street, Newton Highlands. Mr. and Mrs. George F. Ings are the groom's parents.

Officiating at the 8 o'clock evening service were the Rev. Herbert Balcolm and the Rev. Paul G. Pitman. A reception was held at the church hall.

Given away by Mr. Craig Jennings of Hyde Park, the bride wore a full-length gown of peau de soie fashioned with a scoop neckline and long sleeves misted with Alencon lace appliques. The bouffant skirt terminated in a chapel-length train.

A matching headpiece held in place her illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a single orchid.

The bride's sister, Miss Christine A. Adams of Newton Highlands, was maid of honor.

Robert South of Braintree served as best man. The ushers were Eugene Piper of Newton and Arthur Rogers Jr., of Weymouth.

The couple left for a honeymoon in Marshfield. The bride, a graduate of Girls High School, Roxbury, attended the Massachusetts Bay Community College.

Mr. Ings, a graduate of Weymouth High School, attended Wentworth Institute, and is now serving with the Army.

Papal Blessing Given At Hannon - Foley Wedding

The marriage of Miss Patricia Anne Foley to 1st. Lt. John Thomas Hannon, U.S.A.F., took place recently at the Sacred Heart Church Newton Centre. Mr. and Mrs. Roger James nuptial Mass, performed the double-ring ceremony and read the Papal Blessing. The Coronet Room at the Hotel Somerset was the setting for the reception.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a white silk gown designed with a detachable train. The empire bodice and long sleeves were made of jeweled lace.

A double crown of crystals and seed pearls held in place her bouffant illusion veil. She carried traditional white flowers.

Miss Diane Therese Foley of Newton Highlands, sister of the bride, was honor maid. The bridesmaid was Mrs. Gary Jones of Melrose, sister of the groom. Miss Charlene Anne Foley of Newton Highlands was her sister's junior bridesmaid.

David Seabrook of Arlington served as best man. The ushers included Roger James Foley of Newton Highlands, brother of the bride, John Gannon of Watertown, cousin of the groom, and Gary Jones of Melrose, brother-in-law of the groom.

Cape Cod was the honeymoon destination of the Hannon's, who plan to live at the Selfridge Air Force Base in Detroit.

The bride will teach the first grade in Michigan in the fall. Lt. Hannon and his bride were both graduated from Boston College.

Juveniles Are Charged With Golf Club Break

Six Newton juveniles, charged with breaking and entering and larceny, Monday night, were turned over to their parents until the next juvenile session of court, Monday, July 25.

It was alleged that they took cases of soda pop, cigarettes, candy and crackers from Woodland Golf Club's snack shop.

When Patrolman Albert R. Flanagan saw the lads running along the tracks toward the Woodland station of the MBTA, he drove down the service road and discovered the loot on the ground. He then apprehended one youth at the Woodland station. A second stepped out of an MBTA car and was detained for questioning. Flanagan boarded the car and asked four more boys to step out. They admitted the break, police said.

Harvard Medical Alumni Bulletin Given Awards

The Harvard Medical Alumni Bulletin, of which Mrs. Patricia A. Moore of Waban is associate editor, received four Alumni Publication Awards at the annual meeting of the American Alumni Council at Greenbriar, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

The Bulletin is published by the Harvard Medical Alumni Association.

It received a Best Photograph of the Year Award for its Summer, 1965, issue; an Editorial Comment Award for "The Things About Yaws..." by Robert M. Goldwyn, M.D., in the Spring, 1966 issue; a Special Recognition Award for the article "Jack and the Beans" by George M. Vaillant, M.D., in the Fall, 1965 issue; and an Alumni Category Award for its overall Alumni coverage.

Rev. Lilly To Be Preacher For Union Service

The Rev. John R. Lilly, minister of the Newtonville Methodist Church, will preach at the Newton Union Summer Service next Sunday, July 24. The service will be held in the Union Church at Waban at 10 a.m. Mr. Clendenning Smith will be the organist and Paul W. Wiggins, tenor, will be the soloist.

The Rev. Lilly is a native of Melrose and grew up in the First Methodist Church of that city. He earned his B.A. degree at the University of Massachusetts in 1955 and the S.T.B. and M.A. degree from Boston University in 1958 and 1963, respectively.

When he was graduated from the School of Theology he was elected to Rosewell R. Robinson fellowship, for further study. He has had significant leadership in a wide variety of New England Conference positions. Some of his more important participation are in the Commission on Christian Social Concerns, a director of the Wesley Foundation at Amherst and Cambridge, the area committee on Chaplaincy for Industrial Relations, and has recently been elected Boston district director of Christian Education. He is chairman of the Committee on Church and Economic Life of the Massachusetts Council of Churches.

During the week of July 22nd through 28th, Rev. Lilly will be on call to provide pastoral care for the churches co-operating in the Union Services. He may be reached at 244-0275.

Program

stating that if such programs were developed, he would be 100 percent behind their implementation.

Introduced at the meeting were Joseph Matorana, newly appointed Program Development Director of Community Action Inc., Charles Walker a member of the staff of Community Action Inc. who will be working with the Council and Alan Hodson, a Harvard student working for the city under the college work-study program who will be aiding Mr. Walker.

Mr. Walker announced that Community Action Inc. has new headquarters at 313 Washington street. He stated anyone is welcome to come up and discuss any problems with him or to suggest any new programs for senior citizens that seem necessary.

The telephone number of Community Action Inc. is 969-4230. During the discussion at the meeting it was decided that three areas required surveying if good programs were to be developed.

1. What resources are presently available serving this age group; 2. What resources do the senior citizens have in training or time which might become available to the community; 3. An analysis for other cities programs.

It was decided that these subjects would be studied by sub-committees and reports would be given at the next meeting to be held Aug. 4, at 8 p.m. at 313 Washington street, Newton. Anyone wishing to attend this meeting is cordially invited.

Mrs. Scott To Be Advisor To MIT Student Wives

Mrs. Peter R. Scott of 165 Grant ave., Newton Centre, has been asked to serve as Matron Advisor for the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Dames for the academic year 1966-67.

Mrs. Scott is a member of the Matrons' Organization at M.I.T., a group made up of women whose husbands are employed at the institute and of women who have worked there. The M.I.T. Dames is the student wives' organization.

The mother of four children, Mrs. Scott is also an avid gardener and reader and finds the time to work a few hours a week in an elementary school library.

Urges

One trademark of professionals, he added, is that the contents of bureau and desk drawers are dumped on the bed or floor to speed up the search for money or jewels. Professionals also make an immediate search for metal cash boxes on shelves and floors of closets and usually rifle the contents of hope chests and filing cabinets.

These, then, are obviously poor places in which to hide valuables since they are the first places the professional burglar is going to search, he said.

Edward Wexler Rewarded For His Competence

Edward Wexler, 28 Sky View cir., Newton Centre, Street Assessor for the city of Boston, recently attained the designation Certified Assessment Evaluator from the International Association of Assessing Officers.

Realizing that the fair appraisal and assessment of property for tax purposes requires a high level of competence, the Association instituted the CAE program in order to raise the standards of assessing personnel. The designation can be earned only by members of IAAO who by experience and examination have demonstrated a thorough knowledge and understanding of assessment practices and procedures as well as the fundamentals of real estate appraising.

Mr. Wexler is graduate of Harvard College and Boston College Law School and has attended courses I and II in the appraisal of real estate sponsored by the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers. He is a member of the Society of Residential Appraisers, the Massachusetts Assessor Association and the Boston Assessors Association.

Capt. T. H. Platt Is Awarded Pilot Wings

Captain Thomas H. Platt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard B. Platt, 49 Fordham road, West Newton, has been awarded U. S. Air Force silver pilot wings upon graduation at Moody AFB, Ga.

Captain Platt, who was commissioned in 1960 through the aviation cadet program, has served in Vietnam in the fight against Communist aggression. He has the Air Force Commendation Medal and the Air Medal with six oak leaf clusters.

The captain, a graduate of Newton High School, attended Boston University.

Waban Skipper Scores Well

Erving S. Pfau of 1412 Beacon street, Waban, accumulated 152 1/2 points to come in fourth in the first sailing series of the Lake Cochituate Sailing Club last Sunday.

The second series of races will be held next Sunday, July 24, and all Sailfish and Sunfish skippers are invited to join the club members at Wayland Town Beach for an afternoon of fun.

The club's headquarters are at 1412 Beacon street, Waban.

Greets Council For The Aged

Camp For Handicapped Children Open To Aug. 12

The summer recreational program for physically handicapped and mentally retarded children officially started recently for the sixth season and will continue daily to August 12. Recreation Commissioner John B. Penney announced today.

The outdoor camp program will be conducted at the Peabody School on Brookline street, Newton Centre. Also, two class rooms for lunches, rest periods, rainy day indoor activities and toilet facilities have been made available by the Newton School Department.

This program is made possible under the General Laws of the Commonwealth, whereby the state will share with the local community in the cost of the program. All phases of the program must be approved by the Division of Special Education of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

The Recreation Department announces the following instructors for the program this year:

Roger D. Mazur, graduate of Boston University, School of Education, Bachelor of Science in Special Education for Mentally Retarded. Has had experience in Special Education with the Boston Public Schools and the Braintree School Department.

Miss Jane G. Shuster, graduate of Boston University School of Education, Bachelor of Science in Special Education for Mentally Retarded. Miss Shuster worked at the Peabody Summer Day Camp in 1964 as an assistant leader. Last summer she was employed at Crystal Run Camp for mentally retarded children, in New York.

Miss Nancy G. Corman of Newton Centre, a junior at Boston University, studying for a career in special education. Last summer she was employed at the Camp as an assistant leader. Miss Corman will act as assistant to the two chief instructors.

The Newton Recreation Department has received excellent cooperation in organizing and planning for this program from the State Department of Special Education, the Massachusetts Association for Retarded Children and Miss Margaret M. Otto of the Division of Counseling Services of the Newton School Department.

The program last year was enthusiastically accepted by the parents and children alike. Thirty children have enrolled for each session during the present six week program.

Lunches will not be prepared and served at the Day Camp. Each child will be expected to bring his or her complete lunch each day. There will be a compulsory rest period for the children each day. There will be a Parents' Visiting Day during the season. In order to properly develop a program helpful and valuable to the children, parents will not be permitted to visit the grounds except on the visiting day.

We believe our program to be worth while and a most rewarding experience for the children who attend.

This year volunteer assistants will help with the program again. The following have volunteered their services: The Misses Margie Shaer, Carol Rosoff, Ellen Zimbel, Susan Carp, Barbara Paul, Paula Elitov, Linda Ginsberg.

Patrick F. McDonald
A solemn high mass of requiem for Patrick Francis McDonald, 75, of 231 Waverly Avenue, Newton, industrialist and prominent Catholic layman, was celebrated Wednesday, July 20, in St. Ignatius Church, Chestnut Hill.
Mr. McDonald died July 17 in Holy Ghost Hospital, Cambridge.

He was president of the P. F. McDonald Steel Company of Boston and chairman of the board of P. F. McDonald & Sons Company, Inc.
A native of Boston, he was graduated from Boston College, class of 1911, and was one of the first trustees of Boston College School of Business Administration. Also, he was on the advisory board of Newton College of the Sacred Heart. He was awarded an honorary degree from Merrimack College in 1954.

Active in church work, he was awarded the highest honor that can be bestowed on a layman, the Pro Ecclesia Et Pontificia Medal. It was conferred on him by Pope Pius XII. He also received the St. Gregory and Knight of Malta Medals.
He was a traveling companion of Archbishop Cushing, accompanying him to Rome when the Archbishop was elevated to Cardinal.

He was a veteran of World War I, and his public service included the presidency and trusteeship of the Boston Public Library, a term as director of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, and a term as chairman of the Boston Sinking Fund Commission.
He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Peter (Anne-Marie) MacLellan, and six grandchildren.
Burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Antonia Arduino
A solemn high mass of requiem for Mrs. Antonia (Senatore) Arduino, 96, of 393 Langley road, Newton Centre, a resident of Newton Centre for 65 years, was offered Wednesday, July 20, in Sacred Heart Church.
A native of Aquila, Italy, Mrs. Arduino died July 16 in a nursing home after a long illness.
She was a member of the San Giovanni Society of Newton Centre.
She leaves five grandchildren; 18 great-grandchildren; two brothers, Antonio Senatore of Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Domenis Senatore of Florence, Colo., and a sister, Mrs. Filomena Polino, also of Florence, Colo.
Burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Wilfred H. Sampson
A funeral mass for Wilfred H. Thompson, 70, of 229 Auburn street, Auburndale, a retired painter, was offered Saturday, July 16, in Corpus Christi Church.
A native of L'Ardoise, Nova Scotia, and a Newton resident for 40 years, Mr. Sampson died July 14 in Newton-Wellesley Hospital after a short illness.
He was a member of Newton Council, Knights of Columbus.
Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Helen B. (LeBlanc) Sampson; two daughters, Mrs. Theresa B. Jassett of Framingham and Mrs. Rita A. Able of Auburndale; three sons, Wilfred H. Sampson, Jr., of Framingham, Herman J. of Marlboro and James B. of Milford, Conn.; two sisters, Miss Annabel Sampson and Mrs. Alma Black, both of Toronto, Ont., and 21 grandchildren.
Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

Marian L. Prouty
Services for Mrs. Marian L. Prouty, 76, of 63 Nehoiden road, Waban, were held Wednesday, July 20, in Union Church, Waban.
A Newton resident for 53 years, Mrs. Prouty, the former Marial L. Aldrich, died July 18 in a Newtonville nursing home.
She was a member of the Union Church and the Waban Woman's Club. She was a graduate of Wheaton College and the Faelten School of Music.
Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Joseph B. Hoyt of Woodridge, Conn., and Mrs. Fowler B. Cole of Ipswich, and a son, Aldrich D. Prouty of Auburndale.

Claude B. Leard
Graveside services in Newton Cemetery for Claude B. Leard, 73, of 20 Freeman St., Auburndale, were conducted Saturday, July 9, by the Rev. John Balcom, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Newton Highlands.
Mr. Leard, a native of Prince Edward Island and a Newton resident for 42 years, died July 6 in Newton-Wellesley Hospital after a brief illness.
He was a retired purchasing agent for Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and a member of Fraternity Lodge, AF and AM.
He leaves his wife, Mrs. Emma (Benoit) Laird.

Arthur W. Kimbell
A high mass of requiem for Arthur W. Kimbell, 76, of 21 Vista Avenue, Auburndale, honorary chairman of the board of United Carr, Inc., was offered Tuesday, July 19, in Corpus Christi Church.
Mr. Kimbell, who stayed in Sarasota, Fla., winters, and at Squam Lake, N. H., summers, died July 16 in Phillips House of Massachusetts General Hospital.
A native of Chicago, he earned his B.S. degree in civil engineering at the University of Illinois in 1913. In 1918 he founded the Cinch Manufacturing Corporation and was its president and treasurer until 1929, when he became vice president, director and general manager of United-Carr Fastener Company, which absorbed the Chicago company.
He became president and general manager of United-Carr in 1942, then chairman of the board in 1957, serving in that capacity until he became honorary chairman in 1960.
He was a director of Reed and Barton Company, a trustee of the Illinois Institute of Technology, a member of the executive committee of Associated Industries of Massachusetts and of the Society of Automotive Engineers.
He was a director of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and of the Massachusetts Heart Association, and a member of Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Xi, Algonquin Club, Brae Burn Country Club and the Faculty Club at Harvard.
Mr. Kimbell had invented a number of fasteners and mechanical specialties.
Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Alice (Raymer) Kimbell of Chicago; a son, Arthur K. Kimbell of Newton Highlands, and two daughters, Mrs. George M. Schutter of West Newton and Miss Mary Ann Kimbell of Cincinnati.
The private burial was in Newton Cemetery.

Rt. Rev. Burgess Is California Bishop Nominee

The Rt. Rev. John M. Burgess, 57, of 46 Berwick rd., Newton Centre, the first Negro Episcopal bishop in the United States, has been nominated to the Rt. Rev. James A. Pike, who resigned as bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of California.

The suffragan bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts, Burgess was described by the Rev. Robert W. Comey of St. Caiden's Church in San Francisco, the man who submitted his name to the California Diocese, as "a very capable man as pastor and administrator, capabilities which candidates for Bishop of California should have, and he would make a fine bishop in his own right," said Father Comey.

The 23-member nominating committee will present the names of candidates to a Sept. 13 meeting of clergy and laity which will elect Pike's successor.

Bishop Burgess attended the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge. He was formerly canon of the Washington Cathedral and later elevated to Archdeacon of Boston. He was appointed bishop in 1962.

HONORS INSURED—Thomas J. White of 85 Bigelow Rd., West Newton, right, received the congratulations of Massachusetts Insurance Commissioner C. Eugene Farnum after the commissioner granted a certificate of authority to the State Street Life Insurance Company. White is a director and one of the principal organizers of the new company which is the first in New England to be organized on the principle of agent ownership.

Volunteers For Summer Work At Hospital

Paul S. Klotzle, 53 Edward road West Newton, has volunteered this summer to serve as leader of the five-member Institutional Service Unit sponsored by the Unitarian Universalist Service Committee at the Mendocino State Hospital in Talmage, Calif.

In its second year in this project, UUSC is providing volunteers who will serve as specialized caseworkers in the geriatrics division of the hospital. They will assist arriving elderly patients through an orientation program, as well as working with those about to leave the hospital. With this additional staff, the hospital will be able to provide much needed personal attention for individual patients during the summer.

In the United States, summer programs are located in community centers in low income areas in Chicago, Boston and Newark, N.J. UUSC staff volunteers also serve at mental hospitals in Kentucky and California, and are participating for the first time this year in a project with the Passama-

PETER A. KERR

Peter A. Kerr Seeks Seat In Exec. Council

Peter A. Kerr of Hyde Park, brother of Monsignor George V. Kerr, chaplain of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, this week announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the second councillor district.

That district is presently represented by Councillor Margaret M. Heckler who is giving up her Council post to run for Congress.

Kerr, a Boston attorney and the father of five children, is married to the former Marie T. O'Leary of Cambridge.

He is a graduate of St. Mary's High School in Brookline, Boston College and Boston College Law School and has been admitted to practice before the Massachusetts and Federal Bars.

A veteran, Kerr served in the Coast Guard during World War II. He was stationed in the European Arctic area, performing convoy duty and anti-submarine patrols in the North Atlantic. He is now a lieutenant commander in the Coast Guard Reserve.

Kerr is a member of the Knights of Columbus and the Holy Name Society.

Active in Democratic affairs, he was a delegate to the Democratic State Conventions in 1958 and 1960.

He has been prominent in numerous charitable and community endeavors.

"During the campaign ahead I will endeavor to show the voters of the second councillor district that I have the qualifications and the ability to serve them well in the Charter

A major change on which Newton residents would have been called upon to vote would have been a suggested increase in the term of the Mayor from two to four years.

"In December of 1965 I joined with others to sponsor a bill that would submit on referendum to the voters of Newton certain proposed changes in the Newton City Charter," Fishman told the committee on municipal finance. "This proposed legislation was designated as House No. 2876 and is the subject of this hearing."

"As one of the sponsors of this bill, it has always been my position that H.2876 was to be considered as a vehicle for changes in the Newton Charter to be determined by a thorough study," Fishman continued. "It was understood that the bill would be amended at a later time to reflect community viewpoints based on such a study."

"Since last December there has ensued considerable discussion and debate of proposed Charter changes by interested groups in Newton," Fishman pointed out.

"Recently the Newton League of Women Voters announced plans for a study project of the Newton Charter for its new organizational year."

"The legislative Committee of the Newton Board of Aldermen has been considering this matter for several months, but their report a few weeks ago requested more time for a adequate review of the charter," Fishman asserted.

In addition, the proposed Home Rule Amendment to the Massachusetts Constitution will be on the ballot in November for ratification by the voters. This amendment would materially affect the method of altering city charters, giving the communities this prerogative.

"For these reasons and because I believe that time should be given for further study, I hereby withdrew my sponsorship of this bill and record myself at this hearing as respectfully requesting leave to withdraw H.2876 from further consideration," Fishman concluded.

Governor's Council," Kerr stated.

"I believe my legal training would be of value in that body and that I can be of real service to the people in this councillor district," he declared.

Jaywalkers

On the books since April 23, 1964, the "Pedestrian Control Law" has never been rigidly enforced for a number of reasons. Those reasons are soon to be eliminated.

"First," stated Capt. Richard F. Donahue of the Newton Police Department's Traffic Bureau, "it will be necessary to educate the public to the new system of pedestrian control. This will be done through printed matter and notification through every channel available to us."

"We expect co-operation on the part of the public," he said, "and we will make every effort to see to it that everyone knows the law and is sufficiently well informed as to the date when we will start to press enforcement."

A second reason for the delay in enforcing the jaywalk law has been the absence of the new "Walk" and "Don't Walk" signs from Newton's busier intersections. This reason, too, is no longer valid.

Newton Public Works Commissioner Willard C. Pratt reported that a number of the new traffic-pedestrian lights are already functioning in the city with others under construction and still more contracted for.

The new lights now functioning are located throughout the Newton Corner Interchange of the Massachusetts Turnpike, along Washington street at the intersections of Church street, Walnut street, Lowell avenue, Elm street, Perkins street, at the West Newton off-ramp, and along the turnpike at Auburn, Central and Grove streets.

New lights are also operating at the intersections of Commonwealth avenue and Washington street, Cherry and Derby streets, Cherry and Webster streets, Crafts and North streets, and Watertown and Capital streets.

Under construction are lights at California and Jasset streets, and Wheeler road and Parker street.

Appropriations have been approved for signals at Chestnut and Woodward streets, and at the intersection of Ward street, Waverly avenue, and Stuart road.

The law presently on the books reads:

"Pedestrians shall obey the directions of police officers directing traffic and whenever there is an officer directing traffic, a control signal or a marked crosswalk within 300 feet of a pedestrian, no such pedestrian shall cross a way or roadway except within the limits of a marked crosswalk as hereinafter provided in these regulations."

Attends Modern Math Sessions

Maureen Murphy of 14 Llewellyn rd., West Newton, is attending the Boston College Mathematics Institute for high school mathematics teachers.

The Institute is sponsored by the college and the National Science Foundation, and is conducted by the Rev. Stanley Bezuska, S.J., a pioneer in modern mathematics programs.

The eight-week session is designed to assist the high school teachers in the presentation of modern math to their high school students, and to update their knowledge on the subject.

MAKES MEDICARE OFFICIAL — William S. Brines, left, director of Newton-Wellesley Hospital, okays positioning of plaque in hospital's admitting office by Alfred T. Cunningham of Newton, Social Security Field Representative. Plaque officially indicates the approval of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare for the participation of the 260-bed teaching hospital in the Medicare program.

One-Third N-W Hospital Care to Medicare Patients

Newton-Wellesley Hospital officials said today that approximately one-third of the patient care services at the hospital are devoted to persons 65 or over — that is, eligible under the Medicare program.

However, they pointed out, this marks no abrupt increase in the patient care work load because patients in this age bracket have always accounted for approximately that percentage of the hospital's population. The difference is noticeable only in administration where the birth of Medicare on July 1 brought with it a very noticeable increase in the paperwork connected with the new program.

Still, as Assistant Director Edwin J. Robinson warned, this is still not a valid barometer of what is to come. July and August are not usually months which see the greatest threat to the elderly population. The winter months with their snow, ice, cold and wind bring a sharp increase in injuries and illnesses among the senior citizenry and it will be during these months when Medicare will really get its baptism of fire.

When the new program went into effect on July 1, there were 70 patients 65 years of age or older in the hospital. Since that time there have been 50 admissions and some discharges. These figures represent no deviation from the normal for this time of year. Most of the patients now eligible under the Medicare program were formerly covered by Blue Cross, private hospitalization insurance or workmen's compensation insurance.

In short, the difference is administrative. First, one form must be made out by the hospital and signed by the patient and then forwarded to the Medicare administration for reimbursement.

Separate applications must be filled in for hospital and physician services. Extras not related directly to patient care such as television and telephone charges must be billed directly to the patient as they are not covered under the insurance program.

Even more to come. The elderly patient is responsible for the first $50 in costs. Medicare takes over the next 60 days. Then for the next 30 days, the patient pays the first $10 per day with the insurance program taking up the balance. However, that $10 a day may be covered by other insurance program for which forms must be made out, signed and submitted.

Since older people tend to suffer from diseases and injuries which require longer than average hospitalization, this system becomes a most complex one.

And wait til winter comes!

No Lack Of Opposition At Filling Station Hearings

Objections were voiced to three of six petitions heard jointly by the Aldermanic Committee on Claims and Rules and the Planning Board last Monday night in City Hall.

In one of those that met with opposition, Tidewater Oil Company sought modification of restrictions imposed in March of 1963 by the Board of Aldermen on the gasoline selling and service station at 964 Boylston st., Newton Highlands.

Atty. Lawrence Shubow of Boston, representing the three petitioners, William A. Conte, owner of the premises, Tidewater Oil Company, operator of the station, and Anthony Signore, the station's lessee, requested removal of a restriction under which the station's lights were ordered shielded. The station is operated 24 hours a day, he explained, and because of the shielding, motorists approaching on Boylston st. from the direction of Worcester cannot tell whether the premises are open in the early morning hours.

Atty. Shubow declared that because of other restrictions, the lessee was prevented from keeping a can of radiator water or a container of battery water on the pump island. Also, he claimed, a coke vending machine cannot be installed in view of customers, and he wanted permission to display a rack of tires and windshield blades, and to fly a small advertising banner over the pumps.

Questioning the attorney relative to the need for better illumination, Alderman Melvin J. Dangel expressed the opinion that the station was one of the most brightly lighted in the city.

At one point in the hearing, Alderman Franklin N. Flaschner, acting chairman of Claims and Rules, who conducted the session, denied that any restrictions that had been imposed prevented the placing of a water can on the pump island.

Speaking in opposition to removal of restrictions were John J. Tedeschi of 961 Boylston st. and Harold A. Bailey Sr., 955 Boylston st.

Tedeschi charged that removal of the light shields would cause the lights to shine directly into his home and the homes in the immediate vicinity. An advertising banner would tend to degrade the residential area, he said.

Mr. Bailey, whose home is directed across from the station, said he couldn't see that it needed any more signs, and added that those in use were perfectly visible.

Angelo Farina sought permission to construct a small addition to his service station at 320 Watertown st., Newton, to enable him to inspect cars during the semi-annual periods in which inspection is required by the state. He said the premises had parking space that could accommodate 12 cars awaiting inspection.

Elizabeth A. Quirk presented opposition to the petition, saying that construction of the addition might cause her to lose control of a right of way to houses on Cook st., one of which she owned. Actually, she said, she would like to cooperate with Mr. Farina, but she just wanted assurance that her right of way would not be lost. Farina gave her that assurance.

There were several objectors to a petition seeking permission for establishment of a parking lot for passenger cars on land adjoining 706 Beacon st., Newton Centre, for use of customers and employees of establishments on land owned by Hugo L. Separini. The businesses, tenants of Separini's shopping center, are a Volvo and Rambler agency and Holly Cleaners.

Atty. Ernest G. Angevine, a former member of the Board of Aldermen, represented the owner of the premises and the proprietors of the businesses. He declared that the cleaning establishment and Brown Motors, Inc., the Volvo and Rambler agency, had trouble retaining their employees because they could not park the cars in which they came to work anywhere in the vicinity. The employees, he said, as well as customers who came to look at new and used cars, frequently found their cars tagged for illegal parking nearby.

According to Angevine, it was essential that parking space be provided for 40 cars. Replying to questions put to him by members of the Board of Aldermen, Separini said he had no intention of allowing use of the proposed parking area as a used car lot.

Angevine asserted that a Brown Motors, Inc., is the largest Volvo agency in Newton, and is growing. Asked whether the parking area might prove too small should the growth continue, he said that in that event, the company would probably drop its Rambler agency.

First to voice opposition to the petition was Walter E. Young, a practicing dentist for 50 years, whose office is within 200 yards of the proposed parking area.

Another objector was Dr. Leonard J. Sibley, senior obstetrician at Newton-Wellesley Hospital, who also practices obstetrics from an office at 723 Beacon st., near the proposed parking area. He said he objected to the neighborhood's becoming a "jungle of Detroit steel," that would make it difficult for pregnant women to park their cars within walking distance of his office.

Other opponents were Atty. William J. Puccerella, who said he represented two long-time residents of the neighborhood; Mrs. Marguerite Gray of 86 Dalton rd., Newton Centre, and Weston Jackson of 686 Beacon st.

There was no opposition to a petition of MacNeil Realty Trust seeking a zone change to Manufacturing District for land now zoned in the rear of 225 Riverview ave., West Newton, a site comprising some 17,650 square feet.

Nor was there opposition to a petition of Paul D. Borrelli of Needham for permission to erect two apartment buildings at Chestnut and Elliot sts., Newton Upper Falls. He was represented by Atty. Hector D. Scull of Needham. The attorney described the proposed houses as two and a half stories each, and containing a total of 46 apartments. Each building, he said, would have 11 two-bedroom apartments renting at $180 each, and 12 one-bedroom apartments renting at $155 each.

Sufficient parking space for the tenants is provided in the plans, Atty. Scull explained.

Speaking in favor of the petition was Robert M. Young, 48 River ave., Newton Upper Falls, who recorded the Newton Upper Falls Civic Association, of which he is president, as being favorable.

Five Newton residents are among 27 members of the faculty of Medicine at Harvard who have been promoted to assistant professorships.

They are:

Dr. Mary Louise Efron, to assistant professor of Neuro-pathology with offices and laboratories at Massachusetts General Hospital. Married and the mother of three children, Dr. Efron lives in Chestnut Hill. She received a B.A. from Barnard College in 1947 and an M.D. cum laude from Harvard Medical School in 1951.

Dr. Martin Howard Flax, to assistant professor of Pathology with offices and laboratories at Massachusetts General Hospital. Dr. Flax is also a Research Career Development Awardee of the U.S. Public Health Service. He received his A.B. from Cornell in 1946, a Ph.D. from Columbia in 1951, and the M.D. degree from the University of Chicago in 1955. His home is in Waban.

Dr. Irwin M. Freedberg, to assistant professor of Dermatology. He was a Fellow of the Medical foundation in 1962-65, and is American Cancer Society Faculty Research Associate. He completed his undergraduate work at Dartmouth in 1952, and received the M.D. degree from Harvard in 1956. He is a resident of Newton Centre.

Dr. Henery Maurice Goodman, to assistant professor of Physiology. In 1957-60, he was a Predoctoral Research Fellow National Cancer Institute U.S. Public Health Service. He received an A.B. degree from Brandeis in 1956, and the Ph.D. from Harvard in 1960. He is a Newton resident.

Dr. Robert Gunter Spiro, to assistant professor of Biological Chemistry. He is also an associate director of the Elliot P. Joslin Research Laboratory. A native of Berlin, Germany, he received an A.B. with honors from Columbia in 1951, and the M.D. cum laude from the State University of New York, College of Medicine at Syracuse in 1955. He is a resident of Newtonville.

Dr. Robert L. Sullivan, formerly manager of Systems Research and Development at the Baystate Computer Center in Waltham, has been named a vice president of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company, it has been announced by president Nathan I. Greene.

Mr. Sullivan, who will be in charge of the bank's Data Processing Services has had wide background experience in this field.

He graduated from Boston College in 1951 with a Degree of Bachelor of Science in Business Administration. He then joined the auditing staff of the Provident Institution for Savings and participated in the bank's automation study and was responsible for all operations of the Machine Accounting Department.

In 1958 Mr. Sullivan accepted the position as assistant treasurer with the Norfolk County Trust Company and was responsible for the planning, conversion and operation of several of the bank's applications to its automated equipment.

In 1962, he joined the Baystate Computer Center in Waltham which was then forming. It was organized by nine Massachusetts banks, including the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company, who pooled their resources to form a Data Processing Service Corporation which would utilize two large scale electronic computers to do bank accounting. Mr. Sullivan, his wife Jacqueline and their two children reside in Stoughton.

"Life" is the subject for this week's Sunday services in all Christian Science churches. The Bible Lesson-Sermon includes the account of Jesus raising Jairus' daughter from the dead (Mark 5).

The Golden Text is from John: "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent."

Readings from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include this passage: "The way is straight and narrow, which leads to the understanding that God is the only Life. It is a warfare with the flesh, in which we must conquer sin, sickness, and death, either here or hereafter, — certainly before we can reach the goal of Spirit, or life in God."

Highlands Man Named Boston Branch Manager

Richard J. Bradley, 37, of 38 Lakewood rd., Newton Highlands, has been appointed Boston Branch manager of Omak Industries, Inc., an international manufacturer of cutting and fastening products and systems with headquarters in Portland, Ore.

A general line sales representative for Omak since 1958, Mr. Bradley had previously been a distributor of the Omak product line.

In his new position, Bradley will be responsible for construction products sales in New England. Omak's Boston branch office is situated at Southwest Industrial Park, Route 1, Westwood.

Local Men In Program To Employ Youths

Joseph Vilimas, Jr., 67 Marlboro st., Newton, executive director of the John F. Kennedy Family Service Center, Inc., Charlestown, announces that the U.S. Department of Labor has selected the Center for execution of a special experimental summer youth counseling and employment program.

The Kennedy Center was one of a few organizations across the country to participate in this special experimental youth project, which is a part of President Johnson's overall summer youth program.

"President Johnson," Mr. Vilimas noted, "has urged that concentrated attention be given to vocational counseling tied in with useful summer work experience. The experiment in Charlestown will be used to develop guidelines for strengthening future youth employment programs designed to help America's youth prepare for careers in the world of work."

Director of the project is John T. Gardner, 30 Rice st., Newton Centre, administrator and teacher in the public schools of Newton. He is a graduate of Boston University and Boston College, where he specialized in elementary education, administration and supervision.

Approximately 150 high school students between the ages of 16 and 21 will participate in the program at the Center. Emphasis will be placed on employment of high school students and drop-outs. They will be employed in private industry and public agencies.

Local Students Have Left On A U. S. Caravan

A group of Newton junior high and high school students have left from Mrs. Polly Epstein's, 80 Olde Field road, Newton Centre, for an eight-week caravan across the United States.

They will visit points of historical and scenic interest in additions to museums, universities and national parks.

Mrs. Epstein is offering three study programs in four academic fields this year, with students visiting Spain, Germany, Switzerland and Mexico.

Those participating in the caravan include Mark Weiner of Waban, Allen Gopen of West Newton and Ronald Volk, Glen Carpenter, Nan Rossman, Elisabeth Edinberg, Cindy Nason and Stephen Sellinger, all of Newton.

This summer, Mrs. Epstein will interview families in Switzerland relative to a cultural exchange program next summer, when Newton students will live with Swiss-French families.

Robert Sullivan Vice President Of Newton Trust

Robert L. Sullivan, formerly manager of Systems Research and Development at the Baystate Computer Center in Waltham, has been named a vice president of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company, it has been announced by president Nathan I. Greene.

Mr. Sullivan, who will be in charge of the bank's Data Processing Services has had wide background experience in this field.

He graduated from Boston College in 1951 with a Degree of Bachelor of Science in Business Administration. He then joined the auditing staff of the Provident Institution for Savings and participated in the bank's automation study and was responsible for all operations of the Machine Accounting Department.

In 1958 Mr. Sullivan accepted the position as assistant treasurer with the Norfolk County Trust Company and was responsible for the planning, conversion and operation of several of the bank's applications to its automated equipment.

In 1962, he joined the Baystate Computer Center in Waltham which was then forming. It was organized by nine Massachusetts banks, including the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company, who pooled their resources to form a Data Processing Service Corporation which would utilize two large scale electronic computers to do bank accounting. Mr. Sullivan, his wife Jacqueline and their two children reside in Stoughton.

'BLACK PANTHERS' BLAMED FOR RIOTS

CLEVELAND'S RECENT racial riots were systematically planned by a 200-member gang known as the "Black Panthers," a 17-year-old Cleveland youth reportedly told a grand jury Wednesday.

The boy allegedly gave the jury names of plotters and supplied dates and meeting places where acts of violence were planned. He said he had seen Molotov cocktails made, he named the makers, and admitted that he had thrown some firebombs himself, the Cleveland Press reported.

Cleveland Mayor Frank Lausche charged earlier that the rioting and looting in Cleveland and other cities "are part of a national conspiracy executed by experts."

CAN SPECK ESCAPE KILLING TRIAL?

A CHICAGO criminal law expert said Wednesday that Richard Speck, indicted for the massacre of eight young nurses, could go free on an insanity plea even if he admitted he committed an "act" of murder. There is even a possibility that Speck, 24, could avoid trial entirely, attorney Howard Newcomb Morse said.

Morse consulting attorney for the American Medical Association and former De Paul University law professor, said Speck could make an admission and still go free if his lawyer, Public defender Gerald Getty, convinced the court that Speck was legally insane at the time of the killings, but had since regained his sanity.

Speck could avoid trial, Morse said, if his lawyer filed a pre-trial petition declaring his client "criminally mentally incompetent" and unfit to stand trial, and convinced the court that Speck was incompetent. Arraignment of Speck is scheduled for Monday.

SENATE OK'S $792 MILLION FOREIGN AID

THE U.S. SENATE passed a $792 million, one-year foreign military aid bill Wednesday after slashing $100 million from the amount recommended by its Foreign Relations Committee.

Passage came shortly after the Senate rejected an amendment to cut $250 million from the $892 million total. But it then voted, 55 to 37, for the $100 million reduction.

President Johnson originally asked a $917 million arms aid authorization for five years. The Foreign Relations Committee trimmed it to $792 million for only one year.

TED KENNEDY LASHED BY EASTLAND

SEN. JAMES O. EASTLAND, (D-Miss.), Wednesday sharply criticized Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, (D-Mass.), for agreeing to speak at the Southern Christian Leadership Conference convention in Jackson, Miss., Aug. 8.

The chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, on which Kennedy serves, charged that the convention of Rev. Martin Luther King's organization was "nothing more than an attempt to move national publicity away from the riots, murders and looting occurring in Cleveland, Chicago, Brooklyn, Los Angeles, Omaha and other cities."

U. S. DELAYS AIR STRIKE ACTION

THE JOHNSON administration proposed Wednesday that Congress order airline negotiators "back to the woodshed" and set a deadline for progress toward ending the costly, 20-day-old strike.

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz suggested to the Senate Labor Committee that negotiators should be given through Friday, and perhaps next weekend, to move toward an agreement.

Wirtz said the strike against five major airlines was not a national emergency but could become one later.

2 MORE U. S. WARPLANES DOWNED

COMMUNISTS shot down two U.S. warplanes Wednesday as American pilots struck new blows against North Vietnam's war machine. Helicopters rescued all three downed crewmen.

In the south, guerrilla forces staged a series of hit-and-run attacks against U.S. and Vietnamese facilities. They returned to the headquarters complex of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division, 18 miles northwest of Saigon and launched a 25-minute mortar barrage and also lobbed mortar rounds into the U.S. air base at Soc Trang in the Mekong Delta about 90 miles southwest of Saigon.

VOLPE PRODS HUB SCHOOL BOARD

GOV. VOLPE Wednesday urged the Boston School Committee to produce an acceptable plan for ending racial imbalance in the city's schools.

"I deplore the delay in reaching and agreement between the city and state in this area. I hope sound heads come to agreement shortly and those on the city side recognize there is a state law that is going to have to be met," Volpe said.

TRAVELING ARSENAL HINTED IN HOLDUPS

A TRAVELLING ARSENAL, believed based in New York, may have provided bandits with two submachine guns used during a $68,000 robbery of an armored truck, officials disclosed Wednesday.

Two guards were wounded and a crowded Veterans Administration hospital was sprayed with bullets during Tuesday's holdup by three gunmen.

The "arsenal" reportedly supplies the weapons either for a flat rental fee or for a percentage of the loot. After the heist is completed, the guns are returned to the gangland supply house, officials said.

LIQUOR SAVINGS LAW PROPOSED

GOV. VOLPE filed special legislation Wednesday designed to make the retail cost of liquor in Massachusetts competitive with the low liquor prices in New Hampshire.

The governor asked the legislature to pass an "affirmation law" which would require distillers to sell liquor to Massachusetts wholesalers at a price no higher than the lowest price anywhere in the country. He said his proposal would reduce the cost of a $6 bottle of liquor by 25 cents.

Volpe said a report prepared by Quintan J. Cristy, chairman of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission, indicates Massachusetts wholesalers could save $12 million annually if they could purchase liquor at the same price as the New Hampshire Liquor Authority.

BRITISH LABOR BACKS WILSON PROGRAM

BRITISH LABOR leaders Wednesday night swung behind Prime Minister Harold Wilson in his fight to save the pound, and endorsed a six-month wage and price freeze.

Wilson vitally needed a union agreement to hold back on wage demands to ensure success for his emergency austerity measures. The influential Trades Union Congress Council voted 20 to 12 to back the government with reservations.

WILSON FLIES TO MEET JOHNSON

PRIME MINISTER Harold Wilson flies to Washington today to confer with President Johnson on possible Viet Nam peace moves and Britain's embattled economy.

The British leader's reception is likely to be less cordial than usual because of the Labor government's disassociation with American bombing raids on oil installations near Hanoi and Haiphong. However, sources said, Wilson will assure the President of his continued qualified support despite mounting opposition from left-wing laborites.

NATO AT IMPASSE ON FRENCH TROOPS

THE UNITED STATES and its NATO allies admitted they had reached a complete deadlock with France Wednesday after a meeting to try to reach some compromise on the future status of French troops in Germany. French troops were withdrawn from NATO command July 1. Discussions were recessed until September.

Propose Multi-Million $ Plan for Newton Corner

Negotiations are being held on tentative plans for the erection of a multi-million dollar air rights development over the Massachusetts Turnpike at Newton Corner.

If tentative plans materialize and are carried through to completion, they would produce between $13.5 and $15.5 million worth of new property.

A conference on the matter is scheduled for today between Turnpike Authority Chairman John T. Driscoll and officials of the Urban Development Corporation in the latest step toward firming up the agreement.

Preliminary meetings attended by Mayor Monte G. Basbas and the Aldermen from two of the city's wards already have been held.

The Urban Development Corp., which has an option to determine whether the project is feasible, is headed by Mark J. Walch of 20 Orient Ave., Newton Centre. Thomas J. White is the treasurer of the company.

Under the tentative plans, an 11-story motor hotel with restaurants and related facilities, a six-story office building and a five-story garage would be built in the first phases of the development.

That section of the development, when completed, would be worth between $6 and $8 million. It would cover 3½ acres.

The second phase of the project calls for the construction of a five-story office building and a five-story

Bandits Revisit Western Union

For the second time in as many weeks, bandits robbed the Western Union office at 458 Newtonville avenue—this time for $159.

The gunmen entered the office on Saturday night at about 9 p.m. and forced Miss Ann Nolan of Roslindale, an employee, to lie on the floor while office manager Paul T. Daley was told to "Get the money out of the safe."

After taking the office receipts, the gunmen rifled Miss Nolan's handbag of an undisclosed amount of cash and took Daley's wallet.

The bandits were described as being between 25 and 30 years old.

In the previous holdup, Miss Nolan was held at knifepoint by a single bandit, described as 20 to 22 years old, who fled with $115 from the cash drawer.

Investigating the latest holdup were Inspector Richard J. Bagley and Patrolmen Nils M. Holmstrand, James J. McCarthy Jr., Francis M. Greeley, Gerald A. Lawrence Jr., James T. Bradley Jr., Edward F. Ceurvels, Charles A. Goodale Jr., and George J. Longbottom.

A Detroit man suspected of being one of the two intruders subsequently was arrested by police and arraigned in Newton district court on charges of breaking and entering.

Clarence Salter, 25, of Detroit was ordered held in $5,000 bail by Judge Julian L. Yesley. A John Doe warrant was issued for the arrest of the second suspect.

The Rev. Donald G. Ballou, curate at Our Lady Help of Christians Church in Newtonville, discovered two men when he went to the third floor of the rectory.

The pair fled out of the rectory and down Adams street with the priest in pursuit of them.

Salter was arrested by Sergeant John W. Foley, Jr., and patrolmen James R. Vedeccio and John W. Quinn.

Bus Stop Gets Home At Last

Having trouble finding the Newton Corner bus stop? No wonder! It's been moved again!

For the third time in recent weeks, the bus stop is located at a different spot.

The stop was originally located in front of the coffee shop on the north side of Washington Street. It was then moved to a spot at 283-299 Washington street near the Paramount Theatre. The move brought a protest from merchants in the area but the Traffic Commission at its June meeting, upheld Police Chief Philip Purcell's decision to put the stop there.

Alert Police Officer Nabs Burglar Trio

Quick and alert action by a Newton Police Officer brought about the arrest Monday of three Dorchester youths as they attempted to burglarize a Newton Centre television store.

Patrolman Richard J. Braceland surprised the three youths in the rear of Stan's Television, 53 Union street, as they attempted to break through a rear door at 4 a.m. Braceland ordered them to halt and, as the youths fled, fired three warning shots which quickly brought other police to the area.

The trio, two of them 16-year-old juveniles, were captured as they hid near the MBTA tracks nearby.

Joe Martin May Be Haunted By His '24 Campaign Claims

Some of the statements veteran Congressman Joseph W. Martin made in his first campaign for a seat on Washington's Capitol Hill may come back to haunt and plague him in his present primary fight with peppy Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler.

It was 42 years ago - back in the summer of 1924 - and Joe Martin was challenging the then Congressman William S. Greene of Fall River, a Republican.

The theme of Martin's campaign was that Greene had been in office too long and that he was too old to serve the people of his district the way they should be served.

There was some logic to Joe Martin's arguments to the Republican voters of his district because Greene had been in office a long time and he was 83 years old when Martin undertook to unseat him on the age issue.

Greene beat back Joe Martin's challenge and defeated Joe in the Republican primary. But Greene died shortly after the primary. Martin took over his seat and held it for 42 years.

Martin, who will be 82 years old in November, is about a year younger than Greene was when he said Greene was too old to serve his congressional district.

DAV Commander Gets Key to City

Mayor Monte G. Basbas gas victim of the conflict on this week presented the Key to the City to J. Edward Theriault of 46 Bridge St., Newton, in recognition of Theriault's election as State Commander of the Disabled American Veterans.

The Mayor commended Commander Theriault for his years of service to the community, his fellow veterans and the nation.

He pointed out that Theriault served in World War I with the 101st Artillery of the 26th Division and that he holds the Silver Star with cluster.

During World War II he built and equipped recreation boxes and sent them overseas to soldiers, sailors and marines.

He reorganized and maintained in the name of the American Legion a Boy Scout troop until the Scoutmaster could return from military service.

Three-way Battle On For Aldermanic Seat

A three-way fight is brewing for the seat vacated on the Newton Board of Aldermen earlier this month with the resignation of Harry H. Ham Jr.

Ham's seat must be filled by a Ward 4 resident and the winning nominee must receive a majority of votes of the whole Board.

Remaining Ward 4 Aldermen Warren A. Sutherland and William P. Matthews are expected to be appointed a committee of two to submit candidates for the Board's approval.

Sutherland is expected to name Louis I. Egeleson Jr., a former chairman of the Ward 4 Republican Committee while Matthews' choice will probably be former Ward 4 Alderman David W. Jackson. Matthews sought and won Jackson's seat when the latter chose not to run in the last election.

Both candidates are Republicans.

If neither candidate can raise the necessary majority vote of the entire Board, then the Board can nominate a candidate of its own. If this should happen, the favorite will probably be Atty. Anthony Medaglia, a recent Harvard Law School graduate, a tion of retail stores, offices and possibly a theatre in a four-story building, with parking. This would cost an estimated $2.5 million and would cover 1 1/2 acres.

In the third and last phase of the development an 11-story office building with parking and retail stores in a four-story building would be erected at a cost of $5 million.

The entire development over the toll road would cover a space of about six acres in Newton Corner between the bridge at the fire station and the bridge over which the MBTA cars run. It is between Washington street on one side and the toll road on the other.

Present plans call for the construction of a footbridge over the toll road.

Mayor Basbas last night declared that he is "delighted that such great progress is being made in the possible development of the toll road air rights at Newton Corner."

"This is a project I have discussed with Turnpike Authority Chairman John T. Driscoll for over a year," the Mayor asserted.

"I certainly look forward to working with Mr. Driscoll, the Turnpike Authority and the developer who seems to have a great deal of imagination and an understanding of Newton problems," Basbas added.

"We will work together for the development of these toll road air rights, keeping in mind the best interests of the community at large and the Newton Corner area as well as all other persons involved," Mayor Basbas asserted.

Other city officials pointed out that the development would broaden Newton's tax base as a result of the new taxable property which would be constructed.

While confidence was expressed last night by all groups involved, a number of problems remain to be ironed out by the Turnpike Authority, the Mayor and the developer.

A new zone area also would have to be established before the development could be undertaken. No existing zone in Newton covers air rights.

The plan was explained to the Aldermen from Local Draftees Given Send-off By Vets Groups

State Commander J. Edward Theriault of the Disabled American Veterans headed a group of veterans at brief ceremonies in City Hall honoring Newton young men headed for Fort Dix induction center as draftees.

Those taking their departure temporarily from civilian life were: David Vito, William Ryan, Walter J. Pazzera, David Hay, Robert Fairhurst, Bradford Thurston, Richard McLean and Herbert Redden.

They were given a send-off by Cmdr. Joseph LaCroix of A. L. Post 440, State Cmdr. Theriault and PDC John E. Bouchard. Cmdr. James Bergantini represented the Newton Veterans Honor Guard, and Cmdr. Herbert Lovely and PC Gerry LeFarse represented the M.S.G.V.

Doughnuts and coffee were served, and the Legion Post provided gift packages along with carrying bags furnished by the Newton Lions Club.

Boys' Club in Title Tie

The once-beaten Boys' Club made certain of a tie for the Newton Twi National Division title Monday night, when they took Silver Lake Dodge 4 to 1 in Cabot Park.

It was Pitcher Bill Gerity's seventh victory of the year.

Wards 1 and 7 during a meeting in the Mayor's office on Monday.

If carried forward, this would be the first major air rights development in Massachusetts.

Novena In Honor Of Patroness Of Television

Dual world-wide Novena exercises in honor of Saint Clare of Assisi, Patroness of Television, will begin on Wednesday, Aug. 3, and conclude on Thursday, Aug. 11, the eve of the Feast Day of the Saint.

The observances will take place in the Monasteries of the Second Order of Saint Francis (the "Poor Clares", cloistered Nuns), and the Third Order (regular) of Saint Francis (the Missionary Franciscan Sisters of the Immaculate Conception).

Locally, the Novena of the Missionary Sisters will be private at their Provinciate, 790 Centre St., Newton, and at Mount Alvernia Academy in Newton.

Printers To Play Ball On Nickerson Field

Newton High School's Nickerson Field is one of five playing areas on which the 52nd annual Union Printers International Baseball League tournament will be played this year.

The personnel of the teams comprise union printers, mailers, apprentices and sons of printers or mailers.

The tournament begins Monday, Aug. 1, and continues every day until teams are eliminated. Game time is 11 a.m., and the public is invited to attend. Tom Yawkey and the Red Sox have offered Fenway Park for the championship game on Saturday, Aug. 6.

Commissions In Prospect For Four Students

Four cadets who are Newton residents are at Fort Devens taking six weeks of Reserve Officer training.

They are Earl S. Stein, 178 Cabot St., Newton, a student at the University of Maine; John J. Forrest, 165 Neshobe Rd., Waban, a Northeastern University student; Dana S. Brigham, 61 Temple St., West Newton, a student at Middlebury College, Vt., and Robert R. Daniels, 63 Perkins St., a 1966 graduate of Northeastern.

They are receiving instruction in military skills which will qualify them as commissioned officers in the Army Reserve.

The summer encampment is scheduled to end tomorrow (Friday), July 31.

Steven H. Chansky, 10 Philbrick Rd., Newton Centre, was awarded a B.S. in Chemical Engineering from the University of Rochester, N. Y.

Pierson

Pierson recently returned from two years of service with the Peace Corps on the desert coast of Peru, South America, where he supervised the formation of youth groups and financial organizations which provided the means for self-improvement of the community and a stimulus for improved government.

On his return from Peru, Pierson was selected to train and advise a new group of Peace Corps volunteers at Syracuse University.

Pierson attended the Newton schools and Browne and Nichols School. He holds a bachelor of arts degree in political science from Lake Forest College in Illinois and also did graduate work at the Ames Tuck School of Business Administration at Dartmouth.

He is now affiliated with Pierson Industries, Inc., of Boston, is a member of the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Dartmouth Alumni Association and the Newton Republican Club.

"For many years Newton and Waltham have been the home of an enlightened and progressive atmosphere for their citizens," Pierson declared in announcing his candidacy. "I feel that the time has come for the district to have the kind of dedicated, full-time leadership in the General Court which it deserves."

"For too long we have suffered the silence of part-time representation. The complex problems that we face today have to be dealt with openly and honestly and deserves more than part-time attention," Pierson concluded.

Hot Blacktop Burns

Walking barefoot to a swimming pool last Friday, Jennifer S. Banks, 5, of 587 Walnut St., Newtonville, stepped on hot blacktop on Albemarle St., and had to be treated for two blistered feet at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Urges Rate Boost For New Streets

The Newton Department of Public Works will ask the Board of Aldermen for $60,000 in appropriations for new streets under the Betterment Act tonight and, at the same time, ask for an increase in the assessment rate for betterment streets from $8 to $10 a front foot.

The appropriations represent monies for the construction of already approved Betterment Act street projects. They are Intervale road, Ward, 6, from Edge Hill road to Hobart road, at a cost of $10,000.

Edge Hill road, Ward 6, from Hammondswood road to Intervale road, at a cost of $24,500.

Kendall terrace, Ward 7, from Park street westerly, at a cost of $12,400.

Renee terrace, Ward 6, from Warren street northerly to the end, at a cost of $14,000.

The requested increase in assessment rates for the betterment streets was explained by Public Works Department Director Willard S. Pratt as being a reflection of the increase in costs.

"The betterment assessment rate in Newton hasn't been changed in many years," said Pratt. "While costs have risen constantly."

"This, coupled with the fact that a change in the City Ordinances requires the installation of granite curbing throughout instead of cement curbing, necessitates the increase," he continued. "Granite curbing is more than twice as expensive as cement curbing."

"The betterment assessment is designed to reimburse the city approximately fifty per cent of the cost of the project," Pratt explained. "Of course, it's never exact — in some cases it will be more than the fifty per cent and in some cases less."

"However, if the rate is not increased, it will always fall far below the amount for which the law was designed," he concluded.

Local Artists Show Work On Rockport Wharf

A Newtonville couple has a family art gallery on Rockport's Tuna Wharf, and the exhibit includes wood cuts and water colors by their daughter.

Sam and Sophina Coty live in the winter months at 66 Grove Hill Ave., Newtonville, in the summer at Rockport. Their daughter, Deena Coty DesRieux, is the wife of Philippe DesRieux of Paris.

The paintings of the Cotys are displayed in a 75-year-old fisherman's shack, that is open to the public from spring to late fall.

Sam Coty paints landscapes, seascapes and clown studies. His wife has an expressionist style, and her works include character studies and pictures of trees.

Both husband and wife have won awards for their work, and have held several one-man shows and exhibited at major art museums. Private collections in this country and in Europe include their works.

Totem Pole Braves Beat NUF Lions 5-4

Six errors by the Upper Falls Lions in a Babe Ruth League game last Saturday at Lincoln Park, contributed substantially to their 5-4 defeat at the hands of the Totem Pole Braves.

Steve Condon, Totem Pole's pitcher, allowed only eight hits that were widely scattered, and that, too, had a bearing on the game's outcome.

The move was approved by Chief Purcell and the stop was set up by Department of Public Works Director Willard S. Pratt.

Effective immediately, the new stop is on a trial basis.

Bus patrons crossing Washington street to the new stop from the north side of the street will have to use the pedestrian control light near Moore & Moore Hardward.

Another petition, submitted by the Newton Upper Falls Improvement Association, for a caution signal or some other change at the Chestnut street underpass below Boylston street, Newton Upper Falls, was referred to the State Department of Public Works since the area is a state highway.

A petition by Alderman Edward C. Uehlein to study traffic problems at the cross-over at Woodcliff road and Route 9, Newton Highlands, was recommended held for further study.

The commission denied a petition requesting a ban on heavy trucking on Centre street submitted by Carl P.

Political Highlights

If he's reelected, however, he'll be 84 before the end of his next term.

He has served in Congress longer than Greene had when he claimed Greene had been there too long.

Councillor Heckler is much more polite and diplomatic in her campaigning against Martin than Martin

But basically and fundamentally her campaign was 42 years ago when he made his fight against the late Congressman Greene.

There is the same as Joe Martin's was in 1924 even though she isn't being as blunt as Joe was when as a young man of 39 he was hitting hard at the age issue.

Minimum Price Law Is Factor in Liquor Cost

One thing which seems to be overlooked in the controversy over the high price of liquor in Massachusetts is that the State has a minimum price law designed to prevent competition between liquor stores.

Chairman Quintin J. Christy of the State Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission is on sound ground in demanding that the distillers and wholesalers not charge any more for liquor sold in Massachusetts than in any other State.

There certainly is no reason why the wholesale price of liquor should be any higher in Massachusetts than it is in Maine or New Hampshire.

If the wholesale cost of liquor is reduced, retail prices should be lowered proportionately.

But that is only part of the story. The rest of the story is that the State Legislature, in catering to certain liquor interests, also jacks up the price of liquor.

Massachusetts has a law requiring the State ABC Commission to fix the minimum prices at which liquor may legally be sold in the Commonwealth.

That the minimum prices are too high is obvious from the fact that most liquor stores sell below them.

A quart of whiskey is sold in these establishments at $1 or more under the posted price.

The liquor store owner, who isn't selling his goods at a loss to himself, is glad to make the sale and keep his customer coming back. The customer is happy to save the dollar.

The thing is that this is a violation of a ridiculous law which is widely flouted.

Every once in a while a liquor store is closed down because a sale was made at less than the posted price.

Public funds are expended to try to prevent the public from buying liquor at bargain prices.

Yet, sanctimonious statements are still issued about the price of liquor being too high in Massachusetts.

The so-called minimum price law is intended to protect the liquor store owners, not the general public.

Those legislators who vote for the enactment of the law try to justify their action by asserting that it prevents price wars between liquor store operators.

That probably is true. But the argument wouldn't carry much weight with the constituents of the law-makers who purchase liquor and would enjoy an occasional price war.

The hard, cold fact is that the minimum prices set by the State ABC Commission are and have been too high and that this ridiculous situation should be corrected.

When a liquor store operator can cut the price a $1 or

Newton Lad In Washington As "Senator"

Daniel Pagnano of 229 Adams St., Newton, is representing Massachusetts as a "Senator" this week in Washington, D.C.

He was elected to the office at the recent convention of the American Legion, and was sponsored by Nonantum Post 440. While attending Boys' Nation in Washington, Daniel is living on the campus of the University of Maryland.

Nonantum Post's second delegate was Theodore Maslowski of 22 Jefferson St., Newton. He became a news reporter at Boy's State, was elected public works superintendent and played on the softball team.

Both boys are students of Our Lady Help of Christians High School, and were chosen on the basis of their academic and leadership ability.

During their week at the nation's capital, Daniel Pagnano and 99 other delegates are forming political parties, selecting party officials, constructing a platform and electing one of their group as president of Boy's Nation for 1966.

New Incinerator Seen Ready By Mid-December

The city incinerator should be completed and in operation by mid-December, provided there is no delay in shipments of building materials, it was determined last week, when Buildings Commissioner Vincent D. Burns and Public Works Director Willard S. Pratt met with architects and representatives of construction firms.

The city in its fight with former Presidential Aide Kenneth P. O'Donnell for the Democratic nomination for Governor, he is not displaying the same eagerness for a debate as when he was the underdog in his struggle with Ted Kennedy.

Whether a debate between McCormack and O'Donnell will materialize is still uncertain.

Ironically, while O'Donnell is pressing for the debate, McCormack probably would benefit more from it both from the standpoint of the primary and the election. O'Donnell is taking a long gamble in seeking the debate since he is not as good a speaker as McCormack and does not have McCormack's platform presence.

Ex-Governor Endicott Peabody peppered Governor Volpe with challenges to debate in 1962 when he was campaigning to oust Volpe from the Governorship.

Now Peabody claims it's a publicity stunt when Boston Mayor John F. Collins challenges him to a public debate on the issues in the U. S. Senate campaign.

Besides, Peabody declares, he'll be too busy campaigning on street corners and at shopping centers and factory gates from early morning until late at night to possibly squeeze in a debate with Collins.

The fact that most people would prefer to watch how Peabody handled himself in a debate with Collins rather than be buttonholed by him at a street corner or a bus stop apparently doesn't make much impression on Peabody who acts as if he were running for the hand-shaking championship of the world rather than a seat in the United States Senate.

Then there's Attorney General Brooke who stressed the great importance of debate but now says he doesn't want to debate anybody.

Politicians, it seems, are not always noted for their consistency.

LETTERS

Schools Tax Impact

Editor of The Graphic:

It was with considerable concern that I read your front page article (in the Newton Graphic issue of 21 July) concerning the impact on the tax rate of the predicted School Department Budget.

This concern first started with receipt of the June 1966 issue of Patterns upon which your news article was based.

Some of the reasons for my concern follow:

1. Although Newton's pay scales come off decidedly second best in a comparison with 16 other suburban cities, we are not told how these other cities were chosen nor their names. It is patently obvious that anyone desiring to prove a particular point could select 16 suburban cities with pay scales better than Newton's. Certainly out of the thousands of suburban cities available for comparison with Newton one could easily select 16 others whose pay scales are much worse.
2. A comparison of the 1965 and 1966 School Budgets indicates the following percentage increase in the 1966 salaries for the following departments:

Administration	21.7%
Instruction	8.27%
Attendance Services	18.7%
Operation of Plant	11.85%
Maintenance of Plant	3.5%
Tech. High School	2.37%
Junior College	24.3%

If, as Mayor Basbas indicates, the tax rate will reach $100 by 1970 due to the continued increases of the School Department then an explanation is certainly due to the citizens to explain why Administrative salary increases are so far out of line with salary increases for Instruction. This is especially of interest since five members out of nine on the Administrative staff receive salaries greater than the Mayor's.

3. It is quite evident that there is considerable unrest and dissatisfaction with many facets of the Newton School Administration. This dissatisfaction has been shown by the formation of three different citizens groups. These groups are:

- a) The Concerned Parents Committee who are objecting to the proposed reduction in classroom instruction for most of the major subjects taught at the Meadowbrook Junior High School, starting in September 1966.
- b) The Committee for a Single Session who desire a single session in the elementary schools in accordance with the State Board of Education's requirements for a 5-hour day for each day in the school week.
- c) The Committee for a Single High School who believe that the 11.4 million dollars proposed for renovating and rebuilding Newton High School should instead be used to build one high school for the entire city, thus allowing Newton South High School to be used by the Junior College. This would solve the future requirements of the badly overcrowded Junior College and at the same time would allow for constructing a central library on the present Junior College grounds.

In view of the present discontent indicated by a sizable portion of the citizenry plus the comments indicated above, it would appear that the long range plans of the Newton School Department are open to serious discussion. Certainly the large teacher turnover rates each year require better explanations than those given for the loss of 9 social studies teachers from one Newton High School. Approximately two years ago the average rate for teacher turnovers in the State was 11%. In Newton at that time the rate was 22% or exactly double the State average. These facts appeared in a series of articles in the Boston Globe.

Some research based on the minutes of the School Committee meetings indicates that as of the last meeting held on 27 June 1966, twelve new teachers alone were appointed to Meadowbrook Junior High School to start in September 1966. This does not include one additional guidance counselor, one teaching aide and one business intern also assigned to start in September.

In view of the various situations and items previously discussed, it would appear to be in the best interests of all of the citizens of Newton if Mayor Basbas were to appoint a small citizen's committee consisting of not more than ten people, selected from various groups in the city at large, to study and review the Newton School Systems and its plans in their totality. This Committee should be supported by the City and the School Committee, as well as School Administration. The objectives of this Committee should be to provide recommendations for performance, salaries, long range plans, educational objectives, etc.

Should the present School Committee feel that the recommendations provided here are a usurpation of their prerogatives let them remember that the electorate can replace them in November 1967.

Director Of New Agency Here Is Given Welcome

Col. Joseph W. Martorana (USAF ret.) was recently welcomed by Mayor Monte G. Basbas as program director on the staff of Newton Community Action, Inc.

At the same time, the Mayor emphasized the increased opportunities available to all residents of the city as a result of this new office, which is at 313 Washington St., Newton.

Newton Community Action, Inc., will be the local agency for the federal government's Economic Opportunity program, and has been funded by Washington to serve this area.

A local Job Retaining program will be one of its projects.

The agency is a non-profit organization administered by a board of directors formed from Newton citizens in every walk of life.

A longtime Newton resident, Col. Martorana received his early schooling here. During his military career he had been assigned as special consultant in Japan, Central and South America and the Middle East in the field of education for disadvantaged peoples. He has also served as program developer and community organization specialist with Boston's ABCD program.

Following his retirement from active military service, Col. Martorana was a consultant and executive director for senior citizen projects in Florida and California.

The telephone number for Newton Community Action, Inc., is 969-4320.

Chevarley To Get Commission

Joseph W. Chevarley Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Chevarley, 75 Waban Pk., Newton, a member of the Air Force ROTC at the University of Notre Dame, Ind., will complete four weeks of Reserve Officers training this summer at Elgin AFB, Fla.

The cadet, now training in flying and support operational phases at Elgin, will be eligible for appointment as an Air Force second lieutenant on graduation.

He is a 1963 graduate of Boston College High School.

Mayor Hosts International Seminar Gr'p

The 1966 Harvard University International Seminar brought a truly international flavor to Newton City Hall recently as Mayor Monte G. Basbas played host to a group of the seminar delegates.

The Mayor introduced the delegates, many of whom come from nations behind the Iron Curtain, to Newton's unicameral form of government, the election procedures of the city and the day to day workings of a municipal administration.

Conductor of the day's tour was Administrative Assistant to Mayor Basbas, Thomas J. Hargadon, who is also Activities Director of the Seminar and a former lecturer in political science at Boston College and an Andrew Carnegie Intern in Public Administration.

The group toured City Hall, the War Memorial and Newton High School before enjoying lunch with City Hall employees in the cafeteria.

Among Mayor Basbas' guests were Vladimir Philipov of Bulgaria, Senior Lecturer of the Sofia State University; Jiri Chlumsky, Assistant Professor, School of Politics, Prague, Czechoslovakia; Jean-Louis Dewost of France, Law Faculty, University of Paris; Miss Ama Ata Aidoo of Ghana, Institute of African Studies, University of Ghana; Takahiko Iimura of Japan, Director of documentary and commercial films; Shigeo Sugiyama of Japan, Chief Researcher, National Diet Library; Junichiro Suzuki of Japan, Editorial Writer for "The Japan Times"; and Mrs. Najah Attar of Syria, Member, Ministry of Culture and National Guidance.

Love Is To Be Science Church Sunday Topic

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday. The Golden Text is from the first Epistle of John: "God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him."

Related passages to be read from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following lines:

"Whatever holds human thought in line with unselfed love, receives directly the divine power . . . Hold perpetually this thought,—that it is the spiritual idea, the Holy Ghost and Christ, which enables you to demonstrate, with scientific certainty, the rule of healing, based upon its divine Principle, love, underlying, overlying, and encompassing all true being."

Newton YD Recruits Are Among 2000 To Take Pre-Basic Training

Nearly 2000 Massachusetts Yankee Division recruits, among them many Newton residents, will undergo a pre-basic training military skills program for two weeks at Camp Edwards, Falmouth, beginning Aug. 13, YD Commander Maj. Gen. Richard J. Quigley announced today.

Most of the recruits involved are awaiting shipment to Army posts throughout the country for the standard six-month period of active duty during which they will receive basic and advanced infantry training. Their assignment to such training has been deferred during the period of the Vietnam build-up, during which time Regular Army training camps have been utilized mainly for the training of draftees and Regular Army troops.

General Quigley revealed the results of pre-basic training of Bay State recruits will be determined if this procedure will be adopted by other National Guard and Army Reserve outfits across the country.

He explained the young citizen-soldiers enlisted for a period of six-years, will undergo accelerated elemental military training skill including rifle range firing with live ammunition, hand-to-hand combat, and close-order drills.

During their two weeks at the Cape Army post, the recruits will live under strict military procedure, in Brigade status, including the traditional "KP" and other "grounds policing" details.

General Quigley said the Provisional Training Brigade will be under the direct supervision of Assistant Division Commander Brig. Gen. Edward F. Logan, of Cohasset. The training and teaching cadre, specially selected from among Yankee Division veteran officers and enlisted men, will conduct the recruit field and classroom training.

Dr. Epstein Made Asst. Professor

Promotion of Dr. Henry D. Epstein of 71 Greenlawn Ave., Newton Centre, to Assistant Clinical Professor of Periodontology is announced by Dr. Robert H. Ebert, Dean of Harvard Medical School.

Dr. Epstein is president-elect of the Massachusetts Periodontal Society.

A native of Boston, he received his B.S. degree from Massachusetts State College in 1935, and the D.M.D. degree from Harvard in 1940.

Slightly less than 45 percent of the total 4-H membership reside on farms. Of the remainder, 33 percent live in rural areas and the balance in towns and cities with over 2,500 population.

One of the most useful appliances that we handle, but not widely advertised and utilized, is the dehumidifier. Those who have used one in their basements know its value in eliminating rust and mildew in the hot and humid months and wouldn't do without one.

This year, for one reason or another, there has been an acute shortage of dehumidifiers, possibly in the main because of copper allocation that manufacturers preferred to use in building air conditioners, and as a result many orders have gone unfulfilled. I have just procured a fine small supply of dehumidifiers and can fill orders on a first come first served basis while the supply lasts.

Newton Girl Becomes Bride At Lexington Temple Rites

In Temple Emunah, Lexington, Miss Marcia Emily Falkof became the bride of Gerald I. Krupnikoff.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Falkof of 41 Prentice road, Newton Centre. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Krupnikoff of Hartford, Ct., are the groom's parents.

Rabbi Herbert Rosenblum officiated at the 5:30 o'clock afternoon service, which was followed by a reception.

The bride's re-embroidered French Alencon lace gown was misted with seed pearls. The pearl crown was fastened with an elbow-length illusion veil. She carried a large white composite rose on her mother's Bible.

Miss Roberta Krupnikoff of Hartford, sister of the groom, was maid of honor, while another sister of the groom, Mrs. Mark Azia, also of Hartford, Ct., was matron of honor.

The best man was the bride's brother, Eric Falkof of Newton Centre. Ushering were Dr. Gerson Friedman of New York City, Sheldon Sepowitz of West Wilington, Ct., Richard Freedman of Newton, Burton Wiener of Hartford, Ct., and Steven Cohen of West Hartford, Ct.

For her going-away costume, the bride chose a turquoise colored suit with a beige lace overlay. After a honeymoon at the Nevele Country Club, the couple plan to make their home in West Hartford, Ct.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Rita Gallant of Brighton and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Falkof of Winthrop. She attended Boston University and was graduated from the Chandler School for Women.

Mr. Krupnikoff, who is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs.

(Bradford Bachrach)
Mrs. Gerald Krupnikoff

Samuel Krupnikoff of Hartford, Ct., prepared at Cheshire Academy for the University of Connecticut. He is now an accountant.

Miss Dunlap, Mr. Morrison Exchange Vows

At the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. Crawford Dunlap Jr., of 126 Prince street, West Newton, recently, Miss Nancy Ellen Dunlap was married to David Douglas Morrison. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don H. Morrison of Danville, Ill.

Mr. William K. Mackey performed the 3 o'clock afternoon ceremony at which two rings were exchanged. A reception followed the nuptials. Given away by her father, the bride wore a street-length frock of white cotton pique and her flowers were orchids.

Now on a trip through the Rocky Mountains, Mr. and Morrison plan to reside in Cambridge.

The bride, a graduate of the Brimmer and May School, class of 1963, will be a senior at Radcliffe College in the fall.

Mr. Morrison, who received his B.S. degree from the University of Illinois, class of 1962, his M. S. degree from Harvard University, class of 1964, is currently a doctoral candidate in astronomy at Harvard University.

Allstate Names Thomas R. Heels Of Upper Falls

Thomas R. Heels of Newton Upper Falls has been appointed sales representative for Allstate Insurance Companies, and will work out of the office in the Sears Roebuck store in Natick.

He recently completed an intensive professional training course at the company's eastern zone training center at Murray Hill, N.J. He will sell auto, homeowners, fire, health, life and other insurance lines.

He also has been appointed local representative for Allstate Motor Club and the Allstate Safety Crusade, a country-wide program to reduce traffic and home accidents.

A graduate of Rivers Country Day School, he attended Bowdoin and Bentley Colleges.

Heels, his wife, the former Helena Winter of Newton, and their son, Mark, live at 22 Elliot Terr., Newton Upper Falls.

Miss Cutler - Mr. Perlmutter Wed At Chestnut Hill Club

The Sidney Hill Country Club, Chestnut Hill, was the setting, recently, for the pretty July wedding which united Miss Maureen Cutler and Richard Perlmutter.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lapon of Waltham. Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Perlmutter of 31 Buswell park, Newton, are the groom's parents.

Rabbi Earl Grollman of Temple Beth El in Belmont officiated at the pretty summer bridal, which was followed by a reception.

The bride was attired in a blush pink Chantilly lace gown fashioned with a circlet neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. The fitted bodice and slim skirt had a flounce of matching lace. Identical Chantilly styled the mantilla which completed the ensemble. She carried traditional flowers.

The two matrons of honor were Mrs. Carl J. Perlmutter of Fort Hood, Texas, and Mrs. Gerald J. Cutler of Riverdale, N.Y. Miss Robin Shenck of Long Island, N.Y., was maid of honor.

Dr. Carl J. Perlmutter served as best man for his brother. The ushers included Gerald J. Cutler, Marc R. Cutler, Stanley R. Lapon, Arthur D. Lapon, Alexander Porter, Donald Fried, Barry Wine and Kenneth Galner.

The couple plan to make their home in Brookline.

The bride will enter her senior year at the Eliot-Pearson School in the fall. She is also the daughter of the late Dr. Irving Cutler of Waltham.

Miss Leavitt Is Bride Of Elliot Wyner

Miss Janice Harriet Leavitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Leavitt of Worcester, and Elliott Fred Wyner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wyner of 4 Noble street, West Newton, were married, recently, at Temple Reyim, Newton.

Rabbi Philip Kieval officiated at the double-ring ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Temple.

Miss Evelyn Joy Leavitt of Worcester was her cousin's maid of honor. Miss Nancy Joy Gorman of Brooklyn, N. Y., niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

Dr. Joey Wyner of Natick, brother of the groom, served as best man.

The couple, who left on a trip to New York and Canada, will make their home in East Haven, Ct.

The bride expects to receive her B. S. degree in Home Economics in February.

Mr. Wyner is a graduate of Worcester Polytechnic Institute, where his fraternity was Alpha Epsilon Pi. He is now a candidate for his doctorate in engineering and applied science at Yale University.

Trains At Camp Drum

Pvt. Lawrence D. Silverman, 284 Mt. Vernon St., West Newton, will train at Camp Drum, N.Y., with the 187th Separate Infantry Brigade, New England's largest army reserve unit. The training period begins Saturday, July 30.

Fire Damages Empty House

Fire early last Saturday morning caused heavy damage to a house at 32 Duxbury

Rd., Newton Centre, whose occupants, when at home, are Charles Ford and family.

When a neighbor saw smoke pouring out of the house, he called police and told them there were children inside.

Patrolman Mahola, one of the first to arrive, broke down a door, but found no one at home.

MDC Sets Spring Opening Of Sport Area On Charles

The $450,000 illuminated softball and combination football and soccer field to be constructed on the Nonantum Rd. Athletic and Recreation area along the Charles River at the Newton-Brighton line should be ready for the 1967 spring softball season, according to a Metropolitan District Commission spokesman. Last week the MDC voted to advertise for bids on its construction.

The recreation area will also include a 30-foot double boat launching ramp and facilities for parking 86 vehicles. This will be provided by the Public Access Board of the State Department of Natural Resources at an estimated cost of $40,000.

MDC Commissioner Howard Whitmore Jr., says the sports facilities will supplement the newly completed $460,000 skating rink and service building scheduled to open next November nearby on the banks of the Charles.

Pretty July Bridal For Miss Kelly - Mr. Colella

At a 3:30 o'clock afternoon ceremony in Our Lady Help of Christian Church, recently, Miss Lorna Austin Kelly became the bride of Lucian Joseph Colella.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pope Kelly of 91 Central street, Auburndale. Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Colella of 92 Walker street, Newtonville, are the groom's parents.

The Rev. William F. Downes and the Rev. Eugene W. Meyer of Auburndale Congregational Church were the officiating clergymen. The Longwood Towers in Brookline was the scene of the reception.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a full-length sheath gown of Alencon lace. The bodice had a scalloped neckline and long wedding-point sleeves edged with seed pearls. The chapel-length train of peau de soie was fastened to the shoulders with two bows.

Her shoulder-length bouffant illusion veil was fastened to a peau bow marked with seed pearls. She carried a cascade of eucharis lilies and stephanotis.

Miss Eleanor Staniland of Buffalo, N.Y., was honor maid. Miss Sandra M. Watson of Auburndale, cousin of the bride, Miss Ronda S. Lamont of Cohasset, another cousin of the bride, Mrs. Roger E. Kelly of Newton, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Stirling P. Fraser of Auburndale were bridesmaids. Miss Pamela Kelly of Auburndale, niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. Nicholas Colella of Newtonville, brother of the groom, served as best man. The ushers were Roger E. Kelly of Newton, brother of the bride, John Colella of Newton, cousin of the groom, Gerard Boyce of Newton and John Lupo of Waltham.

(Loring)

MRS. LUCIAN J. COLELLA

Master Arthur L. Kelly of Auburndale, nephew of the bride, and Master Anthony Colella of Newton, cousin of the groom, were the ring bearers.

The bride, a graduate of Lasell Junior College, is a medical secretary at the Harvard Medical School.

An alumnus of Newton Junior College, Mr. Colella is proprietor of Lorraine's Cleaners in Wellesley.

Miss Freedman - Mr. Chasen Wed; Living in Brighton

The marriage of Miss Marsha Ellen Freedman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Freedman of Brookline, to Harvey Ronald Chasen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Chasen of 20 Brandeis road, Newton, took place, recently, at Temple Beth El in Belmont.

Rabbi Earl A. Grollman officiated at the 6:30 o'clock double-ring service, which was followed by a reception at the temple.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of peau de soie misted with motifs of seed pearls and aurora borealis sequins.

Similar materials and jewels fashioned the attractive cap caught with her elbow-length illusion veil. She carried a cascade of white orchids, stephanotis and miniature roses.

Mrs. Richard S. Adler of New York, sister of the groom, was matron of honor, while the maid of honor was Miss Ann Ruth Holmes of Newton. Miss Andrea Fein, berg of Mattapan and Miss Meryl Rachins of Brookline were bridesmaids.

Stuart Chasen of Newton, brother of the groom, served as best man. The ushers were Richard S. Adler of New York, Gerald Nimberg of Dorchester, Gerald Barsh of Newton, Arnold Rosenberg of Newton, Neal Lissack of Needham, Leonard Gosule of Stoughton, Howard Seigal of Brookline and Martin Seigal of Natick.

The couple left for Puerto Rico. Before returning to their home in Brighton, they visited St. Thomas.

(Billings Studio)

MRS. HARVEY R. CHASEN

Mr Chasen is attending the Northeastern Univ. School of Engineering.

Miss Gail Rogers Married To David Wing Smith

At a 3 o'clock afternoon service in the Central Congregational Church, recently, Miss Gail Rogers became the bride of David Wing Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Eliot F. Rogers of 29 North street, Newtonville, are the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Smith of Rindge, N.H., formerly of Newton, are the groom's parents.

Following the double-ring ceremony, there was a reception at the Waban Neighborhood Club.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown made of Irish linen designed with Swiss lace, which terminated in a chapel-length train. Her shoulder-length veil was fastened with similar lace. She carried traditional white flowers.

Mrs. William E. Pugh of Lexington, Kentucky, was her sister's only attendant.

Willis E. Smith 3rd, of Newtonville, brother of the groom, was best man. William E. Pugh of Lexington, Kentucky, brother-in-law of the bride, Clarence A. Kiser of Needham, and Edwin H. Rogers of Troy, N.Y., were the ushers.

Mr. Smith and his bride will make their home in Washington, D.C., as well as Rindge, N.H.

The bride was graduated from George Washington University, class of 1961.

Mr. Smith, a graduate of Tufts University, class of 1962, served with the Army Security Agency and recently returned from Europe.

Playgrounders Are Hosts To Their Parents

The children of Franklin Playground in West Newton staged a costume parade and gave a display of their art work on a recent afternoon for the benefit of their parents.

In the costume parade the playground's teenagers who acted as judges, awarded first prize to Marcia McNamara, second prize to Charles Kennedy and third prize to Susan Burns.

Ribbons for the most original, home-made costumes were awarded as follows: First to Glenn Melanson as "Miss Playground" bathing beauty; second to Sharon Gosselin as a curler bag, and third to John Melanson as Superman.

Recreation leaders at Franklin are Bob Toto, Judy Gorgone and Joan McNamara.

Perles Faculty Marshal At Bentley College

Dr. Benjamin M. Perles of Newton Center, a professor at Bentley College in Boston, served as faculty marshal at the college's 47th annual commencement exercises.

He assisted in the ceremonies at which 538 students, the largest graduating class in Bentley's history, received degrees or certificates.

Professor Perles, who lives at 38 Everett St., joined the Bentley faculty in 1960 after serving as an assistant professor at Northeastern University for twelve years.

He is the author of many articles which have appeared in professional journals and a member of the American Economic Association and the American Statistical Association.

During World War II, he served as a Commander in the U.S. Navy, and won several medals and commendations.

He received the MBA degree from Boston University, Class of 1948, and his Ph.D., also from BU in 1961. Earlier, he received his B.S. in B.A. degree from Northeastern University in 1946.

Temple Emeth Setting For Delman - Carlan Wedding

Miss Judith Eileen Carlan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton A. Carlan of 15 Athelstane road, Newton Centre, became the bride of Stephen Bennett Delman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Winston E. Delman of Easton, Ct.

Rabbi Zev K. Nelson performed the 6 o'clock double-ring ceremony at Temple Emeth, South Brookline. A reception followed at the temple.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a traditional white gown designed with yoke and elbow-length sleeves of precious lace. A matching lace cap was fastened with her shoulder-length sheer illusion bouffant veil.

Mrs. Morton Karp of West Roxbury was her sister's matron of honor, while Miss Debra Beth Hugo of Portland, Me., was her cousin's maid of honor. The bridesmaids were two sisters of the groom, Miss Roberta Delman and Miss Rosalie Delman, both of Easton, Ct.

Kenneth Delman of Easton, Ct., brother of the groom, served as best man. The ushers were Morton Karp of West Roxbury, David Cohen of Cambridge, Steven Benjamin of Brighton, Reed Orenstein and David Glater of New York, as well as Stuart Chernoff of New Haven, Ct., Cary Mack of Portland, Me., and Arthur Pearlman of Newton Centre.

After a trip to Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, Mr. and Mrs. Delman are now living in New York City.

The bride was graduated from Emerson College, where she majored in speech therapy.

Mr. Delman, a graduate of Yale College, class of 1964, is now attending the New York University School of Law.

Tennis Tourney For Youngsters Starts Monday

The Newton Recreation Department's annual Playground Tennis Tournament will start Monday, Aug. 1, at Newton High School tennis courts at 9:30 a.m.

There will be two divisions—Boys and Girls Midgets—10-12 and Boys and Girls Juniors—13-15.

No boy or girl who holds a New England Lawn Tennis Association Ranking or has ever won a N.E.L.T.A. sanctioned tournament will be eligible for this tournament.

Boys and girls may sign up while taking their tennis lessons or with their playground instructors.

Entries must be in by Friday, July 29.

Children From Peabody School Zoo Visitors

Twenty-four children from Newton's Peabody School were given a trip last Friday to the Franklin Park Children's Zoo where, after petting and feeding the baby animals, they had a picnic lunch and a walk around the rest of the park.

The outing was part of a program that has been in force for six years under sponsorship of the Newton Recreation Department. It was the first of two trips for the youngsters planned for this summer.

The program's instructors are Roger Mazur, Jane Shuster and Nancy Corman. Volunteers who provided assistance on the zoo trip were Margie Shaer, Carol Rosoff, Susan Carp, Ellen Zimbel, Barbara Paul, Jean Olsen and Linda Ginsberg.

NO MORE SEPARATIONS—With barely a month together during their 13-months of marriage, Army 1st Lieut. Richard A. Constant and his wife, Gail, are looking forward to his next assignment in Pruem, Germany, where they will go together. His last assignment was in Vietnam and his parents, brother, and wife gathered 75 friends and relatives at their home at 39 Moreland avenue, Newton Centre, last Sunday to welcome him home.

1959, was assigned to Nha Trang, South Vietnam, in July of 1965 after tours of duty at Ft. Bragg, North Carolina, and Ft. Monmouth, New Jersey.

He had entered the Army as a 2nd Lieutenant immediately after his graduation from Boston University in 1964 where he was a member of the Army ROTC.

In February of 1966, Richard was transferred from the 362nd Signal Company at Nha Trang to the 69th Signal Company at Saigon, South Vietnam's capital city.

He was on duty during the fierce and bloody riots which swept South Vietnam throughout last year.

"All of South Vietnam is a front line battlefield," Richard said. "If it wasn't the rioting by the dissident religious factions, then it was the Viet Cong terrorists."

"The terrorists were everywhere," he continued. "We took a VC round of fire in the plane on which I left supposedly secure Quang Tri."

At home on a thirty-day leave before embarking for Pruem, Germany, Richard plans to remain in the military.

"But this time I'm going with him," said his pretty wife, the former Gail Harvey of Brookline. "One long separation is enough!"

Richard and Gail haven't had much time together in their 13½ months of marriage. Richard shipped out to Vietnam just three weeks after their wedding in June of 1965.

of the Board of Aldermen at tonight's meeting at City Hall. The recommendations will also come before the entire Board at its regular meeting on Monday.

The Traffic Commission will recommend an ordinance to prohibit parking on Homer street, Newton Centre, on the north side from 25 feet east of the east drive to a point 25 feet west of the entrance to the City Hall parking area from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The Commission is also to recommend an ordinance which would ban parking on the north side of California street, Newtonville, near Victory Field, from the crosswalk at Dalby street, easterly for 25 feet.

Albermarle road will be made one way from Eddy street, West Newton, to North street, Newtonville, if the Commission's recommendations are heeded. The south and the west roadways are to become one way easterly and northerly, and the north and east roadways will become one way southerly and westerly under the recommendation.

The Commission also recommends that Brookside avenue be made one way from its intersection with Albermarle road to Watertown street, Newtonville.

Central Wins Another Game In Tournament

Newton Central Little League All-Stars went into the third round of the District 11 Little League tournament with a big 13 to 1 win over Newton East Monday night on Lyons Playground. The previous Friday night, Central walked over defending district champion Newton North by an 11 to 0 score.

Rick Bove, who pitches for the Athletics during the regular season, had a lot to do with both victories. Friday he hurled a strong three-hitter. Monday he was at short stop for Central, and supplied considerable power.

Rick Bell was on the mound for Monday's contest, and he, too, came up with a three-hitter.

Two Are Qualified As Clerk-stenographers

The director of civil service has forwarded to James Laurits, assistant superintendent for personnel in the Newton school department, the names of two girls qualified to fill vacancies as permanent clerk - stenographer. They are Dorothy V. McCarthy, 71 Fairway Dr., West Newton, and Mary J. Thomel-si, 41 Vernon St., Newton.

Eddie Casey Funeral To Be Held Tomorrow

A solemn high Mass of requiem for Edward L. "Eddie" Casey, 72, of 129 North St., Newtonville, two-time All-America football player at Harvard who went on to coach the Crimson, will be celebrated tomorrow (Friday) morning at 10 o'clock in the Church of Our Lady.

Mr. Casey died Monday night in Phillips House, Massachusetts General Hospital. runner, Casey was first designated an All-American while a Harvard sophomore in 1916. He was selected again on his return from World War I Navy hitch to lead Harvard to the Rose Bowl.

He returned to his alma mater after coaching for four years at Tufts, and worked with freshman football players for five years. In 1931 he became varsity coach.

In 1934 he resigned from Harvard to coach the Boston Redskins professional football team during their first year.

He returned to youth work in the late 1930's, and that kind of teaching was his vocation for the rest of his life.

Prior to the lingering illness that finally claimed his life, Casey was principal of Coolidge Junior High School in Natick.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Ann Louise (Cusick) Casey, and a daughter, Janice A. Casey of New York.

Garden City Tr. Has New Director

The Garden City Trust Company of Chestnut Hill has announced the appointment of Mrs. Evelyn B. Silver to the Board of Directors of the bank.

President of Scannell, Inc., a motor transport company operating between New England and the Baltimore-Washington area, Mrs. Silver is also a practicing attorney specializing in International Law and Foreign Trade. She divides her time between her transportation interest in Boston in Northboro, Mass., and her law practice in New York and maintains and New York City.

Prior to the death of her husband, Mrs. Silver spent 12 years in Dallas, Tex., where she and her husband were partners in an investment banking business.

Among the many organizations to which Mrs. Silver belongs are the American Bar Association, the International Federation of Women Lawyers, the President's Council of Brandeis University and the United Nations Association. An active patroness of the arts, she is also active in many hospital and philanthropic organizations.

The unusual mid-term appointment was occasioned by the recent death of charter director John K. Bottomley.

Burglar

Two stolen cars were recovered in the area.

The 18-year-old, identified as Frank E. Graham, was remanded to the Billerica House of Correction by Newton District Court Judge Julian Yesley in lieu of $1600 bond requested by Police Capt. John McMullen and granted by the judge. The cases of all three were continued to Friday.

The juveniles, also held in the same bail, were turned over to the Youth Service Board.

Graham was charged with breaking and entering in the night time, possession of burglar tools and larceny of two motor vehicles.

Capt. McMullen said a further warrant will be sought for one other youth believed to be a part of the burglar team. He was not apprehended at the scene.

Crime

be burglar shortly before dawn Sunday morning.

Mrs. Dorothy H. Carroll of 7 Sheridan St., West Newton, told police she saw the shadow of a man in her bedroom when she awakened about 3:55 Sunday morning.

The thief ran out of the house by the kitchen door when he discovered Mrs. Carroll was awake. He had entered the dwelling by forcing open a rear screen door.

Meanwhile, Newton police are investigating burglaries committed in several Newton homes and business places.

Thieves, who ransacked the home of George A. Nadaff at 50 Gordon Rd., Waban, carried away a $2700 mink stole and $2000 in cash and jewelry taken from a wall safe.

The robbers got into the dwelling by jimmying a rear porch door and entering the house through the living room.

Burglars ransacked the home of John J. Korris at 801 Dedham St., Oak Hill, over the weekend and got away with an undetermined amount of loot.

Jewelry was taken in a break at the home of David Zachs, 11 Truman Rd., Newton Centre. The burglar used a plastic tablecloth to bundle up his loot which included silverware as well as jewelry.

Entrance to the dwelling was gained by forcing a rear basement window. Burned matches were found scattered all through the house.

Intruders entered the home of Paul Styles at 60 Montvale Rd., Newton Centre, through a cellar window, but, as far as could be ascertained, all they took was four cans of beer.

Francis Proia, owner of the Silver Lake Radio Shop at 337 Watertown St., Newton, reported to police that his store had been entered. He found a crowbar in the establishment which apparently had been used to break the rear door of an adjacent building.

A checkup by Proia showed that two toasters and two irons valued at $7 each were missing.

Several trucks on the property of the Bigelow Oil Co. at 153 Concord St., Newton Lower Falls, were looted and damaged, according to a report made to police by Victor A. Nicolazze, Jr.

A used oil burner worth $49 was taken from one truck, and a cigarette lighter was taken from another.

In what was apparently a wanton vandalism, the thieves also smashed the rear windows of a truck and a tractor.

The thieves are believed to have entered the building from the roof by way of an unlocked second-floor window. Dr. Melvin D. Roseman of 70 Boulder Rd., Newton Centre, reported to police that his leather bag containing doctor's equipment, narcotics and prescription blanks had been stolen from his locked automobile.

Mrs. Jean Ruttenburg notified police that jewelry valued at $265 had disappeared from her home.

John Campion Hirsh of Newton, English major at Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pa., was awarded a Master of Arts degree. He received his A.B. from Boston College.

Newton Centre Lads In Tennis Championships

Bucky Adams, 16, and Chip Adams, 18, of 46 Marcellus Dr., Newton Centre, were selected by the New England Lawn Tennis Association for participation in the Western Open Tennis Tournament in Springfield, Ohio, which began last Monday.

From there, the boys will go to Kalamazoo, Mich., the week of Aug. 1, for the National Junior Tennis Championships.

Both boys qualified to represent New England by their play in local tennis tournaments.

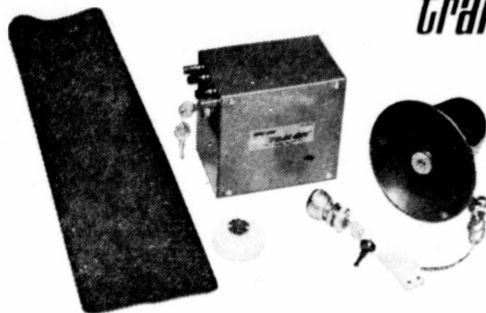

Bucky Adams recently won the Connecticut State Singles title for boys 16 years of age.

nationwide statistics prove: HOME BURGLARIES ARE ON THE RISE!

deter unauthorized entry as soon as it starts with delta-soar's revolutionary

transist-alarm

The first truly unique, reliable burglary and fire alarm system that the average homeowner can afford... and can't afford to be without.

Illegal entry and burglary of your home includes expensive loss of valuables and the threat of personal danger to you and your family. Even though nothing may be stolen, wanton destruction may occur. Fire can mean a total loss... often more than just material wealth.

BURGLAR ALARM:

Sounds off with a continuous, high volume siren alarm before the intruder enters your home. Activated by unauthorized entry through any triggered door or window.

- Fully transistorized, solid state
- Completely self-contained, compact, unobtrusive
- Options include: matswitch for under carpets or on stairways, additional sensing switches
- External lock switch activates alarm system when premises are left unoccupied.
- Weatherproof siren alarm may be mounted anywhere, inside or outside the building
- Quickly installed by homeowner or at reasonable charge by Delta-Soar

FIRE ALARM:

The continuous siren alarm and an optional flashing red window beacon are activated by a special heat sensor which completes a circuit at 135 degrees. May be attached to the above system at small additional cost.

Delta-Soar International Corp., has pioneered the development of reliable alarm systems for industry, business, and now the home. The Transist-Alarm is a professional alarming system which gives you the inner security of knowing that your home, your family, your valuable possessions are guarded 'round the clock against the dangers and threats of burglary and fire... whether you are at home or away from home!

transist-alarm effectively alarms your home or business for as little as $95.00 (basic alarm) call: 926-2130

It's vacation time!

At long last, it's finally time to leave on that vacation you've been dreaming about for so long. Now you're ready to have the time of your life.

Remember, the Newton-Waltham Bank has twenty neighborhood offices in Newton, Waltham, Wayland, Weston and Natick (and soon in Marlborough).

Before you go, however, be sure to stop in at your nearest office of the Newton-Waltham Bank and place your valuables in a Safe Deposit Box. At the same time, exchange your money for Travelers Checks so your vacation won't be ruined by lost cash.

After visiting our bank, you'll leave on your vacation feeling free as the wind — with cares and worries left far behind.

Vacation Driver Must Adjust To Turnpike Speeds

New York (UPI) — Vacationing motorists should shift their mental attitudes when driving on turnpikes and away from city and suburban streets, according to an automobile company executive.

Vacation-bound drivers too often ignore the change to turnpike driving, especially at the start of the travel season, says Chris Andrews, president of a car company. "If you haven't been driving long distances on the super-highways for a while, with everybody tearing along at 60 or more, you need to do some adjusting or you're asking for trouble," Andrews says.

— INTERVIEWS BY APPOINTMENT —

"The average American home today has nine appliances," says Charles E. Enyart, director of sound conditioning for Sietex Corporation. "These include a radio, television, vacuum cleaner and mixer."

Then there are the other common household noises such as ringing telephones and doorbells, noisy children, barking dogs. And, too, Enyart says, many of today's building materials reflect sound instead of absorbing it. To minimize sound in the home, he suggests tight fitting doors and windows sealed with weatherstripping, resilient mountings under appliances, cushioning material between plumbing connections and an acoustical sound ceiling. Such a ceiling, Enyart says, absorbs 70 per cent of the sound waves striking it.

"An acoustical ceiling is easy to install and it's economical," he says. "A 12 by 17 foot room can be covered for a cost of about $50 and the man of the house can do it easily in one weekend." New plastic coated tiles are washable, and they come in attractive designs.

"Simply place the board against the wall, then nail along stud lines, making sure the nails penetrate into the studs," explains Enyart. The fiberboard is then covered with gypsum board.

102 Confirmed At Temple Shalom

The largest confirmation class in New England and one of the largest in the nation received their certificates last week at Temple Shalom. One hundred and two young men and women received Bibles, each inscribed with his or her name, at the impressive ceremonies.

The service, prepared entirely by the Confirmands, had as its theme "Living As Jews in Our World."

Confirmation is the culmination of ten years of religious school training. Among its accomplishments is the successful teaching of a deeper understanding and profound respect, not only for Judaism, but for all religions.

Rabbi Murray Rothman, spiritual leader of Temple Shalom, blessed the Confirmands and Mr. Bernard Shulman introduced the class. Mr. Nathaniel Roosin, chairman of the School Committee, awarded the certificates of graduation and Mrs. David Krongard, past President of the Sisterhood, presented the Bibles.

The Class Gift, presented by Jon Shuman, was accepted by Mr. Frank Bronstein, president of Temple Shalom.

Ask Increases In Gas Storage

The Newton Board of Aldermen will tonight be asked to increase the gasoline storage capacity allowances for two Newton companies by 12,500 gallons.

In a petition brought by Frost Motors, Inc., of 399 Washington street, a request was made to increase their currently licensed 500 gallon capacity to 3000 gallons which would be stored underground at their garage location.

The Gibbs Tire Depot, Inc., submitted three proposals to be heard at tonight's meeting, one of which requests an increase from 5000 to 15,000 gallons in their licensed gasoline storage space.

The Gibbs firm plans to remodel and reactivate the service station facility at 367 California street. Two petitions will be heard concerning the remodeling in addition to the request for increased gasoline storage area.

The first is for the remodeling itself and the second for permissive use of adjoining land which would be paved and utilized for the parking of cars incidental to the operation of the service station. The area in question is now zoned as Residence D property.

Marilyn Atwood, daughter of Mrs. Bertha D. Atwood, 57 Kingswood rd., Auburndale, a sophomore at Northland College, Ashland, Wis., had charge of programs for the Northland Summer Theater Company's production of George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man." She is a member of the theater workshop class at the liberal arts college, which is affiliated with the United Church of Christ.

REV. THEODORE A. WEBB

Union Summer Service Is In Waban Sunday

The Newton union summer service next Sunday (July 31), will have as preacher the Rev. Theodore A. Webb, executive director of the Massachusetts Bay District, Unitarian Universalist Churches.

It will be held in the Union Church, Waban, Glendinning Smith will be organist, and Paul W. Wiggin tenor soloist.

The Rev. Mr. Webb served formerly as minister of the Haverhill Universalist Unitarian Church. He received his education in Maine and Connecticut and is a graduate of Bangor Theological School.

While serving as minister of the Universalist Church in Canton, New York, he was elected president of the New York State Universalist Convention.

In the summer of 1961 Mr. and Mrs. Webb were tour leaders for 18 college-age young people from Unitarian and Universalist churches in the United States. While in Europe, he attended the International Conferences in Germany and Switzerland.

During the week of July 29 through Aug. 4, pastoral care for the churches co-operating in the union services program, will be taken care of by Harry B. Taplin, and he may be reached by telephoning CE 7-0156.

During the remaining Sundays in August and Sept. 4, the Union Services will be held at the First Unitarian Society on Washington St., West Newton.

JOHN J. CRAVEN, JR.

John J. Craven Candidate For Gov.'s Council

Attorney John J. Craven, Jr., of Mattapan has launched a vigorous campaign for the Democratic nomination for the Governor's Council in the second councillor district.

He is seeking the seat in the Governor's Council which Councillor Margaret M. Heckler is leaving to run for Congress.

Craven, the oldest son of ex-Representative John J. Craven and present Boston City Councillor Katherine Craven, is a practicing attorney.

Active in charitable and religious endeavors, he recently served as district chairman for Boston in the American Cancer Crusade.

Craven is a graduate of Roxbury Latin School, Harvard College and the Portia Law School.

He has been admitted to practice before both the State and Federal Bars.

A veteran, he served in the 11th Armored Cavalry.

Attorney Craven is campaigning for Democratic support in the big second councillor district, covering approximately one-eighth of the State, extending from Newton, Needham and Dedham through Norwood, Westwood and Canton, taking in four Boston wards and running down to Brockton.

"In offering myself as a candidate to the voters in the second councillor district, I do so in the sincere belief that I have the educational background, the legal experience and the qualifications to serve them in the Governor's Council," Councillor Craven stated.

"The position as Executive Councillor from the second councillor district is presently held by a Republican," he continued. "I am confident that I can win this seat back for the Democratic party if the Democratic voters nominate me in the September primary."

"My legal training and my experience as a practicing lawyer should be of real value in deliberating on and acting upon the problems which still come before the Executive Council," Craven stated.

"If I am elected, it is my intention to serve the people of the second councillor district with vigor, with dedication and with sincerity of purpose."

On that basis I most respectfully request the voters of the second councillor district to consider my qualifications for service as their Governor's Councillor," Attorney Craven declared.

Donna Louise Nye, 35 Caldon Path, Newton Centre, was graduated from Mt. Ida Junior College, where she majored in the medical secretarial course. Another medical secretarial graduate was Margaret M. Mills, 131 Harvard St., Newtonville.

Health Dept. Head Urges Safety With Lawn Mowers

"Every householder should include safety in his lawn care program this year," urged Dr. Hale H. Cook of the Newton Health Department "by following a few simple precautions in power mower operation."

He called special attention to possible hazards of power lawn mowers. The doctor explained that the greatest majority of injuries are caused by two types of accidents—objects being picked up and thrown by the blades, and direct injury to hands and feet by blades.

To help avoid these and other types of injuries, Dr. Cook offered suggestions for safe operation of power lawn equipment.

1. Read and be sure you understand the operating procedure manual for your mower.

2. Always keep your mower in top operating condition.

3. Fill gasoline tank out-of-doors and away from any post-tank when engine and exhaust are hot.

4. Stand away from mower when starting, and be sure it is on level ground.

5. Mow during daylight hours and when grass is dry.

6. If mower is self-propelled, keep in step with it. Don't let it pull you along.

7. Never walk in front of a grass discharge chute when mower is running.

8. When mowing an incline, move along the face of the slope, never up and down.

9. Never take passengers on a riding mower.

10. Never leave mower unattended if it is running. Never attempt to clear blades or do any work on the mower until it is shut off and the spark wire or power cord is disconnected.

Newton Doctor Assigned To Method Study

A $52,000 research grant has been awarded Beth Israel Hospital by the John A. Hartford Foundation, Inc., New York City, for development of an improved method of diagnosing pancreatic disease through X-ray examination.

Specifically, the aim of the study is to further develop a method for radiologic visualization of the pancreatic and biliary ducts and to refine the instrument required to do this.

Dr. Morris Simon of 261 Franklin St., Newton, Radiologist-in-Chief at Beth Israel and Associate Clinical Professor of Radiology at Harvard, will be a co-investigator for the study.

Aldermen To Hear Edison Petitions

The Newton Board of Aldermen Committee on Petitions and Orders will hear three requests by the Boston Edison Company and the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company for the repair and installation of telephone and street lighting poles and a manhole and conduit tonight at City Hall.

The Edison Company has requested permission to erect a pole for street lighting on the southwesterly side of Durant street at Pembroke street and to install a conduit and manhole on Church street. The Church street project would include the placing of a conduit 105 feet in length, starting about 240 feet west of Oakland street.

The Telephone Company has requested permission to repair or replace a pole on the northwesterly side of Border street approximately 480 feet southwest of Elm street. The hearings are scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

11. Store fuel in approved safety cans in an outside location.

12. Before mowing, check the lawn for objects that could be thrown by the blades.

Raking the lawn with a grass rake will remove most of the stones and debris which sible sources of fire. Never fill may be picked up and slung by the blades.

13. Keep children and others away from the mowing areas.

Though the power mower adds greatly to the convenience of maintaining a lawn, it should be treated as a potentially dangerous machine and care should always be taken in its operation. Mower manufacturers have made considerable effort to make their products as safe as possible and most have built their machines to conform to the safety standard set by the American Standards Association.

A mower meeting this standard will display a triangular seal with the initials ASA in large letters and the words "Conform to Safety Standards." Your health department suggests you look for this seal when purchasing a new mower.

Dr. Cook concluded by saying: "Observing a few simple rules and practicing common sense for safe operation of power lawn equipment this season will keep you and yours safe and happy."

City-Wide Adult Tennis Tourney For Newtonites

A city-wide tennis tournament for adults will open at Burr Park Tennis Courts on Monday evening, Aug. 8, at 5:45.

Sponsored by the Newton Recreation Department, competition will be held in Men's Singles and Doubles, Women's Singles and Doubles and Mixed Doubles.

All participants must be residents of Newton and each player must bring three new tennis balls with him.

Anyone wishing to enter may do so by signing up at Burr Park Playground, Waverly avenue, Newton Centre, before 6:00 p.m. on Friday, August 5. An entry fee of $1 will be charged for each event entered.

Trophies will be awarded and postponements will be played on the following night.

City Planners To Pick Elderly Housing Site

Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas met recently with the members of the Newton Housing Authority, City Planning Consultant Charles Downe, and City Planner James Miller in an effort to expedite the selection of a location for the fourth Newton housing for the elderly development.

The meeting resulted in the decision by all parties to give the matter over to the planning consultant and city planning department for review of several possible sites and for a site selection as soon as possible.

Two possible sites under consideration would be the M&B Barn property and the old Burr school site, which abuts the old fire station and a parking lot. The planning facilities of the City of Newton have been urged to develop further site possibilities, working cooperatively with the Newton Redevelopment Authority.

Brawl Was A High Schoolers Take Part In Loud Mistake St. Bernard Summer Program

Some playful hijinks on the part of four young Newton men resulted in a misunderstanding which grew to police-size proportions last Thursday night.

Newton Police Sgt. John J. Bartinelli and Ptl. Anthony J. Grella and John J. Kearney responded to a report of a gunshot on Woodcliff road where they found Allan Polins holding a gun on four men.

When the confusion was finally straightened out, the following story emerged:

The four were involved in a friendly wrestling match on the median strip on Woodcliff road when Dr. Saul Polins of 109 Woodcliff road came upon them. Dr. Polins explained to police that it appeared to him as though three of the group were ganging up on the fourth. Fearing a mugging or robbery attempt, Dr. Polins set his dog upon the group.

One of the men, Edward Shapiro of 10 Norwood avenue, Newton Centre, said Dr. Polins had kicked him once and punched him in the left eye.

The wrestlers, thinking themselves under attack, turned on Dr. Polins at which point the doctor's son, Allan, raced from his home brandishing the pistol and warning the four to leave his father alone.

Police said the younger Polin fired one warning shot in the air.

When it was all over, everyone went home and no charges were placed against any of the combatants.

Traveling Zoo Coming Here Next Tuesday

Commissioner Howard Whitmore, Jr. announced today that the Metropolitan District Commission's Traveling Zoo, under the direction of M.D.C. Zoo Director Walter Stone, will visit Newton for two performances Tuesday, August 2.

The Traveling Zoo will be at Auburndale Playground from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon and at Newton Centre Playground from 1:30 to 3:00 p.m.

Among the animals to be displayed will be a pair of lambs, a guinea pig, a kinkajou, a rabbit, a pygmy goat, a potted, a mynah bird, a squirrel, monkey and various other young animals. These animals are regularly on display at the M.D.C.'s Children's Zoo at Franklin Park.

The Traveling Zoo, actually a 20-foot long trailer, is constructed in such a manner that youngsters can handle and pet the tame animals under the supervision of M.D.C. personnel.

Major Troop Awarded Air Force Medal

Major Richard W. Troop, son of Harry B. Troop, 153 Clark St., Newton Centre, has been awarded the U.S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio.

Major Troop received the medal for meritorious service as an electronics engineer at Eglin AFB, Fla. He was cited for his outstanding professional skill, knowledge and leadership.

He is now a student at the Air Force Institute of Technology, Wright-Patterson.

The major received his commission in 1953 through the aviation cadet program.

A graduate of Newton High School, Major Troop attended Newton Junior College. He received his B.S. degree from Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif.

Two New Streets, Sewers Proposed

Two new streets and two new sewer lines will be among the petitions presented to the Board of Aldermen at tonight's meeting at Newton City Hall.

The Newton Department of Public Works has requested a hearing on a petition to lay out and build a new street, to be called Hampden terrace, in Ward 1. The new street would run easterly from Morton street and has been requested under the Betterment Law.

Also requested under the Betterment Law is the construction of a new street to be called Walnut place in Ward 2. Walnut place would run from Walnut street to Highland avenue.

The Public Works Department has also requested permission to construct a new sewer line under Parker terrace from Parker street easterly.

The extension of the existing sewer on Elgin street has also been requested.

Municipal Golf Course Could Be Ready By 1968

Newton's municipal golf course, off Beacon St., Newton Highlands, will have 18 holes, it was announced last week by Recreation Commissioner John B. Penney.

There will be three par-four holes on each nine, with the rest being par-three, and the course, Penney said, will be operated like all municipal courses. Residents would pay a small membership fee by the year, with a minimal green fee each time they play. The fees will be higher for out-of-town golfers.

Word has been received that the federal government has approved the proposed taking of land near the Cold Springs Playground area under the federal open space land acquisition program. It looks now, therefore, that the course could be ready for operation by 1968.

Those who attended the initial meeting of the group were:

Michael Cupoli, Kevin Meisner, Denis Lombardo, Michael Tramontozzi, Martin Kennedy, David Martin, Jimmy Batista, Roger LeBlanc, Domenic Plati, Maureen O'Brien.

Mary Verker, Ann Chaisson, Patricia Chaisson, Joan Murphy, Jim McGourty, Kathleen, Carol, Niels Jepsen, Phyllis Gentile, Sheila Ruane.

Jackie McGourty, Sheila McGourty, Eleanor Precopio, Anne Dealy, Linda Ryan, Francis Murphy, Andree Boiteau, Janet Egan, Ann O'Brien.

Patricia Cunningham, Kathleen Fraini, Christine O'Keefe, Andrea Corry, Diane Piselli, Carol O'Brien, William Gardner, Jackie Roche, Dana Cunningham.

Adult leadership includes: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Egan, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Feeney, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Penta, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beaudet, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard O'Brien.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter McHugh, Mr. and Mrs. Paul DeMeo, Jim Ryan, Mrs. William Jepsen, Gene Ratto.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carleo, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis DeSouza, Mr. and Mrs. George Bresnahan.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul McHugh, Mr. and Mrs. Cosmo Magliozzi, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Medlar, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Shanly, Mrs. Domenic Precopio.

Two Injured In Sudden Stops

Swerving to avoid a dog, Leo Caron of 49 Carleton St., drove into a pole on Elliot St., Newton Upper Falls last Saturday afternoon. He was shaken up and released after treatment at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Joan Tansey of 24 Billings Pk., Newton, suffered facial cuts and a broken wrist the previous day, when her car rammed a tree on Eldredge St., Newton. She also was treated at the hospital.

Youngsters No Jay-Walkers

The city police don't anticipate the least bit of trouble in seeing that Newton school children obey the Jay-Walking law.

According to Capt. Richard F. Donahue of the Traffic Division, the youngsters have been given safety education lessons in their schools for years. For the most part, the captain says, they conform naturally to the terms of the new law.

Local Mother Has Best Story About Twins

Mrs. Thomas A. West, 185 Franklin St., Newton, has been chosen a winner in a nation-wide competition for the best true anecdotes involving twins.

The contest was sponsored by the Philadelphia publishing firm of J. B. Lippincott Company in connection with publication of a book for mothers of twins, "Twins, Twice the Trouble, Twice the Fun." Betsy Holland Gehman, author of the book, and herself a mother of three-year-old identical twins, was the judge.

Mrs. West's story: "We knew several months before their arrival, there would be two—and due to our doctor's prediction, named them (prematurely)—Jeffrey and Christopher. However, on Nov. 17, 1958, it was Jennifer and Cynthia who arrived instead."

"Although in temperament and personality they are unlike, there are no distinctive physical differences between our brunette duplicates. People continue to ask, 'Are you Jennifer or Cynthia?'"

"The most amusing incident I recall took place at a little friend's party when the twins were three. I was sitting beside another parent, whom I hadn't met before. Jennifer ran to me for reassurance, then disappeared. Whereupon, Cynthia did likewise. Then Jennifer again—then Cynthia in and out—in and out—in turn. Finally, they made a simultaneous entrance. The other mother exclaimed in relief, 'Oh good Heavens—there are two! I had decided you had the most active child I had ever seen!'"

Newton Day Set At La Salette

Sunday, July 31, has been designated as Newton Day at the National Shrine of Our Lady of La Salette in Ipswich, where the general public is invited to attend a "Pilgrimage for Peace" at 3:30 p.m.

In conjunction with Pope Paul VI's recent appeal to all men of all creeds to pray for a just and lasting peace, the La Salette Fathers of Ipswich are organizing pilgrimages to the National Shrine.

Located just three miles off Route 1, the Shrine is set among tall pines and stately oaks where both nature and grace combine to offer the pilgrim a truly unforgettable experience.

Mayor Greets New Law Aide
